Charge Amazes State Official

NEW YORK (AP)—A special investigating committee of the State Labor Department charges it was ordered to stop work after uncovering possible evidence of strikebreaking activity in the newspaper industry.

The committee said Sunday it was ordered out of business by State Industrial Commissioner Martin P. Catherwood.

In Albany, Catherwood said he was amazed at the committee's charge. He asserted he had done "everything within my legal powers to cooperate with the committee."

The three-man committee was set up by State Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin, a Democrat, on Dec. 31, the last day of his term. Catherwood, who succeeded him, is a Republican.

The committee, in a formal statement, said it had been apparent from the start that its investigation would be resisted by "powerful elements in the newspaper publishing industry."

The committee, which elaborated on its charge at a news conference, said it ended hearings with reluctance. It said it believes that evidence it uncovered "justifies and requires" further study.

The committee said it was especially sorry that the hearings were halted after only labor witnesses were heard. It said it had planned to hear all interested groups.

The committee said it had uncovered evidence to show that "there is in the newspaper industry at least one firm which engages as a commercial venture in the regular business of providing strikebreakers."

It also has information, it added, that "similar problems may exist in industries other than newspaper publishing."

The hearings dealt mainly with charges by Local 468 of the International Typographical Union that printers had been brought into New York State from other states for employment on struck or strike-threatened newspapers.

The local struck the Macy Group of eight daily and three weekly newspapers in 1957. The papers have kept publishing.

The committee said that Westchester County Publishers Inc. had protested to Catherwood and the committee against the hearings.

The Macy group filed a memorandum March 6, contending that the committee had no legal authority because all the subjects it planned to study were in the exclusive jurisdiction of federal agencies. The memorandum also challenged the committee's right to issue subpoenas in the name of the industrial commissioner.

Catherwood said he had urged the committee to complete its work expeditiously, but had issued "no order to anybody."

He said the committee was aware that it did not have subpoena powers "and such powers cannot be given to the committee by the commissioner."

In its statement Sunday, the committee said the firm which allegedly provided strikebreakers for profit "is symstematically organized and efficiently operated to recruit strikebreakers from all

Rockefeller Prepares For TV Talk April 8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller prepared today for a statewide television and radio address Wednesday night after an avalanche of criticism by the state's Democratic leaders over the weekend.

Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast accused the Republican governor of diverting state highway funds and of failing to live up to campaign promises to accelerate highway construction.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the only member of the Democratic party holding statewide elective office, said GOP leaders slashed his department's budget as punishment for his opposition to Rockefeller's tax program.

And former Gov. Harriman asserted that the governor's popularity has diminished since last fall, primarily because of Rockefeller's new tax programs.

Rockefeller's office, describing the Wednesday night address as the first in a series of "special reports," said Rockefeller would discuss measures the Legislature adopted at its recent session on his recommendation.

The telecast will originate at WRCA-TV in New York City at 6:15 p. m. and will be seen over television stations in major cities.

The stations and times of the telecasts are to be announced.

A radio program covering the same subject also will be heard over a statewide network.

The governor's office, meanwhile, declined comment on Prendergast's statement Saturday accusing Rockefeller of diverting state highway funds.

The administration announced Thursday a $303,700,000 highway program for the 1959-1960 fiscal year, which began last Wednesday. The program will be financed by $123,500,000 in state funds and $180,200,000 in federal assistance.

"It would seem to be quite a trick to decrease highway construction and at the same time add a two cents (a gallon) gas tax that will bring in an extra 57 million dollars, but the new governor has managed to pull it off," Prendergast said.

"In spite of this 57 million dollar increase, state funds for highway construction have been increased by only $13,500,000."

Prendergast continued his attack on the governor today by echoing his charges that Rockefeller's first legislative session had favored special interests at the expense of the general public.

"If this trend is allowed to continue. . .," he said, ". . .we will be headed down a road of class distinction which will ultimately undermine the basic tenets of our democratic way of life."

Prendergast's remarks were prepared for delivery at a luncheon session in Albany of the eighth annual political conference of the women's division of the Democratic State Committee.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City also spoke at the luncheon.

He said the governor had been elected in November because people accepted Rockefeller as a Democrat and elected him as a Democrat.

In the future, Wagner said, the Democratic party must "make sure that the public never again gets confused between who is a Republican and who is a Democrat."

Levitt addressed the women's division of the Democratic State Committee Sunday night.

The comptroller said that, besides slashing his department's budget, GOP lawmakers torpedoed his legislative program. Proposals advanced by him, and killed by the GOP-dominated Legislature, he said, included plans for a state school bond financing authority, home rule for towns and villages and tighter provisions for competitive bidding.

Harriman's remarks against Rockefeller were made Sunday night in New York City during a taped broadcast of a radio program, "News Closeup."

Harriman, using a jibe often thrown at him by the GOP during his tenure as governor, said Rockefeller was using the governorship as a "stepping stone" to the White House. He predicted that any surpluses from Rockefeller's new tax programs will be used to "do something generous next year, which will make him popular."

Ask Board Members How They Will Vote

Each member of the education board has been asked through a Kingston Civic Association letter if he will vote for a $4,600,000 consolidated district school building program, if the $6,000,000 proposal is opposed by vote, it was revealed today.

The letter, dated April 3, and signed by Eugene DeDea, chairman of the association's education committee, notes a report to the effect that the $4,600,000 would be approved regardless of he outcome of a vote. It also cites mistrust in the board, and a "feeling around Kingston that this proposed bond issue will be rejected."

The letter:

The President of the Board of Education has indicated in the newspaper and over the radio that, if the taxpayers reject the proposed $6,000,000 school bond issue (which will probably amount to some $10,000,000 for overall cost) on May 5, the Board of Education would proceed to build the schools anyway to the extent of $4,600,000.

Mr. Herzog has also been qnoted as saying that a committee of 50 members was in agreement on the proposal and there was no expressed board sentiment against it. However, the following day, an item was carried in The Kingston Freeman under the heading "School Committee Has No Comment Yet" and it was the opinion of majority leader Alderman James K. Ryan, as a member of the Committee of 50 considering the proposed new Kingston Districts School building program, that the committee is noncommittal on the project to date.

It seems to be the general feeling around Kingston that this proposed bond issue will be rejected by the taxpayers because the voters lost all faith in the Board of Education when they overrode the will of the people as expressed in a recent public referendum—and also because the voters are not convinced that a building program of this magnitude is necessary.

The Kingston Civic Association cannot believe that you as a member of the Board of Education, would vote to obligate our taxpayers to an indebtedness of several million dollars if it were rejected at the polls.

Hedz was treated at the scene by Dr. Hans Krauss of New York City who has a summer home in the area.

Trooper Harry Foster of the Highland state police reported that Hedz and James Walker, 19, of Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, were climbing a ridge near the Minnewaska Trail late Sunday morning when a piton they had driven into the cliff loosened. Walker was not hurt.

Hedz struck a rock ledge about 15 feet from the ground.

Postponement Favored to '60 Of Controversial Court Act

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The third one-year postponement of the controversial Youth Court Act has been approved by Gov. Rockefeller, his office announced today.

The statute, which provides for special court treatment of offenders 16 through 20 years, will take effect April 1, 1960, unless it is postponed again or repealed.

Rockefeller also signed a bill continuing last year's emergency plan of granting 13 extra weeks of unemployment insurance benefits.

Both bills were signed late last week.

The Youth Court Act has been under steady fire from judges and newspapers since it first was enacted in 1956. Judges maintained that the system would be costly, and unwieldy to administer. Newspapers objected to secrecy provisions of the act.

Rockefeller issued no memorandum on his action, but he has said that he wanted more time to study the statute and the objections raised against it.

The jobless pay plan was adopted last year, when the Legislature voted to accept a federal loan to finance the payment of 13 weeks of benefits in addition to the normal 26-week period.

"There are some 90,000 persons in our state who will have received some extended benefits but who will not hav exhausted such benefits by April 5," the governor said.

"I believe the state has a responsibility to see that these workers and their families are not adversely affected by an abrupt termination of extended benefits," he said.

Democrats Would Up Spending

Aim to Boost U. S. Economy, Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Advisory Council proposes that Democratic leaders in Congress ignore President Eisenhower's economy drive and get busy with a spending program to boost the nation's economy.

"The Democratic party does not believe in spending for its own sake but we know that a nation which is doing too little is not spending too much," the council said Sunday.

Among other things, the advisory group advocated more aid to the unemployed and more aid to housing, slum clearance, school construction and economically distressed areas.

Councils View

"Once more we are witnessing callous Republican indifference to the suffering and needs of people who, through no fault of their own, are unable to obtain jobs," the council said.

The 27-member group includes former President Truman, Adlai Stevenson and Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

Although the council statement didn't mention names, it clearly was an appeal to the party's congressional leaders, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texas Democrats, to speed action on economic aid legislation when Congress returns from its Easter recess.

No Cut Imminent

Meanwhile, a private study of federal budget prospects indicated that it may be five years before the government has a surplus large enough to permit a significant tax cut.

Even if rigid economy is enforced, the report suggested, government costs will climb steadily from 1960 through 1968. However, it said that federal revenues may begin to exceed spending by 1962 if full employment is achieved and maintained.

The report was prepared by Dr. Otto Eckstein, a Harvard economist, for the Committee for Economic Development, a privately supported research organization of businessmen and educators.

Nehru Cites Treaty In Dalai Lama Move

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—As the fugitive Dalai Lama continued his slow journey into India on foot, Prime Minister Nehru cautioned that India must steer a careful course between treaty obligations to Red China and sympathy for the Tibetan rebels.

The young god-king of Tibet and his party of 80 reached Towang, near India's isolated northeast frontier, Sunday at about the same time the Red Chinese were installing the rival Panchen Lama in the Tibetan capital of Lhasa.

Send Up Cheer

As the exiled ruler neared the approaches to Towang Monastery, hundreds of tribesmen adorned with colorful sash-decorated hats and silver swords sent up a cheer.

It was believed the next stage of the journey, to Tazpur on the Bramaputra River in Assam state, would take another six days. Much of the route must be covered on foot, since it lies through more of the rugged Himalayan country over which the Tibetans fled from the Communists after the failure of the revolt in Lhasa.

After five days of marching, they can switch to Indian army jeeps at Bamdilla, in the foothills 68 miles from Towang, and farther along to an Indian air force plane which could take the fugitive ruler and his top aides to New Delhi or wherever the Indian government wants them.

Nehru told a news conference Sunday that the Dalai Lama probably would not stay near the frontier.

Can't Form Government

Nehru has said the Tibetan spiritual and political leader will be treated as an "honored guest". He made clear the Indian government will recognize him as spir-

Moscow Is Accusing U. S. Anew

Ministers Avowed On Talks Success

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A renewed Soviet protest over a U.S. plane flight into Berlin raised new questions today about Soviet willingness to settle German problems.

Moscow accused the United States of deliberately violating Berlin corridor regulations with the aim of wrecking chances of agreement at the Geneva big power foreign ministers conference slated to start May 11.

The State Department declined comment pending a study of the note, but U.S. officials informally rejected the Soviet contention and denied any violation.

Argue Over Height

The Red protest referred to the March 27 flight to Berlin at 20,000 feet altitude of a C130 U.S. air transport plane. The Soviets say Western flights to the Communist-encircled city must not top 10,000 feet.

While U.S. disagreement with the Soviet charge was evident, the question remained as to what response to make. Foreign ministers of the 15-nation NATO have just concluded a three-day meeting with avowed determination to make the Geneva talks as fruitful as the Soviets will allow.

Determined on Defense

A final communique Saturday declared the NATO members' united determination to defend Western rights in Berlin. At the same time, it reaffirmed readiness to negotiate an honorable settlement of German problems.

In a television discussion Sunday, Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd and France's Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville held out prospects that the Geneva meeting will have enough results to lead to a summit conference.

Germany's foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, cautioned against expecting too much from the Geneva parley but found "some optimism" in the fact that the Soviets have agreed to the talks.

In a separate TV interview,

Debbie Will Be Absent From TV Awards Program

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds won't be there to face Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth, but Hollywood may still have to find a better adjective than colossal to properly describe tonight's big Academy Awards show.

A two-hour telecast, without commercials, will begin at 10:30 p.m., EST, over NBC-TV. More than 100 of the biggest names in moviedom will be seen.

For a while it looked as if Hollywood's most famous triangle might give the show a backstage suspense no script could hope to match.

Will Watch at Home

But Miss Reynolds removed herself from the show Saturday. She said she will watch it at home on TV.

Debbie insisted Liz had nothing to do with her pulling out of the show.

She was to have presented an Oscar to one of the winners, the same chore Miss Taylor will perform.

Fisher, taking a night off from a hotel engagement in Las Vegas, will sing one of the nominated songs — "To Love and Be Loved."

With the triangle only two-thirds present, it looks as if the Oscar winners themselves will star in the big show. Hollywoodites can't remember a closer race for the prize Oscars than this year's.

All Could Win

It is especially close among the five nominated for best actress. Rosalind Russell, Shirley Maclaine, Susan Hayward, Deborah Kerr and Miss Taylor all could win without stirring a ripple of surprise.

Among the men, most experts figure David Niven to take the top male Oscar, although Sidney

State Education Head Cites Citizen Participation at School Dedication

The responsibility of people toward education was emphasized by Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education Sunday afternoon at the dedication of the new Saugerties junior-senior high school. More than 850 attended.

The principal speaker who is president of the University of the State of New York in commending those on the board of education and others who serve for the school on committees said "education needs full and complete citizen participation." He said the school needs the interest of the people and requires constant and active support.

Referring to the new structure, he said the new $2,205,000 school was an example of true economy and indicated that full value was received for the facilities provided.

Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools in a brief climatic address on being idealistic and practical, invoked the dedication of the new school.

David S. Cunningham, principal of the high school, and a member of the faculty for 21 years lauded the quality of the teaching staff, and the parents for the good manners of the pupils.

John Lowther, president of the board of education in his welcoming address spoke of the beginning of centralization in Saugerties and the work of the citizen's advisory committee which was mainly responsible for the union of the 21 common school districts in the community area.

Introduced Architect

Dr. Morse who has been with the Saugerties School system for 35 years introduced D. Kenneth Sargent, senior partner of the architectural firm of Sargent-Webster-Crenshaw and Folley, and I. Slutzky, president of I. and O. A. Slutzky, general contractors of the building, who spoke briefly of the building program.

The Invocation was offered by the Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff, president of Saugerties Area Council of Churches, and pastor of First Congregational Church, Saugerties.

The Benediction was by the Rev. Charles P. Burke, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties.

Musical interludes on the program were by the Girls Sextette and the senior choir of Saugerties High School conducted by Miss Janice Peterson. At the opening the assembly sang the National Anthem with Miss Peterson at the piano.

Concert Presented

An informal 15-minute concert by Saugerties High School band conducted by Winthrop Emmons, school music director preceded the program. The high school orchestra played for the 15-minute concert following the ceremonies.

Pupils occupied classes 13 months after work on the building started July 1957. Classes in the new school began at the fall session September 1958. Work continued on other parts of the building until completed during the winter.

He was discharged from the hospital some weeks ago apparently improved but returned to the hospital last week complaining of a stomach condition.

Postponement Favored to '60 Of Controversial Court Act

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The third one-year postponement of the controversial Youth Court Act has been approved by Gov. Rockefeller, his office announced today.

The statute, which provides for special court treatment of offenders 16 through 20 years, will take effect April 1, 1960, unless it is postponed again or repealed.

Rockefeller also signed a bill continuing last year's emergency plan of granting 13 extra weeks of unemployment insurance benefits.

Both bills were signed late last week.

The Youth Court Act has been under steady fire from judges and newspapers since it first was enacted in 1956. Judges maintained that the system would be costly, and unwieldy to administer. Newspapers objected to secrecy provisions of the act.

Rockefeller issued no memorandum on his action, but he has said that he wanted more time to study the statute and the objections raised against it.

The jobless pay plan was adopted last year, when the Legislature voted to accept a federal loan to finance the payment of 13 weeks of benefits in addition to the normal 26-week period.

"There are some 90,000 persons in our state who will have received some extended benefits but who will not hav exhausted such benefits by April 5," the governor said.

"I believe the state has a responsibility to see that these workers and their families are not adversely affected by an abrupt termination of extended benefits," he said.

Democrats Would Up Spending

Aim to Boost U. S. Economy, Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Advisory Council proposes that Democratic leaders in Congress ignore President Eisenhower's economy drive and get busy with a spending program to boost the nation's economy.

"The Democratic party does not believe in spending for its own sake but we know that a nation which is doing too little is not spending too much," the council said Sunday.

Among other things, the advisory group advocated more aid to the unemployed and more aid to housing, slum clearance, school construction and economically distressed areas.

Councils View

"Once more we are witnessing callous Republican indifference to the suffering and needs of people who, through no fault of their own, are unable to obtain jobs," the council said.

The 27-member group includes former President Truman, Adlai Stevenson and Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

Although the council statement didn't mention names, it clearly was an appeal to the party's congressional leaders, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texas Democrats, to speed action on economic aid legislation when Congress returns from its Easter recess.

No Cut Imminent

Meanwhile, a private study of federal budget prospects indicated that it may be five years before the government has a surplus large enough to permit a significant tax cut.

Even if rigid economy is enforced, the report suggested, government costs will climb steadily from 1960 through 1968. However, it said that federal revenues may begin to exceed spending by 1962 if full employment is achieved and maintained.

The report was prepared by Dr. Otto Eckstein, a Harvard economist, for the Committee for Economic Development, a privately supported research organization of businessmen and educators.

Nehru Cites Treaty In Dalai Lama Move

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—As the fugitive Dalai Lama continued his slow journey into India on foot, Prime Minister Nehru cautioned that India must steer a careful course between treaty obligations to Red China and sympathy for the Tibetan rebels.

The young god-king of Tibet and his party of 80 reached Towang, near India's isolated northeast frontier, Sunday at about the same time the Red Chinese were installing the rival Panchen Lama in the Tibetan capital of Lhasa.

Send Up Cheer

As the exiled ruler neared the approaches to Towang Monastery, hundreds of tribesmen adorned with colorful sash-decorated hats and silver swords sent up a cheer.

It was believed the next stage of the journey, to Tazpur on the Bramaputra River in Assam state, would take another six days. Much of the route must be covered on foot, since it lies through more of the rugged Himalayan country over which the Tibetans fled from the Communists after the failure of the revolt in Lhasa.

After five days of marching, they can switch to Indian army jeeps at Bamdilla, in the foothills 68 miles from Towang, and farther along to an Indian air force plane which could take the fugitive ruler and his top aides to New Delhi or wherever the Indian government wants them.

Nehru told a news conference Sunday that the Dalai Lama probably would not stay near the frontier.

Can't Form Government

Nehru has said the Tibetan spiritual and political leader will be treated as an "honored guest". He made clear the Indian government will recognize him as spir-

State Education Head Cites Citizen Participation at School Dedication

The responsibility of people toward education was emphasized by Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education Sunday afternoon at the dedication of the new Saugerties junior-senior high school. More than 850 attended.

The principal speaker who is president of the University of the State of New York in commending those on the board of education and others who serve for the school on committees said "education needs full and complete citizen participation." He said the school needs the interest of the people and requires constant and active support.

Referring to the new structure, he said the new $2,205,000 school was an example of true economy and indicated that full value was received for the facilities provided.

Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools in a brief climatic address on being idealistic and practical, invoked the dedication of the new school.

David S. Cunningham, principal of the high school, and a member of the faculty for 21 years lauded the quality of the teaching staff, and the parents for the good manners of the pupils.

John Lowther, president of the board of education in his welcoming address spoke of the beginning of centralization in Saugerties and the work of the citizen's advisory committee which was mainly responsible for the union of the 21 common school districts in the community area.

Introduced Architect

Dr. Morse who has been with the Saugerties School system for 35 years introduced D. Kenneth Sargent, senior partner of the architectural firm of Sargent-Webster-Crenshaw and Folley, and I. Slutzky, president of I. and O. A. Slutzky, general contractors of the building, who spoke briefly of the building program.

The Invocation was offered by the Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff, president of Saugerties Area Council of Churches, and pastor of First Congregational Church, Saugerties.

The Benediction was by the Rev. Charles P. Burke, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties.

Concert Presented

An informal 15-minute concert by Saugerties High School band conducted by Winthrop Emmons, school music director preceded the program. The high school orchestra played for the 15-minute concert following the ceremonies.

Pupils occupied classes 13 months after work on the building started July 1957. Classes in the new school began at the fall session September 1958. Work continued on other parts of the building until completed during the winter.

Moscow Is Accusing U. S. Anew

Ministers Avowed On Talks Success

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A renewed Soviet protest over a U.S. plane flight into Berlin raised new questions today about Soviet willingness to settle German problems.

Moscow accused the United States of deliberately violating Berlin corridor regulations with the aim of wrecking chances of agreement at the Geneva big power foreign ministers conference slated to start May 11.

The State Department declined comment pending a study of the note, but U.S. officials informally rejected the Soviet contention and denied any violation.

Argue Over Height

The Red protest referred to the March 27 flight to Berlin at 20,000 feet altitude of a C130 U.S. air transport plane. The Soviets say Western flights to the Communist-encircled city must not top 10,000 feet.

While U.S. disagreement with the Soviet charge was evident, the question remained as to what response to make. Foreign ministers of the 15-nation NATO have just concluded a three-day meeting with avowed determination to make the Geneva talks as fruitful as the Soviets will allow.

Determined on Defense

A final communique Saturday declared the NATO members' united determination to defend Western rights in Berlin. At the same time, it reaffirmed readiness to negotiate an honorable settlement of German problems.

In a television discussion Sunday, Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd and France's Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville held out prospects that the Geneva meeting will have enough results to lead to a summit conference.

Germany's foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, cautioned against expecting too much from the Geneva parley but found "some optimism" in the fact that the Soviets have agreed to the talks.

In a separate TV interview,

Debbie Will Be Absent From TV Awards Program

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds won't be there to face Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth, but Hollywood may still have to find a better adjective than colossal to properly describe tonight's big Academy Awards show.

A two-hour telecast, without commercials, will begin at 10:30 p.m., EST, over NBC-TV. More than 100 of the biggest names in moviedom will be seen.

For a while it looked as if Hollywood's most famous triangle might give the show a backstage suspense no script could hope to match.

Will Watch at Home

But Miss Reynolds removed herself from the show Saturday. She said she will watch it at home on TV.

Debbie insisted Liz had nothing to do with her pulling out of the show.

She was to have presented an Oscar to one of the winners, the same chore Miss Taylor will perform.

Fisher, taking a night off from a hotel engagement in Las Vegas, will sing one of the nominated songs — "To Love and Be Loved."

With the triangle only two-thirds present, it looks as if the Oscar winners themselves will star in the big show. Hollywoodites can't remember a closer race for the prize Oscars than this year's.

All Could Win

It is especially close among the five nominated for best actress, Rosalind Russell, Shirley Maclaine, Susan Hayward, Deborah Kerr and Miss Taylor all could win without stirring a ripple of surprise.

Among the men, most experts figure David Niven to take the top male Oscar, although Sidney

NEW PALTZ NEWS

John Fall Resigns School Board Post

NEW PALTZ—At a recent meeting of the Central School Board, the resignation of John Fall was accepted with regret. Fall had indicated his intention to resign in a public statement issued recently.

His resignation will leave four vacancies on the school board to be filled by the election May 6. Those whose terms expire are Katherine Jacobson, Walter Dyer and John Ashton.

Frank Hamilton, clerk-business manager, says that he has issued several petitions to people interested in being candidates, but at this time the only one who has formally filed a petition, is Harry Cornwell. Cornwell has served on the village board and did not seek re-election because, he would soon be moving out of the village, but will reside in the school district. He is running for the expired term of Walter Dyer.

An important item on the agenda at the meeting was the acceptance by the board of the tentative budget which will be submitted for approval at the annual meeting, May 5. The budget figure is $596,375.10.

Mrs. Beth Wulff, nurse-teacher, is also resigning her position at the end of the term, and the board has extended a contract to Mrs. Mabel LaFalce to replace her next September.

Some time was spent in going over the plans for the four room addition for the school with the architect, Jed Reisner.

Guest Speaker Named For Democratic Club

A full slate of officers will be elected for two year terms — the president, the vice-presidents, secretary, recording secretary, corresponding secretary and treasurer.

All who saw the skit depicting a cabinet meeting two years ago and who watched the antics of Rupert Pielschlitz and the honorable O. Bilgewater at last summer's Democratic picnic anticipate the forthcoming entertainment entitled "Mister Schmeisenhower Meets the Press." The skit will feature nine seasoned actors and special band music from clarinet, trombone, recorded and "gahoon."

John Fall Resigns School Board Post

NEW PALTZ—At a recent meeting of the Central School Board, the resignation of John Fall was accepted with regret. Fall had indicated his intention to resign in a public statement issued recently.

His resignation will leave four vacancies on the school board to be filed by the election May 6. Those whose terms expire are Katherine Jacobson, Walter Dyer and John Ashton.

Frank Hamilton, clerk-business manager, says that he has issued several petitions to people interested in being candidates, but at this time the only one who has formally filed a petition, is Harry Cornwell. Cornwell has served on the village board and did not seek re-election because, he would soon be moving out of the village, but will reside in the school district. He is running for the expired term of Walter Dyer.

An mportant item on the agenda at the meeting was the acceptance by the board of the tentative budget which will be submitted for approval at the annual meeting, May 5. The budget figure is $596,375.10.

Mrs. Beth Wulff, nurse-teacher, is also resigning her position at the end of the term, and the board has extended a contract to Mrs. Mabel LaFalce to replace her next September.

Some time was spent in going over the plans for the four room addition for the school with the architect, Jed Reisner.

Ray Kenyon Named President Woodstock Democratic Club

Ray Kenyon, a professor of science and mathematics at New Paltz State Teachers College, was elected president of the Woodstock Democratic Club at its annual election meeting Friday night. He succeeds Kenneth Downer.

Donald Twine was elected vice-president. Mrs. Ralph Kricker was re-elected treasurer and Mrs. Joan Cantine was re-elected corresponding secretary. Milton Collins was named recording secretary.

Kenyon, who did outstanding work in the recent successful election campaigns for Councilman Tobie Geertsema and Justice of the Peace Dixon McGrath, is a native of Gloversville.

A graduate of Gloversville High School, he attended Oswego State Teachers College, New York University and is studying for his doctorate at the University of Buffalo. He received his Bachelors degree from Oswego his Masters degree from N. Y. U.

Was Combat Engineer

A veteran of World War II, he served with the Combat Engineers of the Third Army, achieving the rank of Master Sergeant. He is a member of the American Legion, the National Parent-Teacher Association, the New York State Teachers Association and various other groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon, the former Kathleen McManus, are parents of identical twin daughters, Kathleen and Colleen.

In his acceptance speech, Kenyon said he felt the Democratic party can serve a useful purpose in the village and county. He pledged that the club would work hard to elect Democrats and worthy independents in the next election. He also singled out his predecessor—Kenneth Downer—and Louis A. Lewis for their perpetuation of Democratic principles in the past.

Kenyon's first official duties included the appointment of several standing committees. Anne Larys and Virginia Hubbell were named co-chairmen of the annual Rummage Sale. Serving with them will be Justice McGrath, Irving Kalish, Bertha Kricker, Helen Buttrick and Betty Beisele.

Mrs. Beisele and Irving Kalish will serve as co-chairmen. Other members of the committee to be enlarged later include Daniel Revzan and Milton Collins.

Several prominent Ulster county Democratic officials attended the highly enthusiastic meeting which attracted about 75 persons. They included: Supervisor George Majestic of the Town of Gardiner; Fred Heider and John Casey of Gardiner; Marshall Yerey, chairman of the Democratic committee of the Town of Shandaken; Joe Stein of Marbletown; Justice of the Peace William Curran of Rosendale; also Joe Reid and Joe Carroll of Rosendale.

Justice McGrath Speaks

Justice McGrath made a strong plea for an "adult approach" in solving the problems of the community, including the town planning board.

He deplored the "holler technique," explaining that nature intended it serve a useful purpose for babies and children, but it was a sign of immaturity in public officials.

"The right to criticize, the right to ask searching questions in the public interest must never be denied or thwarted," said McGrath. "The Town Board is not the private domain of any political party."

"I was amazed to learn recently that my request for a two-hour delay for a special Board meeting was denied by our supervisor. And this, mind you, came after Councilman Tobie Geertsema and I had both consented to go along with his request for postponement to two fixed monthly meeting dates of the Board so that he and the town clerk could enjoy Florida vacations in succesive months."

Association Starts Section at Library On Town Planning

On the initiative of the Woodstock Association, space has been set aside on the shelves of the Woodstock Library for literature on the subject of town planning and related subjects.

Recent volumes on planning in other communities and guidance books by experts on planning and conservation have been donated by the Woodstock Association for the Conservation and Improvement of the Township.

Other authoritative books and pamphlets will be added to the section by the association as they come to their attention in the course of their research on the subject. It is hoped that the residents of Woodstock will take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with this literature to help in planning for the orderly growth of the community.

Conway Concert Gets High Praise In Poughkeepsie

Miss Ruth Conway of Woodstock thrilled a capacity audience and received excellent critical acclaim in the annual concert of the Dutchess County Philharmonic orchestra, Ole Windingstad, conductor.

The concert was the third and last of the current subscription series and in addition to Miss Conway presented Robert Guralnik, pianist from West Point. They were winners of this year's auditions conducted by the society.

Each spring serious young musicians of the Hudson Valley area are heard by a committee of the Dutchess Symphony Society as a portion of its program to foster classical music. Now in its 25th year, the Philharmonic orchestra has steadily improved under the skilled leadership of Mr. Windingstad, and attracts musicians from many sections of the Hudson Valley.

Dorothy Hallock Cooper, who reviewed the concert for the Poughkeepsie New Yorker wrote of Miss Conway's performance:

"The Mozart area "Voi, che sapete" from "The Marriage of Figaro" was well suited to Miss Conway's voice and interpreted with clarity and beauty. A moving presentation of Gustav Marler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" followed with both soloist and orchestra giving excellent account of themselves. Poignant, joyous and impassioned, its interpretation was mature and assured. Through a wide scope of register and mood, Miss Conway sang with complete ease. Even the untimely arrival of her flowers failed to disrupt the moods she created at will. The sheaf of pale pink against the hunter's green of her ankle-length gown formed a happy blending of voice and orchestra in this comprehensive work."

Twine Scores Molyneaux Role On Town Board

Never has the Democratic party had such a promising opportunity as is offered in the coming elections of next November, Donald Twine, newly-elected vice president told members of the Woodstock Democratic Club Friday night.

"We have proven to the community by our wholehearted backing of Councilwoman Geertsema, an enrolled Republican, that our interest lies in good government and not party preferment," said Twine.

"Justice McGrath has shown the community that we can offer them candidates of the highest quality and courage, who take their duties to the electorate seriously and are not to be diverted one wit by public abuse at the hands of embarrassed town officials or a confused Town Board legal adviser."

Twine charged that "we have a town supervisor who can get up at a Town Board meeting and say that what the highway department does with the taxpayers' money is none of his business. Thank heavens, Tobie Geertsema and Dixon McGrath do not feel that way about it! If we are to be successful next November, we must have the votes of many Republicans and this money is coming out of the pockets of Republicans just as much as out of the pockets of Democrats."

Questions Role

"I would like to give you some idea of on what level the Republican machine answers to these charges of flagrant waste of the townspeople's money." Twine went on. "Now, needless to say, I do not attend Republican Club meetings so all I know about them is what I read in the newspapers. This is a direct quote from the Woodstock Press reporting a Republican Club meeting: 'Molynenux's talk was logical and calm. While he did attack Mrs. Geertsema and Justice McGrath at one point saying they were interested in themselves and not in the town. . . .'"

"This comes from a man who holds the politically favored position of legal adviser to the Town Board and who doesn't hesitate to publicly speculate on the inner emotions of Councilman Geertsema and Justice McGrath, two of the very people he is supposed to serve in his capacity of legal adviser to the Town Board, and for that matter, he has never hesitated to heckle them at Town Board meetings when it served his purposes."

"Now this gentleman, as well as being legal adviser to the Town Board is also town chairman of the Republican party. I think in all personal matters Mr. Molyneaux is a very nice person and has a very likable personality, but I wonder if this combination of legal adviser to the Town Board and town chairman of the Republican party is in the best interest of the town as a whole, because I think that public statements which would be quite in order as Republican town chairman are often quite out of order in his official capacity of town legal adviser."

Twine concluded his speech with the remark that "at least he might specify at Town Board meetings in which capacity he is speaking at the moment, because, though he sits up there with the elected officials during the entire course of the meetings and enters into every fray, it is actually very seldom during a meeting that he is called upon for a legal opinion. This leaves an awful lot of room for speeches in his capacity as Republican town chairman."

Bairds Acclaimed For 'Davey Jones'

Cora and Bil Baird of Woodstock have scored another smash hit with their incredible marionettes in "Davey Jones' Locker," a new marionette play with music, based on a story by Bil Baird.

Arthur Burns and M. L. Davenport wrote the book and Mary Rogers the music for the production which enjoyed a sensational holiday run at the Moresco Theatre in New York.

Two of the New York critics — Judith Crist of the Herald-Tribune and Arthur Gelb of the Times — gave the Bairds unqualified praise. Miss Crist said: "Trouble with the Baird marionettes is that they make a lot of human actors look awfully wooden, let alone earth-bound. Certain it is that flesh-and-blood folk could not perform "Davey Jones' Locker" with the verve and versatility of these stringed creatures. Go — even if you haven't a child to take as an alibi."

Gelb said the production was "suitably dramatic, the tunes are vivacious, the dialogue is funny and even satirical. Although beamed to the kids, the product has so much wit, taste and style that it takes a grown-up to appreciate it thoroughly."

Town Notes

Among the Woodstockers who attended the impressive testimonial-dinner for Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick at the Governor Clinton Hotel last week were Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons, Principal Walter S. Van Wagenen, William West and Kermit Schwarz.

Woodstock Recreation Committee will meet Thursday, April 9, at 8 p. m. in the town clerk's office. Kermit Schwarz requests a full attendance.

Auxiliary Banquet

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club expects a full house at its tenth anniversary dinner Tuesday night at Al's Seafood Bar in Phoenicia.

Members of the Junior unit of the Woodstock Riding Club will hold their April meeting on Saturday, April 11, at the home of Lloyd and Emmy Gibson at 2 p. m. Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt will talk on health and the care of horses.

Frederick Rolf, a longtime favorite of Woodstock Playhouse audiences, has the role of Smokeweaver in "The Smokeweaver's Daughter" which opened at the 4th Street Theatre in New York City Saturday.

Herb Waterous, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Waterous was on the Dean's List at Penn State College this past semester with a 95 per cent average. He will be home until Oct. 21, concluding the practical portion of his course there. He is in line for a very interesting job in the meantime.

Miss Marion Hubbard, Woodstock correspondent for the Saugerties Daily Post, spent the Easter weekend with her aunt in Caldwell, N. J.

Luther League Sets Meeting Tonight

The Luther League of Christ Lutheran Church will meet tonight at 7:30 at the parsonage.

The Frank Mayer family of Zena are the social and devotional committee. Election of officers will be held and plans made for the district rally on April 19.

The fifth sewing bee of the current season among the women of Christ Lutheran Church is set for Tuesday, April 7, at the home of Mrs. Fred Thaisz Sr. at Zena.

Ray Kenyon Named President Woodstock Democratic Club

Ray Kenyon, a professor of science and mathematics at New Paltz State Teachers College, was elected president of the Woodstock Democratic Club at its annual election meeting Friday night. He succeeds Kenneth Downer.

Donald Twine was elected vice-president. Mrs. Ralph Kricker was re-elected treasurer and Mrs. Joan Cantine was re-elected corresponding secretary. Milton Collins was named recording secretary.

Kenyon, who did outstanding work in the recent successful election campaigns for Councilman Tobie Geertsema and Justice of the Peace Dixon McGrath, is a native of Gloversville.

A graduate of Gloversville High School, he attended Oswego State Teachers College, New York University and is studying for his doctorate at the University of Buffalo. He received his Bachelors degree from Oswego his Masters degree from N. Y. U.

Was Combat Engineer

A veteran of World War II, he served with the Combat Engineers of the Third Army, achieving the rank of Master Sergeant. He is a member of the American Legion, the National Parent-Teacher Association, the New York State Teachers Association and various other groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon, the former Kathleen McManus, are parents of identical twin daughters, Kathleen and Colleen.

In his acceptance speech, Kenyon said he felt the Democratic party can serve a useful purpose in the village and county. He pledged that the club would work hard to elect Democrats and worthy independents in the next election. He also singled out his predecessor—Kenneth Downer—and Louis A. Lewis for their perpetuation of Democratic principles in the past.

Kenyon's first official duties included the appointment of several standing committees. Anne Larys and Virginia Hubbell were named co-chairmen of the annual Rummage Sale. Serving with them will be Justice McGrath, Irving Kalish, Bertha Kricker, Helen Buttrick and Betty Beisele.

Mrs. Beisele and Irving Kalish will serve as co-chairmen. Other members of the committee to be enlarged later include Daniel Revzan and Milton Collins.

Several prominent Ulster county Democratic officials attended the highly enthusiastic meeting which attracted about 75 persons. They included: Supervisor George Majestic of the Town of Gardiner; Fred Heider and John Casey of Gardiner; Marshall Yerey, chairman of the Democratic committee of the Town of Shandaken; Joe Stein of Marbletown; Justice of the Peace William Curran of Rosendale; also Joe Reid and Joe Carroll of Rosendale.

Justice McGrath Speaks

Justice McGrath made a strong plea for an "adult approach" in solving the problems of the community, including the town planning board.

He deplored the "holler technique," explaining that nature intended it serve a useful purpose for babies and children, but it was a sign of immaturity in public officials.

"The right to criticize, the right to ask searching questions in the public interest must never be denied or thwarted," said McGrath. "The Town Board is not the private domain of any political party."

"I was amazed to learn recently that my request for a two-hour delay for a special Board meeting was denied by our supervisor. And this, mind you, came after Councilman Tobie Geertsema and I had both consented to go along with his request for postponement to two fixed monthly meeting dates of the Board so that he and the town clerk could enjoy Florida vacations in succesive months."

A THING OF THE PAST?

Every time there's a running of the presidential nominating sweepstakes, the horses seem to emerge earlier than ever from the paddock. And trotting right along with them are the bettors and guessers.

The big 1960 field on the Democratic side already has the spectators clicking away with their calculations. The pros and cons involving each candidate are being thoroughly aired.

On one uoint, however, the guessers seem not to have remembered their history too well. A fair number keep tossing in the word "deadlock" as if this were both an easy and a likely prospect in national conventions.

The record of recent decades indicates that it is not.

The Republicans had one in 1920, when Warren G. Harding emerged from battle as a compromise choice.

They had what amounted to one in 1940, when neither Thomas E. Dewey nor Senator Robert A. Taft could build more than three-fifths of the delegate strength they needed to win. Wendell Wilkie came from far behind to gain the prize in six ballots.

Only once since then, in 1948, have the Republicans required more than one ballot to determine their nominee. Dewey won in three that time.

As for the Democrats, since the famous 104-ballot deadlock at Madison Square Garden in 1924, they have had no deadlocks at all. The closest they came was in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first nomination at Chicago in 1932, when some very deft maneuvering was needed to break a log jam barring his way.

From that time on, the nominee in every convention but one (it took three to nominate Stevenson over Kefauver in 1952) has been named in a single ballot.

So, stretching it a bit, you can find no more than three deadlocked conventions between 1920 and the present. Hardly enough to warrant easy predictions of one in 1960.

Admittedly the aspirants on the Democrtic side are numerous. But that does not automatically make for a deadlock. Some may well fall by the wayside long before the convention begins.

A realistic appraisal of convention history demands that we look upon a 1960 Democratic deadlock as generally quite unlikely, as pretty much an outside prospect.

INDIVIDUAL'S QUESTION

A complaint frequently heard is that individuals are almost powerless in this complex, highly organized, populous world. This belief is frustrating and disheartening to those who want to make a contribution to the betterment of society, yet fear that their efforts are likely to be swallowed up and lost.

The feeling is certainly not without foundation. But there is truth in the idea that, no matter how deeply individuals are submerged in the group, each of them bears the responsibility—and has some opportunity—to live the best life of which he is capable.

Rabbi David Aronson of Minneapolis has commented eloquently on this in a booklet, "Jewish Ethical Living," written for the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs. "The good society," he declares, "is made up of good individuals, and each person should live in a manner as if the fate and the direction of the world depended on him alone."

This searching concept of the individual's role becomes even more so in the light of further observations by Rabbi Aronson: "We are planning flights to the moon, but dare not ask ourselves the question: Where are we morally? As a result we are technologically supermen but morally close to the beasts. Technologically we are in the atomic age; morally we are still in the stone age. Where are you?"

It comes back to that. Morally speaking, the question is not: Where is society? the central question is: Where are you? It is a question that each of us must ask, honestly, of himself.

FOUR AREAS OF CRISIS

In the Cold War, diversionary tactics have been used but generally they have been limited to two, as for instance, the diversion of attention from the conquest of China by what has become known as the Berlin Airlift. The United States and its allies concentrated on Berlin and were caught off base as regards China.

Today, the Soviet Universal State faces the West with a complicated pattern of events, at least four of which serve as diversions from each other and make handling, either by diplomacy or war, difficult. The four are Berlin, Iraq, Tibet and Cuba. The defender of Soviet tactics will say that this is not a pattern but is happenstance, that it is not the result of causation but is accidental coincidence. I cannot prove otherwise but do not accept the casual explanation because experience indicates that when Communist elements are involved in any situation, the primary planning and the ultimate decision are always inside the Kremlin.

1. The Berlin Crisis involves an ultimatum expiring on May 27. Although this ultimatum has tacitly been postponed by Khrushchev, it has not been formally withdrawn. A meeting of Foreign Ministers has been called for May 11 at Geneva and the likelihood is that this meeting will delay the ultimate decision, whatever it may be. Following the Foreign Ministers' meeting, there is to be a meeting at the Summit, which might achieve something although that is very doubtful. The Western powers place great emphasis on the Berlin gambit.

2. Iraq presents an extraordinarily difficult problem because it involves the entire Middle East as well as Turkey. It is of primary significance because if Soviet Russia controls the oil of Iraq and Iran, Western Europe will be at its mercy. When Anastas Mikoyan was in the United States, he talked to businessmen about the enormous purchases that Soviet Russia wanted to make of steel pipe. If what he said was realistic, he wanted enough pipe to bring Russian, Mosul and Iranian oil to the heart of Europe. His conversation stimulated the cupidity of many businessmen, although, so far as we know, nothing has come of these conversations.

The Iraqi Revolution has now gone through three stages: first, the murder of the Hashmite King of Iraq and his family; secondly, the separation of Iraq from the Arab nationalist movement headed by Nasser; thirdly, the disengagement of Iraq from the Baghdad Treaty nations, pro-Western and allied to NATO. The fourth stage could be the acknowledgment of Iraq as a satellite within the Soviet Universal State or a war between the United Arab Republic and Iraq, in which war it could happen that Turkey and Iran would be allies of Nasser.

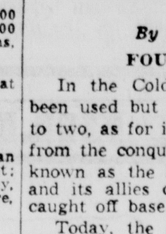

3. The Tibetan situation has been discussed in these essays at some length. It is a conflict for power, in which India and Formosa are deeply involved. There can be little question but that Mao Tze-tung is closing in on India. Several years ago the Indians were surprised to find maps issued by China which set China's boundaries at the Chienlung line which included areas now regarded as part of India. It was passed over as excessive chauvinism. The occupation of Tibet by the Chinese Communists and the flight of the Dalai Lama affects immediately such areas as Sikkim, Bhutan and Nepal and imperils India's influence in Burma which is profoundly Buddhistic.

Nehru has to take a stand or it will not be long before he will either capitulate to Peking or cry for help. The only country that has the military know-how to help India is Great Britain and it will be an embarrassment to Nehru to have to revert to dependence upon Great Britain. The United States has had no experience with India and when American bungling in China and Indonesia is studied by Asiatics, most would unquestionably prefer to deal with the British.

4. The Cuban situation is one involving the United States both economically and geographically. Whatever psychological peculiarities Fidel Castro presents, his movement is now disclosing itself as associated with the international Communist movement. At first Americans, who disliked the dictatorship of Batista, favored the Castro movement. Many Roman Catholics in the United States sympathized with Castro because they did not discern the Communist factors in his movement.

Today, there can no longer be any question but that powerful Communist forces have been freed in Cuba and that they imperil American interests in the Caribbean.

There is a good deal of guesswork involved in trying to answer some of the questions submitted to this column, including today's first.

Q—What does it indicate if an elderly person stays away from alcohol for a year or two, and then comes under an emotional strain and begins acting as though he were under the influence of alcohol, but is not?—Reader.

A—It is possible that severe emotional disturbance could make a person act as though he had had too much to drink. In this instance the implication is that the man in question had been an alcoholic. In this event, there would also be danger of his taking it up again when under emotional stress.

Without knowing more of the circumstances one can only suggest that he may need help from a psychiatrist, from a social organization, or from Alcoholics Anonymous.

Q—Does syphilis (cured 12 years or more) ever leave any evidence which will show up through a blood test?—E. N.

A—It is possible for all of the active signs of syphilis to disappear following treatment and yet for one or more of the blood tests to show positive for many years. This is sometimes spoken of as "Wassermann fastness."

Q—If a person has a heart block with a heartbeat of around 42 to a minute, will he get over it?—E. G.

A—A heart block means that some of the electrical impulses to the heart muscle fail to get through and stimulate the heart to its regular beat. The heart block may be present constantly or intermittently.

A person with this condition should be under medical observation. Drug treatment of it is usually not completely satisfactory.

Q—Can you give me some facts about Wilm's tumor? We lost our little girl some months ago, when almost a year old, from this disease.—Mrs. C.

A—This is a particular kind of rapidly developing cancer of the kidneys occurring in children usually before the fifth year. There is nothing you could have done to avoid this tragedy. I can only say for the benefit of others that, fortunately, it is a rather rare thing.

Q—What is the cause of epididymitis? Is this strictly a male affliction?—R.

A—This means inflammation of the epididymis. It is strictly a male affliction since the epididymis is a portion of the male sexual apparatus.

The most common cause is infection with germs located in the area, though inflammation may also result from infection elsewhere in the body.

"Can I Have the Help Wanted Section?"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Five thousand union labor people are descending on Washington, April 8 for a one-day demonstration in the National Guard Armory to dramatize unemployment.

About half of the delegates will be jobless workers and the other half local union officers from the hardest hit areas. The locals will pay the expenses. They've been selling apples and passing the hat at plant gates to raise the money.

As one union official puts it, "What we're trying to do is connect a few faces with the cold statistics of five million people or 6 per cent of the working force unemployed. We want to see if we can't wake up a few congressmen and the Eisenhower administration leaders to do something more about them."

UNION HEADQUARTERS here were pleasantly surprised the other day by President Eisenhower's press conference admission that — in the coal industry at least — automation has made impossible the rehiring of all workers laid off during last year's recession.

This was taken as White House recognition that the problem existed. Otherwise, the record of the administration in dealing with the unemployment hangover is considered nothing to win the GOP many labor votes in the 1960 election.

As a matter of fact, modernization of the law to correct weaknesses in today's unemployment insurance system disclosed by last year's recession is now caught in a web of federal-state politics that almost defies untangling.

President Eisenhower has now decided to give the states one more chance to revise their own laws, raise their rates of benefits to a minimum of half-pay for half a year.

IN SO DOING, the President undercut his secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, who last year told the Bricklayers he hoped this Congress would approve federal minimum standards.

There have been some dope stories that this might cause Sec. Mitchell to resign, but that's extremely doubtful. For, by playing the waiting game, Sec. Mitchell may get the federal standards approved by Congress next year, if not this.

Senator John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) already has a bill to make this change. If not passed this year, it will carry over automatically for consideration next session. And passage in 1960 might do the GOP more good than now.

The odds are heavy against any state legislature raising its own unemployment insurance benefit standards this year. Forty-six state legislatures meet this year, but 11 will have adjoined by March 31 without this action.

About 15 other states have already passed deadlines by which new legislation must be introduced to receive consideration this year. Next year only 17 legislatures meet.

Few if any of these states are going to revise their unemployment insurance laws for the simple reason that there's too much opposition at home from employers.

ONLY FIVE STATES are now collecting all the unemployment insurance taxes they could get under present law. They are Alaska, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Washington. All the other 45 could pass laws raising their own payroll tax rates to collect more money with which to pay more unemployment insurance benefits. But they probably won't do it.

President Eisenhower has now come up with the plan to raise from $3,000 to a $4,200 annual maximum the base pay on which unemployment insurance payroll taxes are computed.

Alaska now has this $4,200 maximum. Four other states collect on a maximum base pay of $3,600 a year. They are Delaware Nevada, Rhode Island and Oregon.

The rest are collecting payroll taxes for unemployment insurance on a base pay of $3,000 a year — the standard set in 1939.

These are conditions which make the establishment of federal standards for unemployment insurance almost inevitable. The Kennedy bill probably can't get through Congress this year. Its chances for next year seem better.

That may be a little late to do much good for the unemployed whose insurance benefit rights now have expired. But it's a hope, and about the only hope for more relief to workers who may be out of jobs for long periods after 1960.

Today in World Affairs

Robertson Called Bulwark Against Red China Goals

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Sometimes it takes the news of an illness or a departure from public office to bring a true evaluation of the services of a man to his country. The announced resignation of Walter S. Robertson from his post as Assistant Secretary of State for Asian Affairs focuses attention on the valiant and successful fight of a sick man to keep America from blundering into recognition of the Red China regime.

Mr. Robertson, who leaves the Department of State in a few weeks, says frankly he never would give up his work if he did not feel assured that the United States will not yield to the tyrants in Peiping. Few people outside the government are aware of the indefatigable battle Mr. Robertson has waged against all manner of intrigue that has been going on inside and outside the government to win for Red China a place in the United Nations and diplomatic recognition by the United States government.

Truman Criticism

Mr. Robertson served under the Truman Administration, but has played an even bigger role under the Eisenhower Administration in steering foreign policy as it relates to Asia. It was most unfortunate to read the other day a comment by former President Truman accusing the Eisenhower Administration of "surrendering" because an armistice was signed in Korea.

All one hase to do is to read the book by Adm. C. Turner Joy, who presided for the United States at the Panmunjon negotiations, to find out that, before the Eisenhower Administration came into power, the American representatives had been instructed to accept the principal portions of the final agreement. They did so, and only a dispute about exchange of prisoners remained when Mr. Eisenhower became President in 1953. So the real question was whether to repudiate or to honor the agreement made by the Truman Administration. President Eisenhower chose to honor the signature of the United States on the sections already agreed upon by the previous administration.

Little Difference

As a matter of fact, it is only in what happened prior to 1950, when State Department officials were being accused by Congressional committees of catering to Communists in the Far East, that there is any basis for controversy. In a speech delivered three weeks ago at Ottawa, Canada, Mr. Robertson said:

"Since 1950, the difference in basic China policy between former President Truman and President Eisenhower is the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee.

"In early 1950, following the Communist take-over of the mainland in December, 1949, at about the time of British recognition, President Truman vetoed the recommendation made to him that we recognize Red China. The Republican attack on the Democrats in the 1952 election campaign was not on basic China policy as it then was, but rather on what was alleged to have been the vacillation and blunders which had helped create the Frankenstein monster of Red China and enhance its menace to the free world.

Congress Unanimity

"In 1956, an election year, a Democratic-sponsored resolution, reaffirming support of the Republic of China and opposing the seating of Red China in the United Nations, passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 391 to 0 and by 86 to 0 in the Senate. Not a single Congressman or Senator of either party was willing to vote against this resolution. This is a phenomenon unprecedented in American political history. When the parties later assembled for their national conventions, they adopted almost idenical planks in support of this policy. In the recent Taiwan (Formosa) crisis, Mr. Truman was among the first to come out in strong support of President Eisenhower's position. To repeat, the differences of opinion about China policy do not represent differences between political parties, but rather differences between individuals, irrespective of party lines."

Free World Security

Mr. Robertson has made numerous speeches about the whole China problem in the last few years, and has been perhaps the country's most outstanding champion of the American policy in the Far East. He says opposition to the Red China regime is not based on "disapproval of an ideology or an economic system, much as we abhor both." He asserts that American policy is based "on the collective security of the free world." He sees any possible acceptance of Red China's regime as meaning the liquidation of American alliances in the Philippines and Southeast Asia, danger to the Korean Republic and the collapse of our military allies in the Western Pacific who possess considerable man power which is not available would have to be substituted for by millions of American soldiers.

Mr. Robertson points out that very few countries have recognized Red China since the Communist aggression in Korea in June, 1950. He adds:

"Instead of being isolated, we stand with the overwhelming majority of the countries of the free world in this position. It is essential that this majority continue to stand together."

Walter Robertson's espousal of the cause of a free China will long be remembered. And it is a safe bet that he will continue to give whatever energy he has left to the cause for which he has struggled this last decade, despite frequent intervals of ill health. He is truly one of the great public servants of our times.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, April 5 — Time was when rock-fisted policemen beat prisoners in "the back room" so that in court they gave circumstantial evidence of coercion. Thus confessions were rejected, good hanging cases came apart and scoundrels walked out, leering with swollen features. Thus the Forces of Decency were put to the necessity of discovering that 18 inches of garden hose broke no skin if applied to clothed but sensitive portions of the body and a Step Forward in Law Enforcement was acclaimed by righteous men.

The garden hose, in its own turn, came to be rejected by the courts and the police were up against it until the courts introduced a rubber hose of their own, wielded by judges. This is their unconscionable power to put innocent persons in prison for endless periods for "contempt" in refusing to say precisely what incompetent prosecutors, congressional mountebanks and the Department of Justice want them to say, in violation of their constitutional rights not to testify against themselves.

Thus, Frank Costello got 18 months from a federal judge for refusing to act the part of a public fool for the preposterous Senator Estes Kefauver. Any decent citizen would have been justified in belting Kefauver with the water pitcher, for he is a freak of politics whose only achievements were to bring Congress into general contempt and outlaw interstate transportation of slot machines. No mountain ever labored worse to bring forth so puny a mouse, but, later, in Chicago, he snorted through an awesome proboscis and sprayed the Democratic convention with tears because he did not get the nomination for President.

Myles Lane, the U. S. Attorney, admitted that 18 months was abundant. However, Lane merely prosecuted and the judge had authority from Congress to inflict this unconscionable persecution on a man whose bad repute has imposed three strikes on him every time he goes to trial. Mr. Lane has even offered the afterthought that if Costello had been more tactful and had taken the Fifth Amendment, according to present common practice, he would have walked out free.

The rubber hose is now a horrible weapon of the courts which many judges, mostly federal, politicians of low culture and ignorant of the sweeter dictates of decency, use more horribly than the cops ever used it in police stations. After all, a man gets over the ugly welts inflicted by the veritable hose. But who can make a man whole after he has been robbed of 30 days or six or 18 months or three years of his precious time on earth by a judge of such a nature that he can bring himself to do such awful thinks?

Costello has been convicted of just two offenses in his life. The only other one was a "gun-rap" which today would be condoned as a juvenile indiscretion.

In another instance, he got 30 days in the tombs for refusing to tell a grand jury the meaning of certain symbols on a slip of paper which a policeman stole from his pocket as he lay on the slab for emergency treatment of a gunshot wound. The cop who violated the law, his honorable duty and the rights of an offended citizen was not even criticized. Moreover, this grand jury and the district attorney knew full well the meaning of the symbols and the only purpose in using the rubber hose in the hands of a judge on a man who was the victim of a serious crime and was himself accused of nothing, was to make him give evidence against himself, possibly among others.

The ridiculous Apalachin case brought scorn on the police authority of the State of New York, which raided a steakfry, no better no worse, found no contraband and then tried to make those present accuse themselves of nameless crimes which not even the authorities have defined. Having balled up the coup, the state is now using the hose on "witnesses" to make them do the job the police were paid to do, if job there was to do at all.

The tough old cops said "Oh, so you won't talk!"

Bang!

But august judges on the bench now swing the hose and twist the victims' arms.

A few years ago, I confided to the New York district attorney the basic document which ultimately resulted in another term, albeit a short one, for George Scalise, a pioneer of the union rackets. One witness, Abe Saperstein, refused to talk and got two years in prison for contempt.

He refused because he knew he would be shot. After a meditation, he decided to break silence and, in direct retaliation, he was shot four times in the head. Obviously he was justified in his original refusal, based on his fears. But his wounds were just his own tough luck.

Grand juries are composed of average, and the average of character, motives and honor among men today is not good but bad. Whosoever confides delicate personal information to a grand jury takes a risk of blackmail and multifarious dirty work later by members of the grand jury and their kinfolk and associates.

Indignation against witnesses who "take the fifth" howls down the fact that this resort is a sacred right. If the law can use the rubber hose in open court to extort self-accusations from innocent men, we have relieved the police and FBI of their duty and degraded the courts to a level which a majority of judges, especially federals of the eastern ridings, will find intellectually and morally pleasant.

A THING OF THE PAST?

Every time there's a running of the presidential nominating sweepstakes, the horses seem to emerge earlier than ever from the paddock. And trotting right along with them are the bettors and guessers.

The big 1960 field on the Democratic side already has the spectators clicking away with their calculations. The pros and cons involving each candidate are being thoroughly aired.

On one uoint, however, the guessers seem not to have remembered their history too well. A fair number keep tossing in the word "deadlock" as if this were both an easy and a likely prospect in national conventions.

The record of recent decades indicates that it is not.

The Republicans had one in 1920, when Warren G. Harding emerged from battle as a compromise choice.

They had what amounted to one in 1940, when neither Thomas E. Dewey nor Senator Robert A. Taft could build more than three-fifths of the delegate strength they needed to win. Wendell Wilkie came from far behind to gain the prize in six ballots.

Only once since then, in 1948, have the Republicans required more than one ballot to determine their nominee. Dewey won in three that time.

As for the Democrats, since the famous 104-ballot deadlock at Madison Square Garden in 1924, they have had no deadlocks at all. The closest they came was in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first nomination at Chicago in 1932, when some very deft maneuvering was needed to break a log jam barring his way.

From that time on, the nominee in every convention but one (it took three to nominate Stevenson over Kefauver in 1952) has been named in a single ballot.

So, stretching it a bit, you can find no more than three deadlocked conventions between 1920 and the present. Hardly enough to warrant easy predictions of one in 1960.

Admittedly the aspirants on the Democrtic side are numerous. But that does not automatically make for a deadlock. Some may well fall by the wayside long before the convention begins.

A realistic appraisal of convention history demands that we look upon a 1960 Democratic deadlock as generally quite unlikely, as pretty much an outside prospect.

INDIVIDUAL'S QUESTION

A complaint frequently heard is that individuals are almost powerless in this complex, highly organized, populous world. This belief is frustrating and disheartening to those who want to make a contribution to the betterment of society, yet fear that their efforts are likely to be swallowed up and lost.

The feeling is certainly not without foundation. But there is truth in the idea that, no matter how deeply individuals are submerged in the group, each of them bears the responsibility—and has some opportunity—to live the best life of which he is capable.

Rabbi David Aronson of Minneapolis has commented eloquently on this in a booklet, "Jewish Ethical Living," written for the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs. "The good society," he declares, "is made up of good individuals, and each person should live in a manner as if the fate and the direction of the world depended on him alone."

This searching concept of the individual's role becomes even more so in the light of further observations by Rabbi Aronson: "We are planning flights to the moon, but dare not ask ourselves the question: Where are we morally? As a result we are technologically supermen but morally close to the beasts. Technologically we are in the atomic age; morally we are still in the stone age. Where are you?"

It comes back to that. Morally speaking, the question is not: Where is society? the central question is: Where are you? It is a question that each of us must ask, honestly, of himself.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

FOUR AREAS OF CRISIS

In the Cold War, diversionary tactics have been used but generally they have been limited to two, as for instance, the diversion of attention from the conquest of China by what has become known as the Berlin Airlift. The United States and its allies concentrated on Berlin and were caught off base as regards China.

Today, the Soviet Universal State faces the West with a complicated pattern of events, at least four of which serve as diversions from each other and make handling, either by diplomacy or war, difficult. The four are Berlin, Iraq, Tibet and Cuba. The defender of Soviet tactics will say that this is not a pattern but is happenstance, that it is not the result of causation but is accidental coincidence. I cannot prove otherwise but do not accept the casual explanation because experience indicates that when Communist elements are involved in any situation, the primary planning and the ultimate decision are always inside the Kremlin.

1. The Berlin Crisis involves an ultimatum expiring on May 27. Although this ultimatum has tacitly been postponed by Khrushchev, it has not been formally withdrawn. A meeting of Foreign Ministers has been called for May 11 at Geneva and the likelihood is that this meeting will delay the ultimate decision, whatever it may be. Following the Foreign Ministers' meeting, there is to be a meeting at the Summit, which might achieve something although that is very doubtful. The Western powers place great emphasis on the Berlin gambit.

2. Iraq presents an extraordinarily difficult problem because it involves the entire Middle East as well as Turkey. It is of primary significance because if Soviet Russia controls the oil of Iraq and Iran, Western Europe will be at its mercy. When Anastas Mikoyan was in the United States, he talked to businessmen about the enormous purchases that Soviet Russia wanted to make of steel pipe. If what he said was realistic, he wanted enough pipe to bring Russian, Mosul and Iranian oil to the heart of Europe. His conversation stimulated the cupidity of many businessmen, although, so far as we know, nothing has come of these conversations.

The Iraqi Revolution has now gone through three stages: first, the murder of the Hashimite King of Iraq and his family; secondly, the separation of Iraq from the Arab nationalist movement headed by Nasser; thirdly, the disengagement of Iraq from the Baghdad Treaty nations, pro-Western and allied to NATO. The fourth stage could be the acknowledgment of Iraq as a satellite within the Soviet Universal State or a war between the United Arab Republic and Iraq, in which war it could happen that Turkey and Iran would be allies of Nasser.

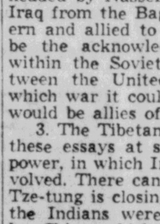

3. The Tibetan situation has been discussed in these essays at some length. It is a conflict for power, in which India and Formosa are deeply involved. There can be little question but that Mao Tze-tung is closing in on India. Several years ago the Indians were surprised to find maps issued by China which set China's boundaries at the Chienlung line which included areas now regarded as part of India. As a matter of fact, modernization of the law to correct weaknesses in today's unemployment insurance system disclosed by last year's recession is now caught in a web of federal-state politics that almost defies untangling.

President Eisenhower has now decided to give the states one more chance to revise their own laws, raise their rates of benefits to a minimum of half-pay for half a year.

IN SO DOING, the President undercut his secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, who last year told the Bricklayers he hoped this Congress would approve federal minimum standards.

There have been some dope stories that this might cause Sec. Mitchell to resign, but that's extremely doubtful. For, by playing the waiting game, Sec. Mitchell may get the federal standards approved by Congress next year, if not this.

Senator John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) already has a bill to make this change. If not passed this year, it will carry over automatically for consideration next session. And passage in 1960 might do the GOP more good than now.

The odds are heavy against any state legislature raising its own unemployment insurance benefit standards this year. Forty-six state legislatures meet this year, but 11 will have adjoined by March 31 without this action.

About 15 other states have already passed deadlines by which new legislation must be introduced to receive consideration this year. Next year only 17 legislatures meet.

Few if any of these states are going to revise their unemployment insurance laws for the simple reason that there's too much opposition at home from employers.

ONLY FIVE STATES are now collecting all the unemployment insurance taxes they could get under present law. They are Alaska, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Washington. All the other 45 could pass laws raising their own payroll tax rates to collect more money with which to pay more unemployment insurance benefits. But they probably won't do it.

President Eisenhower has now come up with the plan to raise from $3,000 to a $4,200 annual maximum the base pay on which unemployment insurance payroll taxes are computed.

Alaska now has this $4,200 maximum. Four other states collect on a maximum base pay of $3,600 a year. They are Delaware Nevada, Rhode Island and Oregon.

The rest are collecting payroll taxes for unemployment insurance on a base pay of $3,000 a year — the standard set in 1939.

These are conditions which make the establishment of federal standards for unemployment insurance almost inevitable. The Kennedy bill probably can't get through Congress this year. Its chances for next year seem better.

That may be a little late to do much good for the unemployed whose insurance benefit rights now have expired. But it's a hope, and about the only hope for more relief to workers who may be out of jobs for long periods after 1960.

Robertson Called Bulwark Against Red China Goals

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Sometimes it takes the news of an illness or a departure from public office to bring a true evaluation of the services of a man to his country. The announced resignation of Walter S. Robertson from his post as Assistant Secretary of State for Asian Affairs focuses attention on the valiant and successful fight of a sick man to keep America from blundering into recognition of the Red China regime.

Mr. Robertson, who leaves the Department of State in a few weeks, says frankly he never would give up his work if he did not feel assured that the United States will not yield to the tyrants in Peiping. Few people outside the government are aware of the indefatigable battle Mr. Robertson has waged against all manner of intrigue that has been going on inside and outside the government to win for Red China a place in the United Nations and diplomatic recognition by the United States government.

Truman Criticism

Mr. Robertson served under the Truman Administration, but has played an even bigger role under the Eisenhower Administration in steering foreign policy as it relates to Asia. It was most unfortunate to read the other day a comment by former President Truman accusing the Eisenhower Administration of "surrendering" because an armistice was signed in Korea.

All one hase to do is to read the book by Adm. C. Turner Joy, who presided for the United States at the Panmunjon negotiations, to find out that, before the Eisenhower Administration came into power, the American representatives had been instructed to accept the principal portions of the final agreement. They did so, and only a dispute about exchange of prisoners remained when Mr. Eisenhower became President in 1953. So the real question was whether to repudiate or to honor the agreement made by the Truman Administration. President Eisenhower chose to honor the signature of the United States on the sections already agreed upon by the previous administration.

Little Difference

As a matter of fact, it is only in what happened prior to 1950, when State Department officials were being accused by Congressional committees of catering to Communists in the Far East, that there is any basis for controversy. In a speech delivered three weeks ago at Ottawa, Canada, Mr. Robertson said:

"Since 1950, the difference in basic China policy between former President Truman and President Eisenhower is the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee.

"In early 1950, following the Communist take-over of the mainland in December, 1949, at about the time of British recognition, President Truman vetoed the recommendation made to him that we recognize Red China. The Republican attack on the Democrats in the 1952 election campaign was not on basic China policy as it then was, but rather on what was alleged to have been the vacillation and blunders which had helped create the Frankenstein monster of Red China and enhance its menace to the free world.

Congress Unanimity

"In 1956, an election year, a Democratic-sponsored resolution, reaffirming support of the Republic of China and opposing the seating of Red China in the United Nations, passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 391 to 0 and by 86 to 0 in the Senate. Not a single Congressman or Senator of either party was willing to vote against this resolution. This is a phenomenon unprecedented in American political history. When the parties later assembled for their national conventions, they adopted almost idenical planks in support of this policy. In the recent Taiwan (Formosa) crisis, Mr. Truman was among the first to come out in strong support of President Eisenhower's position. To repeat, the differences of opinion about China policy do not represent differences between political parties, but rather differences between individuals, irrespective of party lines."

Free World Security

Mr. Robertson has made numerous speeches about the whole China problem in the last few years, and has been perhaps the country's most outstanding champion of the American policy in the Far East. He says opposition to the Red China regime is not based on "disapproval of an ideology or an economic system, much as we abhor both." He asserts that American policy is based "on the collective security of the free world." He sees any possible acceptance of Red China's regime as meaning the liquidation of American alliances in the Philippines and Southeast Asia, danger to the Korean Republic and the collapse of our military allies in the Western Pacific who possess considerable man power which is not available would have to be substituted for by millions of American soldiers.

Mr. Robertson points out that very few countries have recognized Red China since the Communist aggression in Korea in June, 1950. He adds:

"Instead of being isolated, we stand with the overwhelming majority of the countries of the free world in this position. It is essential that this majority continue to stand together."

Walter Robertson's espousal of the cause of a free China will long be remembered. And it is a safe bet that he will continue to give whatever energy he has left to the cause for which he has struggled this last decade, despite frequent intervals of ill health. He is truly one of the great public servants of our times.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, April 5 — Time was when rock-fisted policemen beat prisoners in "the back room" so that in court they gave circumstantial evidence of coercion. Thus confessions were rejected, good hanging cases came apart and scoundrels walked out, leering with swollen features. Thus the Forces of Decency were put to the necessity of discovering that 18 inches of garden hose broke no skin if applied to clothed but sensitive portions of the body and a Step Forward in Law Enforcement was acclaimed by righteous men.

The garden hose, in its own turn, came to be rejected by the courts and the police were up against it until the courts introduced a rubber hose of their own, wielded by judges. This is their unconscionable power to put innocent persons in prison for endless periods for "contempt" in refusing to say precisely what incompetent prosecutors, congressional mountebanks and the Department of Justice want them to say, in violation of their constitutional rights not to testify against themselves.

Thus, Frank Costello got 18 months from a federal judge for refusing to act the part of a public fool for the preposterous Senator Estes Kefauver. Any decent citizen would have been justified in belting Kefauver with the water pitcher, for he is a freak of politics whose only achievements were to bring Congress into general contempt and outlaw interstate transportation of slot machines. No mountain ever labored worse to bring forth so puny a mouse, but, later, in Chicago, he snorted through an awesome proboscis and sprayed the Democratic convention with tears because he did not get the nomination for President.

Myles Lane, the U. S. Attorney, admitted that 18 months was abundant. However, Lane merely prosecuted and the judge had authority from Congress to inflict this unconscionable persecution on a man whose bad repute has imposed three strikes on him every time he goes to trial. Mr. Lane has even offered the afterthought that if Costello had been more tactful and had taken the Fifth Amendment, according to present common practice, he would have walked out free.

The rubber hose is now a horrible weapon of the courts which many judges, mostly federal, politicians of low culture and ignorant of the sweeter dictates of decency, use more horribly than the cops ever used it in police stations. After all, a man gets over the ugly welts inflicted by the veritable hose. But who can make a man whole after he has been robbed of 30 days or six or 18 months or three years of his precious time on earth by a judge of such a nature that he can bring himself to do such awful thinks?

Costello has been convicted of just two offenses in his life. The only other one was a "gun-rap" which today would be condoned as a juvenile indiscretion.

In another instance, he got 30 days in the tombs for refusing to tell a grand jury the meaning of certain symbols on a slip of paper which a policeman stole from his pocket as he lay on the slab for emergency treatment of a gunshot wound. The cop who violated the law, his honorable duty and the rights of an offended citizen was not even criticized. Moreover, this grand jury and the district attorney knew full well the meaning of the symbols and the only purpose in using the rubber hose in the hands of a judge on a man who was the victim of a serious crime and was himself accused of nothing, was to make him give evidence against himself, possibly among others.

The ridiculous Apalachin case brought scorn on the police authority of the State of New York, which raided a steakfry, no better no worse, found no contraband and then tried to make those present accuse themselves of nameless crimes which not even the authorities have defined. Having balled up the coup, the state is now using the hose on "witnesses" to make them do the job the police were paid to do, if job there was to do at all.

The tough old cops said "Oh, so you won't talk!"

Bang!

But august judges on the bench now swing the hose and twist the victims' arms.

A few years ago, I confided to the New York district attorney the basic document which ultimately resulted in another term, albeit a short one, for George Scalise, a pioneer of the union rackets. One witness, Abe Saperstein, refused to talk and got two years in prison for contempt.

He refused because he knew he would be shot. After a meditation, he decided to break silence and, in direct retaliation, he was shot four times in the head. Obviously he was justified in his original refusal, based on his fears. But his wounds were just his own tough luck.

Grand juries are composed of average, and the average of character, motives and honor among men today is not good but bad. Whosoever confides delicate personal information to a grand jury takes a risk of blackmail and multifarious dirty work later by members of the grand jury and their kinfolk and associates.

Indignation against witnesses who "take the fifth" howls down the fact that this resort is a sacred right. If the law can use the rubber hose in open court to extort self-accusations from innocent men, we have relieved the police and FBI of their duty and degraded the courts to a level which a majority of judges, especially federals of the eastern ridings, will find intellectually and morally pleasant.

On Sparing the Rod

By FRANK TRIPP

The frequent fuss about a teacher's right to shake a cantankerous brat or swat down a bully isn't exactly new; but reactions of some parents, if it happens to their darlings, reflect an unhealthy public attitude toward discipline.

There always have been parents of the "hands off" category who spared the rod and spoiled many a child, though once they were in a more unpopular minority, attracted little attention and not much sympathy.

When I was on earth the first time, nothing shrunk a kid's prestige more than his papa's or mama's appearance in his behalf in the inevitable skirmishes of childhood and growing up.

About the worst reputations a kid could have among his associates were "mama's darling" or "teacher's pet." A backboned youngster would suffer silently any school yard mauling or schoolroom whaling rather than risk the interference of his parents in his affairs.

Nothing equalled such humiliation, and it stuck with some through their lives. As I look back, lack of self reliance persisted in the ones who were parent-pampered.

* * *

INVARIABLY it was parents who made sissies out of kids who, if left to grow up in the pack, would have learned self defense and reliance the right way.

In days when the young hoodlums and vicious delinquents of today were unknown in public schools, teachers ruled the school room in no uncertain fashion.

Their authority and right to physically enforce it, when necessary, taught a type of discipline and respect that coddling has taken out of the curriculum.

No smart alecks or tough guys ran their classes; or learned in school to challenge authority, law and everybody who crossed them. Out of the restraint of teacher authority, enforced by the do-gooders, silly laws and misguided parents, largely grew today's young thugs and delinquents.

* * *

IN MY boyhood neighborhood, and at our house, a licking at school, if the news reached home, brought another one from pop that night in the woodshed. A licking for getting licked by a teacher was double proof that a kid had some rules and authority to respect—or else. If he was worth rearing, eventually he learned and accepted the responsibility—and a citizen was in the making.

By their names and their life records I could prove the efficacy of the frowned upon system. At our old Number 5 some pretty big kids were still in grade school, a lot of tough ones by the 1890 standards.

Docile Prof. Badger couldn't control them. One day a bully threw Badger down a flight of stairs. That did it. The school board sent in a husky fellow from the back country, one James Van Etten.

* * *

AS THE occasion arose, Big Jim took the bevy of bullies, en-masse or singly, into the basement to find out who was boss at Number 5. He used no strap or shingle to whale the tar out of a couple dozen school terrorists.

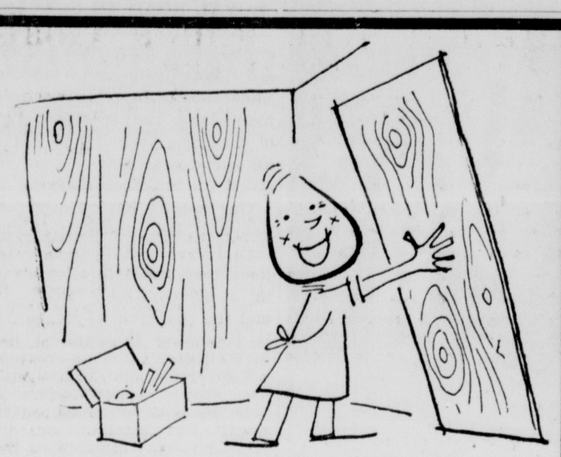

He let 'em fight back or wrestle, and some took Jim on, to their sorrow. If they rated a black eye, they got it. Nobody took his woes home, to the school board or to a lawyer.

None of it got in the newspapers, until I wrote it years later as a reporter; when the guy who threw Badger down stairs was appointed a city policeman, where he served to his death; and another of us became warden, Lewis E. Lawes, at Sing Sing Prison.

The big thing that happened was that Jim Van Etten whaled the bluff and invincibility out of the bullies. The kids they had been pushing around took courage, ganged up, fought back, often whipped them roundly, or lost with honor.

The Grove Park Angels and the Patch Gang developed respect for the rest of us, and we for them. It lasted lifelong among us as we grew up friends in the old home town—thanks to Jim Van Etten and a few sound thrashings.

Five Youths Arrested For Throwing Bottles

Accused of hurling empty bottles at an automobile as they drove in Main Street, Poughkeepsie, early today five youths including three students were arrested on charges of malicious mischief.

William F. Harrington, of 75 Violet Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was the complainant. He told police he was stopped for a red light on Main Street when he heard a bottle crash against his car. As he drove east several bottles were hurled at his vehicle by youths in a sedan.

Mr. Harrington said he gave chase but was unable to overtake the other car. He notified police and provided them with the registration number of the car in which the youths fled. Patrolman Jack Cooper later overtook the vehicle and took the occupants to police headquarters where they were questioned and subsequently booked on malicious mischief charges.

Police identified the defendants as Joseph G. Cummings, 17, a student of Turkey Hill Farm, Red Hook; Almo Zani, 29, bus boy, of 111 Main Street; Richard K. O'Neill, 20, of 15 Valley View Road, unemployed; Louis S. Fusaro, 18, student, of 397 Mansion Street, and Philip Robert Lawton, 18, a student, of 26 Seitz Terrace, all of Poughkeepsie.

New Jobless Pay Benefit Starts Today

NEW YORK (AP)—An extended three-month program of jobless benefits for more than 50,000 long-term unemployed went into effect in the state today.

The program is designed for those who have not yet received all 13 weeks of benefits under the federal-state emergency program begun last June.

A person must have qualified for at least one emergency benefit under the June program to qualify for today's extension. He must also have filed a valid claim under the regular state program and be within his year of eligibility in that program.

Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood estimated there are 40,000 other persons formerly unemployed who could benefit under the extension if they became unemployed again between now and July 5.

It Pays to Own a Dodge!

(It could save you hundreds of dollars!)

Okay, it's settled. You've thought about it and talked about it and now you've decided: A new car—and soon. Now for the jackpot question. Which '59 car will it be?

Unless you happen to be a Mr. Gotrocks, you'll probably think pretty carefully before you finally make the move. You'll do more shopping and compare more closely. And you'll ask yourself some basic questions. How much will a new car cost me to buy? How much will it cost me to drive? What do I get for my money?

There is no mystery about new car prices

Until this year, it was hard to compare different makes of cars to find which offered the most value for the money. It was like comparing apples and bananas. But not any more. Not since all new cars are required to carry price labels. Now, for the first time, you can compare various makes and models and see exactly what you're getting for your money. It's like exposing the hole cards in a game of stud poker: You know exactly where you stand.

Why should you buy a Dodge?

No one has to tell you that there are a number of cars on the market that sell for less than a Dodge. No cigar on that count. You know it and we know it. But there are things you get in a Dodge that you simply can't get in these other smaller cars.

And this is important. Dodge gives you all of these things—the bigness and roominess, the comfort and ride, the luxury and prestige—for less than other cars in its field.

It's not just a few dollars less, either; in many cases it's literally hundreds of dollars less. Some Dodge models are even priced lower than the so-called "low-priced cars." (We'll be happy to show you the actual suggested retail prices.)

All cars cost money to run—but how much?

It would be nice if you just bought a new car and that was that. It didn't burn gas. Didn't use oil. Never needed service. But that's wishful thinking. Cars do use gas and oil. They do need service occasionally. But that doesn't mean that all cars cost the same to drive and maintain. Not by a jugful. There's a big difference.

Dodge is designed to run for less

Dodge has always had a reputation for economical operation. People who have owned them have found it costs less to run a Dodge, and that a Dodge needs service less often.

Take gasoline economy. The new Dodge 326 cu. in. Red Ram V-8 engine, because of its design and efficiency, will take you miles farther on a gallon of gas than any other V-8 in the Dodge field. You save money every mile you drive.

But that's only part of the story. The way Dodge is engineered and built saves you money on such things as engine wear, brake relining, tune-ups, spark plug replacement. When you add them all up, they represent quite a saving. Another reason why it pays to own a Dodge.

What do you get for what you pay?

According to Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices, Dodge generally costs less, model for model, than other cars in its field. Fine and dandy. But while price is important, it isn't the only consideration. The real standard of value—whether you're buying a new car or a can of beans—is what you get for what you pay. It's the "extras" you get at no extra cost that really determine which car is the best buy.

Dodge gives you more for less

Talk is cheap. Anyone can make claims. So let's be specific about the extras you get in Dodge at no extra cost. Torsion-Aire Ride—conceded the finest suspension in the industry—standard equipment on all Dodge models. Total-Contact Brakes, Safety-Rim Wheels, Electric Windshield Wipers, Independent Parking Brake—all standard on Dodge. Of course, you can also choose from such Dodge options as Push-Button Driving, Full-Time Power Steering and Swing-Out Swivel Seats.

There's a big difference in comfort, too

Goodness knows, we certainly don't want to knock competition. But we feel obligated to point out the comfort and convenience of the '59 Dodge. If you've tried getting into some of the other '59 cars you know just what we mean. To say it is difficult would honestly be an understatement. That's why we hope you'll come in and compare the difference in Dodge. How much easier it is to get in and out of a Dodge. How much more comfortable it is to sit in a Dodge. How much more room you have to stretch out. Really, it pays to own a Dodge.

It doesn't cost a penny to get the facts

We don't expect you to rush in and plunk down your money for a new Dodge just on the basis of what you've read. But if what you've read seems to make sense, we do hope you'll stop in to see, to drive and to price a Dodge. We think it's a whale of a buy, but then maybe we're prejudiced. Why not drop in and judge for yourself. We'll be more than happy to give you all the facts. No obligation, of course.

AS THE occasion arose, Big Jim took the bevy of bullies, en-masse or singly, into the basement to find out who was boss at Number 5. He used no strap or shingle to whale the tar out of a couple dozen school terrorists.

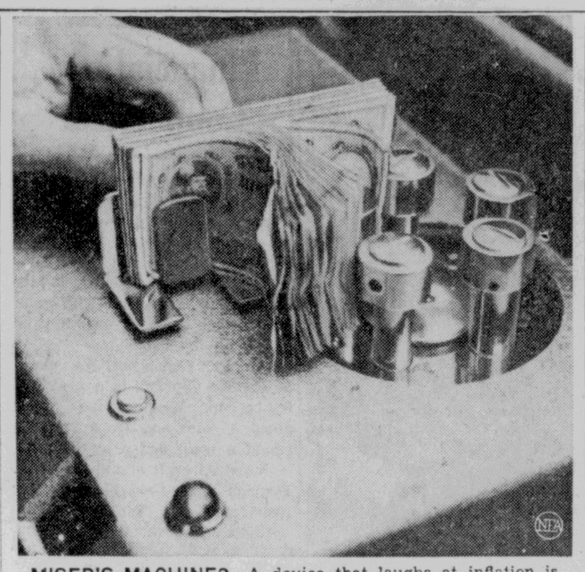

He let 'em fight back or wrestle, and some took Jim on, to their sorrow. If they rated a black eye, they got it. Nobody took his woes home, to the school board or to a lawyer.

None of it got in the newspapers, until I wrote it years later as a reporter; when the guy who threw Badger down stairs was appointed a city policeman, where he served to his death; and another of us became warden Lewis E. Lawes, at Sing Sing Prison.

The big thing that happened was that Jim Van Etten whaled the bluff and invincibility out of the bullies. The kids they had been pushing around took courage, ganged up, fought back, often whipped them roundly, or lost with honor.

The Grove Park Angels and the Patch Gang developed respect for the rest of us, and we for them. It lasted lifelong among us as we grew up friends in the old home town—thanks to Jim Van Etten and a few sound thrashings.

Five Youths Arrested For Throwing Bottles

Accused of hurling empty bottles at an automobile as they drove in Main Street, Poughkeepsie, early today five youths including three students were arrested on charges of malicious mischief.

William F. Harrington, of 75 Violet Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was the complainant. He told police he was stopped for a red light on Main Street when he heard a bottle crash against his car. As he drove east several bottles were hurled at his vehicle by youths in a sedan.

Mr. Harrington said he gave chase but was unable to overtake the other car. He notified police and provided them with the registration number of the car in which the youths fled. Patrolman Jack Cooper later overtook the vehicle and took the occupants to police headquarters where they were questioned and subsequently booked on malicious mischief charges.

Police identified the defendants as Joseph G. Cummings, 17, a student of Turkey Hill Farm, Red Hook; Almo Zani, 29, bus boy, of 111 Main Street; Richard K. O'Neill, 20, of 15 Valley View Road, unemployed; Louis S. Fusaro, 18, student, of 397 Mansion Street, and Philip Robert Lawton, 18, a student, of 26 Seitz Terrace, all of Poughkeepsie.

New Jobless Pay Benefit Starts Today

NEW YORK (AP)—An extended three-month program of jobless benefits for more than 50,000 long-term unemployed went into effect in the state today.

The program is designed for those who have not yet received all 13 weeks of benefits under the federal-state emergency program begun last June.

A person must have qualified for at least one emergency benefit under the June program to qualify for today's extension. He must also have filed a valid claim under the regular state program and be within his year of eligibility in that program.

Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood estimated there are 40,000 other persons formerly unemployed who could benefit under the extension if they became unemployed again between now and July 5.

It Pays to Own a Dodge!

(It could save you hundreds of dollars!)

Okay, it's settled. You've thought about it and talked about it and now you've decided: A new car—and soon. Now for the jackpot question. Which '59 car will it be?

Unless you happen to be a Mr. Gotrocks, you'll probably think pretty carefully before you finally make the move. You'll do more shopping and compare more closely. And you'll ask yourself some basic questions. How much will a new car cost me to buy? How much will it cost me to drive? What do I get for my money?

There is no mystery about new car prices

Until this year, it was hard to compare different makes of cars to find which offered the most value for the money. It was like comparing apples and bananas. But not any more. Not since all new cars are required to carry price labels. Now, for the first time, you can compare various makes and models and see exactly what you're getting for your money. It's like exposing the hole cards in a game of stud poker: You know exactly where you stand.

Why should you buy a Dodge?

No one has to tell you that there are a number of cars on the market that sell for less than a Dodge. No cigar on that count. You know it and we know it. But there are things you get in a Dodge that you simply can't get in these other smaller cars.

And this is important. Dodge gives you all of these things—the bigness and roominess, the comfort and ride, the luxury and prestige—for less than other cars in its field.

It's not just a few dollars less, either; in many cases it's literally hundreds of dollars less. Some Dodge models are even priced lower than the so-called "low-priced cars." (We'll be happy to show you the actual suggested retail prices.)

All cars cost money to run—but how much?

It would be nice if you just bought a new car and that was that. It didn't burn gas. Didn't use oil. Never needed service. But that's wishful thinking. Cars do use gas and oil. They do need service occasionally. But that doesn't mean that all cars cost the same to drive and maintain. Not by a jugful. There's a big difference.

Dodge is designed to run for less

Dodge has always had a reputation for economical operation. People who have owned them have found it costs less to run a Dodge, and that a Dodge needs service less often.

Take gasoline economy. The new Dodge 326 cu. in. Red Ram V-8 engine, because of its design and efficiency, will take you miles farther on a gallon of gas than any other V-8 in the Dodge field. You save money every mile you drive.

But that's only part of the story. The way Dodge is engineered and built saves you money on such things as engine wear, brake relining, tune-ups, spark plug replacement. When you add them all up, they represent quite a saving. Another reason why it pays to own a Dodge.

What do you get for what you pay?

According to Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices, Dodge generally costs less, model for model, than other cars in its field. Fine and dandy. But while price is important, it isn't the only consideration. The real standard of value—whether you're buying a new car or a can of beans—is what you get for what you pay. It's the "extras" you get at no extra cost that really determine which car is the best buy.

Dodge gives you more for less

Talk is cheap. Anyone can make claims. So let's be specific about the extras you get in Dodge at no extra cost. Torsion-Aire Ride—conceded the finest suspension in the industry—standard equipment on all Dodge models. Total-Contact Brakes, Safety-Rim Wheels, Electric Windshield Wipers, Independent Parking Brake—all standard on Dodge. Of course, you can also choose from such Dodge options as Push-Button Driving, Full-Time Power Steering and Swing-Out Swivel Seats.

There's a big difference in comfort, too

Goodness knows, we certainly don't want to knock competition. But we feel obligated to point out the comfort and convenience of the '59 Dodge. If you've tried getting into some of the other '59 cars you know just what we mean. To say it is difficult would honestly be an understatement. That's why we hope you'll come in and compare the difference in Dodge. How much easier it is to get in and out of a Dodge. How much more comfortable it is to sit in a Dodge. How much more room you have to stretch out. Really, it pays to own a Dodge.

It doesn't cost a penny to get the facts

We don't expect you to rush in and plunk down your money for a new Dodge just on the basis of what you've read. But if what you've read seems to make sense, we do hope you'll stop in to see, to drive and to price a Dodge. We think it's a whale of a buy, but then maybe we're prejudiced. Why not drop in and judge for yourself. We'll be more than happy to give you all the facts. No obligation, of course.

Oklahomans to Decide Liquor Status Tuesday

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahomans wind up a short but hard campaign Tuesday by deciding whether to swap 51 years of prohibition for legal liquor.

Observers predict up to 700,000 voters will have their say.

One question determines whether to repeal constitutional prohibition, in effect since statehood, and substitute legal liquor. The amendment provides for private package stores, with sales by the drink banned.

The second question, determines if county option will be adopted if repeal passes. If both are approved, counties will vote May 12 on whether to go wet or stay dry.

The election follows by two days a huge effort by state law officers to dry up Oklahoma. Led by 33-year-old Safety Commissioner Joe Cannon, city, county and state officers raided 13 Tulsa bootleggers and 14 Tulsa nightclubs Saturday night.

Then at midnight a vast network of roadblocks was set up over most of the state for six hours.

Neither raids nor roadblocks netted much—50 bottles of liquor and 22 persons arrested on liquor charges—but Cannon termed it a success.

He has headed the three-month crackdown which Gov. J. Howard Edmondson promised voters in his campaign last summer.

The crackdown had the announced aim of giving voters a clear choice between repeal and enforced prohibition.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices bounced ahead briskly early this afternoon with motor and specialty shares leading the way. Trading pounded at a fast pace.

Most key issues joined in the broad general advance with gains of fractions to more than a point sprinkling the list.

American Telephone ran ahead more than 2 points in a firm utility group. Westinghouse gained about a point and Johns Manville added a point and a half.

United Aircraft climbed a point. Douglas and General Dynamics rose fractions.

American Cyanamid, Air Reduction and Eastman Kodak gained around a half point. Texas Co. pushed more than a point higher.

American Smelting was up nearly a point. Anaconda, threatened by a strike, dipped a shade.

U.S. government bonds were steady to a bit lower.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

ROYAL ROAD TO SUCCESS

Speculative fevers reminiscent of the years 1927, 1928 and 1929 are developing in America. Thousands of investors are in no man's land. That is why so many of them are presently falling for all sorts of schemes to get rich quick via the stock market.

Our country has experienced a buoyant "bull" market for more than 10 years. Billions of dollars have been made in stocks within a comparatively short time and the contagion of this success is beginning to manifest itself in Wall Street and its environs.

Individuals and organizations are offering "open-sesame" advice leading to stock market profits for extremely low fees. It is no coincidence that these offers are a culmination of one of America's biggest and best bull markets. Advancing stock prices invade the country's social and economic life. It is not uncommon these days for groups of speculators to spend hours talking about low-priced stocks that could have sensational advances. And they do rise in price if enough speculators buy them blindly.

In such an atmosphere, it is well to remember that there is no royal road to riches. For every speculator who is lucky in buying a stock, there are a score of others who are unlucky. Usually, the lucky speculator announces his success from the housetop while those who lose become mute and frequently bitter.

The great majority of people who build financial self-reliance for themselves do not get entangled in the speculative excesses of the masses.

There is no adequate substitute for personal enterprise, thrift and saving. These economic virtues give stability and purpose to anyone's life. Unsound speculation, indulged in by those to whom the systematic saving of money and its proper investment are too slow, is a movement growing out of America's 20-year inflation period.

The events of today need to be recorded to remind those who are caught up in the speculative whirl that they are walking on unsafe ground. If any reader is taking risks in the stock market, forgetting thrift and saving, he is following a dangerous course.

And if any reader, flushed with stock market success, is hesitant about setting his own financial house in order, let him pause a moment and see what he can do to improve his condition.

Thousands of people in the country with mortgages on homes and properties, with inadequate insurance protection, with small cash reserves should cash in some stock market profits during the speculative boom. Yes, prices may go higher, but the time to rearrange things financially is when they can be soundly reorganized.

(A) Yes, take it. Pay off your $6,000 home mortgage. Buy $9,000 of U. S. Government 4 per cent bonds, and with the $360 annual interest buy an insurance policy.

Comment Withheld On Protest

By A. I. GOLDBERG

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has charged that the United States deliberately violated altitude regulations in the West Berlin air corridor to wreck the forthcoming East-West talks.

The State Department withheld official comment, but U.S. informants in Washington said the United States had no such intention when it sent a C130 transport into West Berlin at 20,000 feet last week.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow received the latest accusation in a diplomatic note. Meanwhile, U.S. officials in Germany turned down a Soviet complaint that the plane, which was buzzed by Soviet fighters, became a safety hazard when it flew into Berlin March 27. The Soviets claim Allied planes in the corridor are prohibited from going above 10,000 feet.

The new Soviet protest said the Soviet government would not permit anything to hamper the foreign ministers conference opening in Geneva May 11 and "is doing everything to make these negotiations easier."

Difficult, Says Note

But the note said it was difficult "not to consider the premeditated violation by American aircraft of the established order of air communication with Berlin as other than the intention of the United States to worsen conditions for the foreign ministers' meeting, if not to wreck altogether the already reached agreement to hold East-West talks."

The U.S. position is that there is no legal ceiling in the Berlin air corridors and that planes can fly at any altitude desirable in ferrying supplies for the Allies.

The issue did not arise with older, propeller-driven planes which stayed below 10,000 feet. But the C130 is a turboprop aircraft which operates most efficiently at high altitudes. The United States, determined to establish its right to use any level in the corridor, reportedly plans to send additional high-level planes to and from West Berlin. The C130 could haul considerably more cargo than older planes if the Communists close land routes to West Berlin and the Allies try to supply their garrisons by airlift.

Gen. Lauris Norstad said the forces under him as Supreme NATO commander in Europe are not adequate for the full scope of their mission to defend Europe. Norstad wanted his present 21 1-3 divisions expanded to the planned 30 divisions, and more modern weapons like Honest John rockets.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak spurned a suggestion that he go to Moscow to negotiate in behalf of the West. He said that would be quite impossible because the big powers have interests involved in the German question which they must defend.

Spaak indicated that if the troops of the Big Three Western allies are attacked, he believes the other NATO nations will join in the common defense.

Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the United States would strike back with everything available — including missiles and ground units—if the Soviets attack in force.

Autopsy Ordered in Death of Youth, 16

AU SABLE FORKS, N. Y. (AP) —An autopsy has been ordered on the body of a youth who died Sunday night after a scuffle in the lobby of a movie theater.

The victim was tentatively identified as 16-year-old James Mousseau.

State police theorized Mousseau suffered a cerebral hemorrhage but they were unable immediatly to determine what had happened.

They said two witnesses had been placed under sedation by physicians and could not be questioned.

The troopers reported there had been "some sort of squabble" in the lobby.

VFW Council Hear 4,000 Cards Sent For Castle Point

Delegates to the Hudson Valley Counties Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting Sunday aftrnoon in Saugerties VFW Post Home heard a report of 4,000 post card mailings and approved a resolution to the national VFW commander on the hospital bed curtailment at Castle Point.

It was reported at the meeting held at Saugerties Memorial Post Home that 4,000 post cards addressed to Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 29th Congressional District, and protesting the curtailment of facilities at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Castle Point, had been mailed this week by member units of the council.

A resolution addressed to the national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stressing the action was introduced by Alexander G. Gomboy of Newburgh, hospital chairman of the council, and passed unanimously.

The resolution fellows:

"Whereas a decline in the numbers of TB patients at Castle Point VA Hospital has caused the VA authorities to consider closing or reducing facilities, we the members of the Hudson Valley Counties Council urge that in the interests of the counties council that the facilities at the hospital be utilized to the fullest extent for the cure and treatment of needy veterans in general need and surgical category."

Gomboy reported on the meeting of 36 organizations at the hospital March 27 with Congressman Wharton.

A post card campaign in the Hudson Valley area embracing 14 VFW Posts to prevent the proposed retirement of 40 beds at the hospital was prompted by a report at the last council meeting that facilities were to be curtailed.

Have Meager Tips In Hunt for Men Who Took $3,000

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Police worked on meager clues today in their search for three men who invaded an apartment in a housing project Sunday night and escaped with $3,800 after trussing up four persons.

Peter Gentile, an 89-year-old retired farmer who lives in the apartment, said about $3,500, realized from the sale of a farm, was taken from his pockets. His son Albert, 48, reported he lost $250 and William Wiegant, 45, said $20 was taken from him.

Miss Jennie Gentile, about 44, who lives with her father, said she and the three men were talking in the living room when three men, armed and wearing dark glasses, suddenly walked into the apartment. One stuck a gun at her throat, she said, and ordered: "Now tell me where your father keeps his money."

Miss Gentile said she told them her father carried all his money in his clothing and they found it.

Albert Gentile said he was slugged twice with a gun butt when he tried to get free as he was being tied up. He and Wiegand, both of Utica, were visiting the apartment in North Utica.

The holdup men spent about 20 minutes in the apartment. After they left, Albert Gentile worked himself free and called polic.

Police said some youngsters who were playing outside the building told them they saw three men jump into a car and speed off toward the main section of Utica.

Legislation Makes Headway to Cut State Milk Lines

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Lester Johnson (D-Wis) said today support is increasing for legislation to permit free flow of milk across the nation.

But, he said, there still is not enough backing to put it to a test in Congress at this time.

The legislation, sponsored by all Wisconsin House members and some from Minnesota and Iowa, would eliminate state and local restrictions in many areas to shipments of milk from outside sources of supply.

Johnson said he has not yet asked for a hearing on the legislation but has been assured by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala), chairman of a House interstate subcommittee, that he will call such a hearing when requested.

"We do not want to call for a hearing until we have an army," Johnson said. "We are primarily dependent upon consumer support for outlawing the bans against free movement of milk anywhere in the country.

"However, there are a lot of different groups which now assure us of their help. In addition, many House members have assured me of their support."

Johnson said he probably will request a hearing on the bill during this session of Congress but may decide to wait until the second session starting next January.

Nehru told his news conference his government is still faithful to its treaty of coexistence with Red China, although India is "obviously interested and concerned about what happens" in Tibet.

India, he said, must arrive at a balance among three main considerations in meeting "difficult and embarrassing situations already created that may continue."

Security Stressed

The considerations, he said, are (1) India's security, (2) her desire to maintain cordial relations with Red China, and (3) the Indian peoples' strong sympathy for the Tibetans.

Union Has Records

It said strikebreakers are "frequently hired secretly before bargaining between union and employers is actually begun."

Last Saturday, a Printers Union attorney, Joseph Blonsky, testified before the committee that the union has records of 156 nonunion printers being transported across state lines in the past three years for strikebreaking work.

He said 117 have been brought into New York State to work on various struck newspapers.

Joseph W. Stanfield, 42, of Anniston, Ala., said Saturday he was hired as a standby in anticipation of a printers strike against the Macy papers. He said he was brought to White Plains in the fall of 1956 and paid $110 a week plus hotel expenses and a $6-a-day living allowance to stand by for a strike.

He said that before going to White Plains he worked as a strikebreaker in Zanesville, Ohio, getting about $150 a week including overtime, in addition to hotel expenses.

Later, he said, he worked for a struck newspaper at Lockport, N. Y.

Oklahomans to Decide Liquor Status Tuesday

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahomans wind up a short but hard campaign Tuesday by deciding whether to swap 51 years of prohibition for legal liquor.

Observers predict up to 700,000 voters will have their say.

One question determines whether to repeal constitutional prohibition, in effect since statehood, and substitute legal liquor. The amendment provides for private package stores, with sales by the drink banned.

The second question, determines if county option will be adopted if repeal passes. If both are approved, counties will vote May 12 on whether to go wet or stay dry.

The election follows by two days a huge effort by state law officers to dry up Oklahoma. Led by 33-year-old Safety Commissioner Joe Cannon, city, county and state officers raided 13 Tulsa bootleggers and 14 Tulsa nightclubs Saturday night.

Then at midnight a vast network of roadblocks was set up over most of the state for six hours.

Neither raids nor roadblocks netted much—50 bottles of liquor and 22 persons arrested on liquor charges—but Cannon termed it a success.

He has headed the three-month crackdown which Gov. J. Howard Edmondson promised voters in his campaign last summer.

Renewed Plane

Gen. Lauris Norstad said the forces under him as Supreme NATO commander in Europe are not adequate for the full scope of their mission to defend Europe. Norstad wanted his present 21 1-3 divisions expanded to the planned 30 divisions, and more modern weapons like Honest John rockets.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak spurned a suggestion that he go to Moscow to negotiate in behalf of the West. He said that would be quite impossible because the big powers have interests involved in the German question which they must defend.

Spaak indicated that if the troops of the Big Three Western allies are attacked, he believes the other NATO nations will join in the common defense.

Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the United States would strike back with everything available — including missiles and ground units—if the Soviets attack in force.

Comment Withheld On Protest

By A. I. GOLDBERG

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has charged that the United States deliberately violated altitude regulations in the West Berlin air corridor to wreck the forthcoming East-West talks.

The State Department withheld official comment, but U.S. informants in Washington said the United States had no such intention when it sent a C130 transport into West Berlin at 20,000 feet last week.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow received the latest accusation in a diplomatic note. Meanwhile, U.S. officials in Germany turned down a Soviet complaint that the plane, which was buzzed by Soviet fighters, became a safety hazard when it flew into Berlin March 27. The Soviets claim Allied planes in the corridor are prohibited from going above 10,000 feet.

The new Soviet protest said the Soviet government would not permit anything to hamper the foreign ministers conference opening in Geneva May 11 and "is doing everything to make these negotiations easier."

Difficult, Says Note

But the note said it was difficult "not to consider the premeditated violation by American aircraft of the established order of air communication with Berlin as other than the intention of the United States to worsen conditions for the foreign ministers' meeting, if not to wreck altogether the already reached agreement to hold East-West talks."

The U.S. position is that there is no legal ceiling in the Berlin air corridors and that planes can fly at any altitude desirable in ferrying supplies for the Allies.

The issue did not arise with older, propeller-driven planes which stayed below 10,000 feet. But the C130 is a turboprop aircraft which operates most efficiently at high altitudes. The United States, determined to establish its right to use any level in the corridor, reportedly plans to send additional high-level planes to and from West Berlin. The C130 could haul considerably more cargo than older planes if the Communists close land routes to West Berlin and the Allies try to supply their garrisons by airlift.

They said two witnesses had been placed under sedation by physicians and could not be questioned.

The troopers reported there had been "some sort of squabble" in the lobby.

VFW CouncilHear 4,000 Cards Sent For Castle Point

Delegates to the Hudson Valley Counties Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting Sunday aftrnoon in Saugerties VFW Post Home heard a report of 4,000 post card mailings and approved a resolution to the national VFW commander on the hospital bed curtailment at Castle Point.

It was reported at the meeting held at Saugerties Memorial Post Home that 4,000 post cards addressed to Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 29th Congressional District, and protesting the curtailment of facilities at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Castle Point, had been mailed this week by member units of the council.

A resolution addressed to the national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stressing the action was introduced by Alexander G. Gomboy of Newburgh, hospital chairman of the council, and passed unanimously.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas a decline in the numbers of TB patients at Castle Point VA Hospital has caused the VA authorities to consider closing or reducing facilities, we the members of the Hudson Valley Counties Council urge that in the interests of the counties council that the facilities at the hospital be utilized to the fullest extent for the cure and treatment of needy veterans in general need and surgical category."

Gomboy reported on the meeting of 36 organizations at the hospital March 27 with Congressman Wharton.

A post card campaign in the Hudson Valley area embracing 14 VFW Posts to prevent the proposed retirement of 40 beds at the hospital was prompted by a report at the last council meeting that facilities were to be curtailed.

Have Meager Tips In Hunt for Men Who Took $3,000

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Police worked on meager clues today in their search for three men who invaded an apartment in a housing project Sunday night and escaped with $3,800 after trussing up four persons.

Peter Gentile, an 89-year-old retired farmer who lives in the apartment, said about $3,500, realized from the sale of a farm, was taken from his pockets. His son Albert, 48, reported he lost $250 and William Wiegant, 45, said $20 was taken from him.

Miss Jennie Gentile, about 44, who lives with her father, said she and the three men were talking in the living room when three men, armed and wearing dark glasses, suddenly walked into the apartment. One stuck a gun at her throat, she said, and ordered: "Now tell me where your father keeps his money."

Miss Gentile said she told them her father carried all his money in his clothing and they found it.

Albert Gentile said he was slugged twice with a gun butt when he tried to get free as he was being tied up. He and Wiegand, both of Utica, were visiting the apartment in North Utica.

The holdup men spent about 20 minutes in the apartment. After they left, Albert Gentile worked himself free and called polic.

Police said some youngsters who were playing outside the building told them they saw three men jump into a car and speed off toward the main section of Utica.

Nehru told his news conference his government is still faithful to its treaty of coexistence with Red China, although India is "obviously interested and concerned about what happens" in Tibet.

India, he said, must arrive at a balance among three main considerations in meeting "difficult and embarrassing situations already created that may continue."

Security Stressed

The considerations, he said, are (1) India's security, (2) her desire to maintain cordial relations with Red China, and (3) the Indian peoples' strong sympathy for the Tibetans.

Union Has Records

It said strikebreakers are "frequently hired secretly before bargaining between union and employers is actually begun."

Last Saturday, a Printers Union attorney, Joseph Blonsky, testified before the committee that the union has records of 156 nonunion printers being transported across state lines in the past three years for strikebreaking work.

He said 117 have been brought into New York State to work on various struck newspapers.

Joseph W. Stanfield, 42, of Anniston, Ala., said Saturday he was hired as a standby in anticipation of a printers strike against the Macy papers. He said he was brought to White Plains in the fall of 1956 and paid $110 a week plus hotel expenses and a $6-a-day living allowance to stand by for a strike.

He said that before going to White Plains he worked as a strikebreaker in Zanesville, Ohio, getting about $150 a week including overtime, in addition to hotel expenses.

Later, he said, he worked for a struck newspaper at Lockport, N. Y.

ROYAL ROAD TO SUCCESS

Speculative fevers reminiscent of the years 1927, 1928 and 1929 are developing in America. Thousands of investors are in no man's land. That is why so many of them are presently falling for all sorts of schemes to get rich quick via the stock market.

Our country has experienced a buoyant "bull" market for more than 10 years. Billions of dollars have been made in stocks within a comparatively short time and the contagion of this success is beginning to manifest itself in Wall Street and its environs.

Individuals and organizations are offering "open-sesame" advice leading to stock market profits for extremely low fees. It is no coincidence that these offers are a culmination of one of America's biggest and best bull markets. Advancing stock prices invade the country's social and economic life. It is not uncommon these days for groups of speculators to spend hours talking about low-priced stocks that could have sensational advances. And they do rise in price if enough speculators buy them blindly.

In such an atmosphere, it is well to remember that there is no royal road to riches. For every speculator who is lucky in buying a stock, there are a score of others who are unlucky. Usually, the lucky speculator announces his success from the housetop while those who lose become mute and frequently bitter.

The great majority of people who build financial self-reliance for themselves do not get entangled in the speculative excesses of the masses.

There is no adequate substitute for personal enterprise, thrift and saving. These economic virtues give stability and purpose to anyone's life. Unsound speculation, indulged in by those to whom the systematic saving of money and its proper investment are too slow, is a movement growing out of America's 20-year inflation period.

The events of today need to be recorded to remind those who are caught up in the speculative whirl that they are walking on unsafe ground. If any reader is taking risks in the stock market, forgetting thrift and saving, he is following a dangerous course.

And if any reader, flushed with stock market success, is hesitant about setting his own financial house in order, let him pause a moment and see what he can do to improve his condition.

Thousands of people in the country with mortgages on homes and properties, with inadequate insurance protection, with small cash reserves should cash in some stock market profits during the speculative boom. Yes, prices may go higher, but the time to rearrange things financially is when they can be soundly reorganized.

Among the supporting actors and actresses, Burl Ives and Lee J. Cobb are favorites among the men and Martha Hyer and Wendy Hiller favored among the ladies.

Quiet Time for Johnson Changes Into Storm Now

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON, (AP) — At the start it looked like such a comfortable year for Sen. Lyndon Johnson. As leader of the Senate Democrats the tall Texan had everything he could wish for, including peace and quiet.

It was like being the skipper of a ship on a windless sea. Then suddenly out of nowhere the wind came up. It didn't capsize him but it rocked his boat.

Loyalty? He had it. Probably every Democratic senator is beholden to him for some favor or other. He's a great one for doing favors, knowing the importance of having senators feel favorable to him when he wants something done.

Prestige? He had it in abundance. Wasn't everyone saying he was a positively brilliant maestro in a place which has more prima donnas than an opera house? He had a genius for getting them to say yes or no as he wanted.

Majority Builds Up

And best of all for him: he had an overwhelming majority of Democrats to work with. Thanks to last November's elections, his party's majority was the greatest since early New Deal days.

What more could a Senate leader ask? If he were asked, he'd probably have said more of the same, as anyone would. He was even being prominently mentioned as a likely Democratic presidential candidate in 1960.

Then a comparative newcomer, Sen. William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat, strode up to the bridge and pulled the skipper's cap down around his ears. This was a few weeks ago.

In brief, this was Proxmire's complaint: Senate Democrats were being treated to too much of the daddy-knows-best stuff, with Lyndon the Daddy. Proxmire wanted less of a one-man show and more say-so from everybody.

He wanted Johnson to hold more pow-wows with other Democrats so they could have a voice in what legislation should be pushed, changed, or shoved aside.

Last week Johnson encountered criticism of his leadership from another Democrat, Sen. Pat McNamara of Michigan. He didn't like the way Johnson acted—failed to act was the way he put it—on the jobless pay bill.

This bill, as approved by Congress, was much less than McNamara wanted. He accused Johnson not only of failing to provide leadership but of failing to take a stand at all.

More Criticism

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) came up with still more criticism during the weekend. He didn't mention the 51-year-old Johnson by name, nor did he name Johnson's fellow Texan, 77-year-old Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House. The two Texans have been the undisputed Democratic bosses in the Capitol.

But Morse blasted the "Democratic leadership on Capitol Hill" which he said has been the "Charlie McCarthy in a political ventriloquist act" with President Eisenhower and his administration on the Edgar Bergen end of the act.

"Could it be," asked Morse, "that we are witnessing a tragic political spectacle of both of our political parties in the control of old, tired, sick, reactionary men?"

He said in effect: the Democratic leadership in Congress, instead of leading and pushing through Democratic programs, has been playing footsie with the Eisenhower administration.

On top of all this the 27-man Democratic party advisory council tried to light a fire under Johnson and Rayburn Sunday with an appeal to them to ignore Eisenhower's spending holddown and to start a program to bolster the economy.

Johnson, a man highly sensitive to criticism, was out of town and there was no word from him.

'Hell Fires' on Earth Proposed By Scientists

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

BOSTON (AP)—A scientist today declared we ought to create "hell fires" on earth, just to see what happens.

He warned the Soviet Union is probably trying to do it — first.

The hell fires would be laboratory temperatures of 10,000 to 60,000 degrees — 2 to 12 times hotter than those usually produced on earth.

Out of research with them come an entirely new chemistry — perhaps vastly more powerful rocket fuels, strong new materials, strange new chemicals.

A research jump into these "hell fires" was urged by Dr. Aristid V. Grosse, president of the Research Institute of Temple University, at opening sessions of the American Chemical Society's 135th national meeting.

"We simply don't know much about what happens in chemical and physical reactions above about 5,000 degrees," he said. "But temperatures above 10,000 degrees might lead to new fuels, rocket propellents, and materials able to resist tremendous heat."

"Our national security could be involved, if these high temperatures do hold secrets to new fuels and new chemicals.

"The Soviet Union is trying to leapfrog us in the missile race, and probably is working hard on facilities to create ultra-high temperatures."

Really high temperatures can be created by furnaces focusing the sun's ray, by some rocket motors, and by plasma jets, or streams of gases created by electric arcs.

Organ-Grinder

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP)—Frank B. Netherland, 22, has always loved theatre organs. So when a North Carolina radio station wanted to sell one, Netherland bought it. He took it down, shipped it here and reassembled it. Trouble was, it wouldn't fit in his home. A theatre gave him space and he drops in regularly to play.

2 Plead Innocent To Assault in City Court Here

Two men charged with third degree assault over the weekend pleaded innocent before City Judge Aaron E. Klein today, and their cases were adjourned.

Edward James Brown, 66, of 21 West Strand, was arrested at 2:15 a. m., Sunday by Officer Richard Scherer at 23 West Strand, after he had allegedly struck Arthur Lee Williams of that address.

Thomas F. Saccoman was assigned as his attorney and the case was put over to April 18.

John Scully, 51, of 50 Hunter Street, was arrested Saturday night on complaint of his daughter, Edna Mae, 16, police said. She was treated at Kingston Hospital for cuts and bruises of the face. Officers Louis Sapp and James Scott answered a call to the house shortly after 9 p. m. Saturday.

Attorney Charles J. Saccoman appeared for Scully and the case was put over to Saturday.

Mayor to Officiate At Lions Club Show

The 12th annual Kingston Lions Club Industrial Exposition and Home Show will open its doors tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the State Armory on Manor Avenue. Mayor Edwin F. Radel will be on hand to cut the ribbon. The Colonial Cadets, junior drum and bugle corps of Port Ewen, will perform during the opening ceremonies.

The big show will be open each evening from 7 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. through Saturday, April 11. As in the past, all proceeds are contributed to community service projects by the Kingston Lions Club.

There will be 125 booths filled with colorful and informative displays. Among the displays will be kitchens, camping equipment, appliances, boats, home decoration materials, lawn and garden supplies, pianos and organs, and many others. Both the gentlemen and the ladies will find many items of interest among the exhibits.

A 42-foot NIKE hercules missile will be mounted on a trailer outside the armory. The weapon is part of the display of the Mutual Funds Division of Morgan Davis & Co., and was obtained from the 52nd Artillery Brigade of the U. S. Army Air Defense Command at Fort Totten.

Donald E. Briggs, general chairman of the exposition, said the club was "extremely pleased with the quality of this year's displays. The exhibitors have spared nothing to assure the success of their individual booths and the overall exposition.

Witnesses Called For Murder Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The prosecution will call three more witnesses today and conclude its case in the first-degree murder trial of Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas.

An Indianapolis neurosurgeon, Dr. John A. Hetherington, will be one of today's witnesses. The state probably will ask him to tell what could have caused nerve injuries to Mrs. Nicholas' arms.

The 44-year-old double-divorcee is charged with the fatal shooting of her wealthy lover, Forrest Teel, 54. The shooting occurred in Teel's parked car near the apartment of his new girl friend.

The defense contends the shooting was accidental and happened during a struggle. Mrs. Nicholas said a struggle with Teel caused the nerve injuries to her arms.

Other state witnesses scheduled to testify were R. K. Shull, reporter for the Indianapolis Times, and Detective Sgt. Phillip Sandersand.

Hornblow Returning

NEW YORK (AP)—Film producer Arthur Hornblow Jr., is contemplating a return to Broadway stage activity with a play that had him busy 32 years ago. Hornblow wrote the adaptation of "The Captive," a play by Frenchman Edouard Bourdet which Gilbert Miller staged successfully in 1926. In order to do a revised concept of the play, Hornblow obtained the world dramatic-rights from the author's widow. The new version, a collaboration by Hornblow and his wife, Leonora, is planned for filming after stage presentation.

Five Drivers Face Charges of Speeding

Five drivers were charged with speeding over the weekend and two other traffic summonses were issued.

Charged with speeding and lack of license was Richard Wenzel, of Port Ewen, and others booked for speeding were Richard T. Ferraris, RD 2, Montgomery; Donald Evans, Ulster Park; Donald Brooks, 59 Hanratty Street, and David Snoddy, 258 East Fifth Street, Brooklyn.

Frank Tedesco, West Park, was issued a summons charging lack of inspection sticker.

All are due to appear in night court Tuesday.

STRANGE THINGS ARE HAPPENING—This pattern in cracked glass may be symmetrical but it isn't pleasing to U.S. Army Specialist Gene J. Terpstra of Grand Rapids, Mich. The soldier, based in Germany, was driving his car near Wuerzberg when 319 little holes suddenly appeared in the windshield. Terpstra attributed the phenomena to "undue stress on the frame following a tire change."

Among the displays will be kitchens, camping equipment, appliances, boats, home decoration materials, lawn and garden supplies, pianos and organs, and many others. Both the gentlemen and the ladies will find many items of interest among the exhibits.

A 42-foot NIKE hercules missile will be mounted on a trailer outside the armory. The weapon is part of the display of the Mutual Funds Division of Morgan Davis & Co., and was obtained from the 52nd Artillery Brigade of the U. S. Army Air Defense Command at Fort Totten.

Donald E. Briggs, general chairman of the exposition, said the club was "extremely pleased with the quality of this year's displays. The exhibitors have spared nothing to assure the success of their individual booths and the overall exposition.

Witnesses Called For Murder Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The prosecution will call three more witnesses today and conclude its case in the first-degree murder trial of Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas.

An Indianapolis neurosurgeon, Dr. John A. Hetherington, will be one of today's witnesses. The state probably will ask him to tell what could have caused nerve injuries to Mrs. Nicholas' arms.

The 44-year-old double-divorcee is charged with the fatal shooting of her wealthy lover, Forrest Teel, 54. The shooting occurred in Teel's parked car near the apartment of his new girl friend.

The defense contends the shooting was accidental and happened during a struggle. Mrs. Nicholas said a struggle with Teel caused the nerve injuries to her arms.

Other state witnesses scheduled to testify were R. K. Shull, reporter for the Indianapolis Times, and Detective Sgt. Phillip Sandersand.

Hornblow Returning

NEW YORK (AP)—Film producer Arthur Hornblow Jr., is contemplating a return to Broadway stage activity with a play that had him busy 32 years ago. Hornblow wrote the adaptation of "The Captive," a play by Frenchman Edouard Bourdet which Gilbert Miller staged successfully in 1926. In order to do a revised concept of the play, Hornblow obtained the world dramatic-rights from the author's widow. The new version, a collaboration by Hornblow and his wife, Leonora, is planned for filming after stage presentation.

Five Drivers Face Charges of Speeding

Five drivers were charged with speeding over the weekend and two other traffic summonses were issued.

Charged with speeding and lack of license was Richard Wenzel, of Port Ewen, and others booked for speeding were Richard T. Ferraris, RD 2, Montgomery; Donald Evans, Ulster Park; Donald Brooks, 59 Hanratty Street, and David Snoddy, 258 East Fifth Street, Brooklyn.

Frank Tedesco, West Park, was issued a summons charging lack of inspection sticker.

All are due to appear in night court Tuesday.

STRANGE THINGS ARE HAPPENING—This pattern in cracked glass may be symmetrical but it isn't pleasing to U.S. Army Specialist Gene J. Terpstra of Grand Rapids, Mich. The soldier, based in Germany, was driving his car near Wuerzberg when 319 little holes suddenly appeared in the windshield. Terpstra attributed the phenomena to "undue stress on the frame following a tire change."

Knight Publishing Co. Acquires Newspaper

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Charlotte News was purchased Sunday by the Knight Publishing Co., which owns the Charlotte Observer and newspapers in Miami, Detroit and Akron, Ohio.

No sale figure was announced, but unconfirmed reports put the price at between one and a half and two million dollars.

Thomas L. Robinson, publisher and principal owner of the News, announced the sale. He said it was "absolutely essential from an economic standpoint" because increasing costs had exceeded gains in advertising and circulation revenue.

The News has a circulation of 65,000 and is the largest afternoon paper in the Carolinas. The Observer's circulation is 154,000 daily and 173,000 Sunday.

Kingston Station Will Broadcast News From Times

Starting today WKNY presents on-the-hour news summaries direct from the news room of the New York Times.

In announcing this important new service to Kingston area radio listeners, Robert M. Peebles, general manager of WKNY stated that the local station is very proud to be the only AM radio station except WQXR New York, which is owned by the Times, to present these broadcasts.

The Times has the largest news gathering staff of any publication, experts in all fields, who report and interpret the hourly news now heard on WKNY.

Initially 71 broadcasts per week will be carried. This number will be expanded as soon as clearances can be arranged to 123, one every hour on the hour.

"With world, national and state news provided by the tremendous news gathering resources of the world's greatest newspaper and local news operations directed by Dick McCarthy, WKNY will definitely be first with all the news that's fit to broadcast," Peebles said.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt many folks have seen the Schuyler Mansion, Clinton and Catherine Streets, Albany. A picture of it can be seen in a booklet called "Historic Sites of New York State" in which our Senate House is pictured also.

The mansion was a private home for Major General Philip Schuyler (1733-1804) and his family. It is of Georgian design, a large brick building measuring some 63 feet across the front with a depth of 48 feet. It has a doublehipped gambrel roof, pierced by three dormer windows, surrounded by a Chippendale railing. Lumber for the home was sawed on the Schuyler estate at Old Saratoga, now called Schuylerville. Slaves were used for the unskilled labor. Mrs. Schuyler attended to the details of the decorations. While the mansion was built her husband had to make a trip to England and stayed there several years. While in England, he did not forget his mansion and through letters, now historic items, one can see he constantly had his new home in mind, for he bought various hardware, carpets, draperies and wallpaper and such.

The mansion had as guests, General Washington, who was a personal friend of the Schuylers, Lafayette, Franklin, Talleyrand, Kosciusko, Aaron Burr, Baron Steuben, General Knox and Greene. Alexander Hamilton was married to Schuyler's daughter so no doubt was there often. John Trumbull, the famous artist was "much impressed by the elegant style of everything he saw in the mansion."

Knowledge and education was as important then as it is today. In a book called "Life of Philip Schuyler" by Bayard Tuckerman published in 1903, by Dodd, Mead and Co. describes Schuyler's strange adventure and proof that "knowledge is power" It seems that February, 1761, he sailed in a packet called the "General Wall." A short distance out on the ocean, the captain died. Schuyler's knowledge and study of mathematics and navigation was known to the passengers and crew and they requested that he assume command, which he did.

At the time, Schuyler was only 28 years old, but experience had given him the habit of authority and self-reliance. He was able to navigate the vessel successfully until they nearly reached the coast of Europe. At the time the war was over in America, but it was still going on between England and France, and his packet was captured by a French privateer, which put a lieutenant and prize crew aboard. Again, Schuyler's knowledge, of a foreign language, French, came to his rescue. He was thus on friendly terms with his captors. Then luckily when they were approaching a French port, they were taken again, this time by an English frigate. Thus, Schuyler was able to finally reach London in safety with all his papers.

After Schuyler concluded his business in England he began to study various products which the colonies imported from England, such as hemp and flax. Canals also interested him. All this knowledge he was able to bring back to this country and put it to work.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stockholders of the land arise! This is your month to howl, to be wooed, to be fed, to demonstrate how the American corporate system works or should work.

In April, stockholders annual meetings crowd fast on each other's heels. There will be at least 60 on one day — April 28 — and if you have stock in more than one of the companies you'll have to make a choice.

Fewer Proxy Fights

This April looks more festive and less bellicose than some past ones. Fewer proxy fights are in prospect. Rising profits put shareowners in a better mood.

Stockholders grow in number each year — not only in the national total, but on the rolls of most of the largest corporations.

The company with the greatest number of common share owners — American Telephone & Telegraph with 1,619,397 at last count — expects such a turnout April 15 that it's taking over a New York armory accomodating 25,000.

12,500 May Ballot

The company expects between 7,500 and 12,500 actually to show up to vote on a 3-for-1 stock split and 10 per cent dividend boost as recommended by the directors. Last year A. T. & T. attendance topped 2,500 with only routine business in sight.

Jersey Standard Oil with about 503,000 owners, and General Electric with 395,000, each have had annual meetings of more than 4,000 in the past to claim previous records.

The New York Stock Exchange's magazine notes today that the oil firm had the greatest rate of gain last year in new shareholders. Second was Bethlehem Steel, which now has 171,000. Third was Columbia Gas with 155,000 now.

On the same day that telephone stockholders trek to the armory there will be 36 other annual meetings to choose among.

Third biggest day is April 21 with 35 meetings, and fourth is April 14 with 29 meetings.

"When I drove to California with some friends, my wife asked me to phone her on the way out. A retired policeman sure isn't made of money, but I promised to do it anyway. So in the evening I called home. I told her about the trip and where I was, and she brought me up to date on things at home. When I got back from the trip, I added up the six phone calls I made. Those calls — from places in Virginia, Tennessee, New Mexico, Arizona and California—cost only $10.25. We still can't get over how little we paid for so much enjoyment and peace of mind."

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt many folks have seen the Schuyler Mansion, Clinton and Catherine Streets, Albany. A picture of it can be seen in a booklet called "Historic Sites of New York State" in which our Senate House is pictured also.

The mansion was a private home for Major General Philip Schuyler (1733-1804) and his family. It is of Georgian design, a large brick building measuring some 63 feet across the front with a depth of 48 feet. It has a doublehipped gambrel roof, pierced by three dormer windows, surrounded by a Chippendale railing. Lumber for the home was sawed on the Schuyler estate at Old Saratoga, now called Schuylerville. Slaves were used for the unskilled labor. Mrs. Schuyler attended to the details of the decorations. While the mansion was built her husband had to make a trip to England and stayed there several years. While in England, he did not forget his mansion and through letters, now historic items, one can see he constantly had his new home in mind, for he bought various hardware, carpets, draperies and wallpaper and such.

The mansion had as guests, General Washington, who was a personal friend of the Schuylers, Lafayette, Franklin, Talleyrand, Kosciusko, Aaron Burr, Baron Steuben, General Knox and Greene. ### Without These Six Themes What Would Girls Do?

What would we women talk about if we couldn't talk about—

Our children. They are a never-ending source of conversation for us from the moment they are born until they become parents and we can start talking about our grandchildren.

Our husbands. Whether we are complaining about their faults or bragging about their good qualities or quoting their opinions we can always talk about our husbands.

Our houses. What we are doing in our homes, what we are planning to do to them, and what taking care of them is doing to us can always be used to start a conversation with another woman.

Our diets. I haven't been in a group of women in years that somewhere along the line some woman didn't mention her diet and by so doing get half of the other women present to discussing their diets.

Clothes. If she's old enough to talk, a woman is old enough to talk about clothes, and she never gets too old to have something to say about the latest fashions.

Parties. One of the reasons women love to go to parties is that they like to discuss them afterward. That's why when women go to a party they make mental notes of everyone present, what all the women are wearing and what the hostess serves in the way of food. You can't make much conversation out of a party unless you can remember such details as these.

If you think we women have a lot more to talk about these days than these six overworked subjects, just listen next time you are in a group of women. Chances are all six topics will be introduced and they'll start more general conversation than any weighty subject brought up. Because they are topics all women have something to say about.

GRAFTON, Wis. (AP)—Authorities pushed an intensive manhunt today for the slayer of a 5-year-old boy kidnaped while on the way to a store and found dead of stab wounds in a roadside ditch.

The boy's father, Louis Wagner, 38, wept as he identified the body of his only son. Wagner works in a Milwaukee auto frame factory.

Milton Geiger of Milwaukee told police he was driving on Highway 141 Saturday night when he saw a boy frantically waving from the front seat of another automobile. Geiger said he chased the car but lost sight of it when it turned onto a side road.

So They Say..

It used to be that congressmen greeted the elevator boys with a "Good morning, son." Now you have to be careful. Somebody might think it really is your son on the elevator payroll.

—Rep. Charles A. Boyle (D-Ill.).

* * *

A man's got to make his own way and earn his success. But we should put a concrete floor under distress, where a person is perfectly willing to do a day's work for a day's pay.

—Sen. Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.), on congressional extension of unemployment pay.

* * *

I have had my say, the critics have had theirs and the cardinal has had his.

—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), refusing to say more on his church-state position.

Longshore Leaders Propose Benefits

SEATTLE, (AP) — West Coast longshore leaders today proposed a 35-hour work week, reduced retirement age and higher minimum wages to help meet "displacement of men by machines."

Officers of the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union said in a convention report that labor can help maintain employment by seeking "further reductions in the work week without reductions in pay."

The report to the ILWU's 13th biennial convention opening today was signed by Harry Bridges, president; Louis Goldblatt, secretary-treasurer, and Vice Presidents J. R. Robertson and Germain Bulcke.

They also advocated more and longer unemployment pay, easier disability pensions, medical benefits for Social Security beneficiaries, a national health service, and action "to reduce the burden of taxes, both federal and state."

Without These Six Themes What Would Girls Do?

What would we women talk about if we couldn't talk about—

Our children. They are a never-ending source of conversation for us from the moment they are born until they become parents and we can start talking about our grandchildren.

Our husbands. Whether we are complaining about their faults or bragging about their good qualities or quoting their opinions we can always talk about our husbands.

Our houses. What we are doing in our homes, what we are planning to do to them, and what taking care of them is doing to us can always be used to start a conversation with another woman.

Our diets, I haven't been in a group of women in years that somewhere along the line some woman didn't mention her diet and by so doing get half of the other women present to discussing their diets.

Clothes. If she's old enough to talk, a woman is old enough to talk about clothes, and she never gets too old to have something to say about the latest fashions.

Parties. One of the reasons women love to go to parties is that they like to discuss them afterward. That's why when women go to a party they make mental notes of everyone present, what all the women are wearing and what the hostess serves in the way of food. You can't make much conversation out of a party unless you can remember such details as these.

If you think we women have a lot more to talk about these days than these six overworked subjects, just listen next time you are in a group of women. Chances are all six topics will be introduced and they'll start more general conversation than any weighty subject brought up. Because they are topics all women have something to say about.

Classes Cancelled By $75,000 Blaze

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—A grammar school in nearby Southport didn't open today because of a weekend fire that caused an estimated $75,000 damage.

Firemen said flames broke out in the basement of the Hopkins Street School Sunday and flashed up an open stairwell in the two-story brick structure. No one was in the building.

The school's 350 pupils will be assigned to other schools until the building can be reopened.

Fire damage was confined mostly to the basement, but the rest of the school was badly damaged by heat and smoke.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Firemen and school officials estimated the loss.

Use Copter to Get Body Out of Woods

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y. (AP)—A helicopter was used Sunday to bring out the body of a woodcutter who had been shot to death in an isolated section of Saratoga County.

The sheriff's department said Walter Feulner, 54, had been dead for some time. Deputies said a shotgun was near the body but they declined to speculate on whether the man had killed himself accidentally or intentionally, or had been shot by someone else.

The body was found near Feulner's cabin, near Lake Desolation, by a friend.

Earthquake Shakes West Coast Areas

Police Round Up 17 Men in Raid Play for $10,000

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) —Police swooped down on a private apartment and rounded up 17 men and $10,000 in a weekend gambling raid.

Seven men, including Nick Rizzo, who operates a barbershop below the apartment, were booked on gambling charges and released on bail. The others were releasd after questioning.

Police said that, when they broke into the apartment Saturday night, they found men shooting dice and playing cards.

A slot machine and pornographic pictures were found and during the raid telephone calls came in from people trying to place bets on horse races, police said.

The cash was scattered about. Some of it was in a garbage can.

Almost two hours after a methodical search began, police found two men in a closet. Another man was found under a bed.

All the men picked up were identified as from the Niagara Falls area.

Rizzo was charged with maintaining a gambling place, being a common gambler, possessing a slot machine and pornographic material and with illegal possession of a revolver. He posted $3,500 bail.

Five men were charged with being common gamblers. They were released in $500 bail each. One man was charged with frequenting a gambling establishment and was released in $100 bail.

Disposition of the confiscated money will be decided by the court handling the cases.

Search Pressed For Slayer of Kidnapped Boy

GRAFTON, Wis. (AP)—Authorities pushed an intensive manhunt today for the slayer of a 5-year-old boy kidnaped while on the way to a store and found dead of stab wounds in a roadside ditch.

The body of Ben Wagner of Milwaukee, was found by a newspaper delivery man making his morning rounds Sunday. Grafton is 15 miles north of Milwaukee.

Ben still had seven cents in ice cream money clenched in his fist. He had been stabbed five times.

An autopsy performed by Dr. L. J. Van Hecke, Milwaukee County medical examiner, showed the boy had not been sexually molested."

The boy's father, Louis Wagner, 38, wept as he identified the body of his only son. Wagner works in a Milwaukee auto frame factory.

Christ Wilhelm, 6, a playmate of young Ben, told police they met in an alley near their home and that he saw a stranger lure Ben into a car and drive off. The Wilhelm boy said that the man asked them if they wanted a ride and he said no.

Milton Geiger of Milwaukee told police he was driving on Highway 141 Saturday night when he saw a boy frantically waving from the front seat of another automobile. Geiger said he chased the car but lost sight of it when it turned onto a side road.

Watch Those Words!

HONOLULU (AP)—Dr. Kenneth Warner advises girls to watch their language in coping with arden swains. Warner says the warning should not be, "Sir, you have gone too far." It should be: "Sir, you have come too close." The University of Maryland semantics expert gave this example to show how people fail to say what they mean.

HONOLULU (AP)—Dr. Kenneth Warner advises girls to watch their language in coping with arden swains. Warner says the warning should not be, "Sir, you have gone too far." It should be: "Sir, you have come too close." The University of Maryland semantics expert gave this example to show how people fail to say what they mean.

Gautrey - Kaman Wedding Is Announced; Couple Plan to Reside in Hurley

Miss Pamela Clare Gautrey wed James L. Kaman in a double ring ceremony before a Nuptial Mass on Saturday, April 4 in St. Joseph's Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alec M. Gautrey of Hurley and the late Alec M. Gautrey. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Kaman Jr., of Hurley.

Officiating clergyman and celebrant was the Rev. Francis X. Toner. Organist was Mrs. Frank Rafferty.

John Flanagan, the bridegroom's cousin, escorted the bride to the altar. She wore a princess style ballerina gown of peau de soie trimmed with Alencon lace and matching lace mitts. A diamond tiara held a chapel length veil. She carried a spray of lily of the valley on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Paul J. Kaman of Farmington, Mich., the bridegroom's sister-in-law, was the matron of honor. She was dressed in a princess style ballerina gown of peau de soie in pale aqua with matching Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and stephanotis.

Richard Struss of Port Ewen was best man.

Following the church ceremony, a reception was given at the Brookside Restaurant.

The bride was graduated from Cambridgeshire Technical College and School of Art at Cambridge, England. She is employed by Knaust Motors, Inc., in Saugerties. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and Florida Southern College. He is a free lance commercial artist.

When Mr. and Mrs. Kaman return from their trip to Washington, D. C., they will reside in Hurley. For her wedding trip, the bride wore a navy blue suit with pink accessories.

REPLACING A BORROWED BOOK

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine loaned me a book recently. One day my four-year-old child got hold of it and wrote all over the pages with crayon. I was horrified when I discovered it and immediately tried to buy a new copy, but was unable to get one at the one book store here in town. Will you please tell me what I can do about this? Would it be proper for me to send her a check for the cost of the book? Please advise me as I am rather upset over it.

Answer: If the book store cannot get a copy for you, the best thing to do is ask her if there is any other book she would like instead of the one you are unable to replace.

Showing One's Sympathy

Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's father has just died and I am wondering what I may do about sending flowers. I didn't know the father, but I've been in my employer's office for many years and would like to show some feeling.

Answer: There should be no impropriety in your sending flowers to the funeral. If this is beyond your means, then express your sympathy to your employer and ask if there is anything you can do. Since quite likely he will not be in the office for several days, you may have to write this expression of condolence in a note addressed to his house.

Cutting In at a Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me in what manner a girl is correctly cut-in on at a dance?

Answer: The one who is cutting in simply puts his hands on the shoulder of the man who is dancing and says, "May I cut in?" The man dancing with the girl releases her and the other man takes his place. The important rule is that the first man cannot "cut back" until another man has cut in on the second man or she has danced a long time with him and might be "stuck."

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-10, entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. ## Bandsmen Serenade Civil War Veteran

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A 65-piece American Legion band serenaded the Civil War's only surviving soldier Sunday.

And Walter Williams, 116, beat time on his bed with his left hand, clutched a cigar in his right, and said: "I wish I had some popcorn."

Ira Cox, business manager of the band, gave Williams a Confederate flag and said, "We'll come out and serenade him whenever he asks." The band played "Camptown Races," "The Vanished Army," and "Down South."

Williams repeated the words to some of the songs. And a television entertainer sang the final song just before Williams dropped off into his afternoon nap:

"Old Soldiers Never Die—They Just Fade Away."

The Tokyo-Yokohama earthquake of 1923 demonstrated to Japanese the superiority of steel and concrete buildings.

Local League of Women Voters to Send Observer to State Convention in May

The League of Women Voters of New York will meet in convention May 12-14 at the Statler Hotel, New York.

As a provisional League, the Kingston LWV may send one observer to the convention. As provided by local bylaws, the board of directors will choose the observer at its April 13 meeting.

Members of the local provisional LWV may attend the convention as visitors, either for the three days or for single sessions. Thise interested in attending any convention events who would like further information may contact Mrs. Robert S. Yalum, president, by April 13.

Registration is slated for 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, May 12; the first session, to be chaired by Mrs. Harry R. Lea, state president, will open at 1 p. m. On the agenda will be adoption of rules, order of business, appointment of committees, reports from the bylaws, nominations and program committees. Delegates may also present at this time program items that have not been recommended by the committee; a vote on these non-recommended items will be taken. Round-table discussions have been scheduled from 5:30 to 6:45 p. m.

Polls for voting will be open throughout the day Wednesday, May 13. The session will include presentation of the state budget, organizational and resource committee chairmen's reports, program discussion and budget adoption. A banquet is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Thursday morning's meeting will involve decisions on the state program and election announcements. The convention will adjourn at 12:30 p. m.

Included in the slate to be presented are Mrs. Hans-Arnold Fraenkel of Greenburgh, nominated for the presidency, and Mrs. John Fitchen of Hamilton, first vice-presidential nominee. Mrs. Fraenkel, now state treasurer, came to Kingston recently to brief the local budget committee, while Mrs. Fitchen, who has served as state organizations chairman, presided over the first exploratory meeting aimed at establishing a Kingston LWV.

The state program is selected on the basis of recommendations made by all local Leagues in the state. In March the state board sent out its proposed program; up to April 21, local Leagues may make further modifications to aid in the formulation of the program to be presented to the convention. Items not recommended by the state board may be proposed for delegates' consideration at the convention.

The proposed "Current Agenda," which the league adopts for concentrated study, would retain the present judicial item, "support of measures to obtain a unified, simplified court structure with centralized administration and fiscal control." The second proposed item would concern "evaluation of methods of financing the public education system of New York State."

"Continuing Responsibilities," issues to which the league has in the past devoted study and action, include support of measures to insure a sound system of Permanent Personal Registration throughout the state; support of measures to improve the primary system with respect to the primary date and designating and nominating petitions; and support of measures to facilitate absentee voting and registration.

Gautrey - Kaman Wedding Is Announced; Couple Plan to Reside in Hurley

Miss Pamela Clare Gautrey wed James L. Kaman in a double ring ceremony before a Nuptial Mass on Saturday, April 4 in St. Joseph's Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alec M. Gautrey of Hurley and the late Alec M. Gautrey. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Kaman Jr., of Hurley.

Officiating clergyman and celebrant was the Rev. Francis X. Toner. Organist was Mrs. Frank Rafferty.

John Flanagan, the bridegroom's cousin, escorted the bride to the altar. She wore a princess style ballerina gown of peau de soie trimmed with Alencon lace and matching lace mitts. A diamond tiara held a chapel length veil. She carried a spray of lily of the valley on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Paul J. Kaman of Farmington, Mich., the bridegroom's sister-in-law, was the matron of honor. She was dressed in a princess style ballerina gown of peau de soie in pale aqua with matching Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and stephanotis.

Richard Struss of Port Ewen was best man.

Following the church ceremony, a reception was given at the Brookside Restaurant.

The bride was graduated from Cambridgeshire Technical College and School of Art at Cambridge, England. She is employed by Knaust Motors, Inc., in Saugerties. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and Florida Southern College. He is a free lance commercial artist.

Local League of Women Voters to Send Observer to State Convention in May

The League of Women Voters of New York will meet in convention May 12-14 at the Statler Hotel, New York.

As a provisional League, the Kingston LWV may send one observer to the convention. As provided by local bylaws, the board of directors will choose the observer at its April 13 meeting.

Members of the local provisional LWV may attend the convention as visitors, either for the three days or for single sessions. Thise interested in attending any convention events who would like further information may contact Mrs. Robert S. Yalum, president, by April 13.

Registration is slated for 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, May 12; the first session, to be chaired by Mrs. Harry R. Lea, state president, will open at 1 p. m. On the agenda will be adoption of rules, order of business, appointment of committees, reports from the bylaws, nominations and program committees. Delegates may also present at this time program items that have not been recommended by the committee; a vote on these non-recommended items will be taken. Round-table discussions have been scheduled from 5:30 to 6:45 p. m.

Polls for voting will be open throughout the day Wednesday, May 13. The session will include presentation of the state budget, organizational and resource committee chairmen's reports, program discussion and budget adoption. A banquet is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Thursday morning's meeting will involve decisions on the state program and election announcements. The convention will adjourn at 12:30 p. m.

Included in the slate to be presented are Mrs. Hans-Arnold Fraenkel of Greenburgh, nominated for the presidency, and Mrs. John Fitchen of Hamilton, first vice-presidential nominee. Mrs. Fraenkel, now state treasurer, came to Kingston recently to brief the local budget committee, while Mrs. Fitchen, who has served as state organizations chairman, presided over the first exploratory meeting aimed at establishing a Kingston LWV.

The state program is selected on the basis of recommendations made by all local Leagues in the state. In March the state board sent out its proposed program; up to April 21 local Leagues may make further modifications to aid in the formulation of the program to be presented to the convention. Items not recommended by the state board may be proposed for delegates' consideration at the convention.

The proposed "Current Agenda," which the league adopts for concentrated study, would retain the present judicial item, "support of measures to obtain a unified, simplified court structure with centralized administration and fiscal control." The second proposed item would concern "evaluation of methods of financing the public education system of New York State."

"Continuing Responsibilities," issues to which the league has in the past devoted study and action, include support of measures to insure a sound system of Permanent Personal Registration throughout the state; support of measures to improve the primary system with respect to the primary date and designating and nominating petitions; and support of measures to facilitate absentee voting and registration.

REPLACING A BORROWED BOOK

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine loaned me a book recently. One day my four-year-old child got hold of it and wrote all over the pages with crayon. I was horrified when I discovered it and immediately tried to buy a new copy, but was unable to get one at the one book store here in town. Will you please tell me what I can do about this? Would it be proper for me to send her a check for the cost of the book? Please advise me as I am rather upset over it.

Answer: If the book store cannot get a copy for you, the best thing to do is ask her if there is any other book she would like instead of the one you are unable to replace.

Showing One's Sympathy

Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's father has just died and I am wondering what I may do about sending flowers. I didn't know the father, but I've been in my employer's office for many years and would like to show some feeling.

Answer: There should be no impropriety in your sending flowers to the funeral. If this is beyond your means, then express your sympathy to your employer and ask if there is anything you can do. Since quite likely he will not be in the office for several days, you may have to write this expression of condolence in a note addressed to his house.

Cutting In at a Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me in what manner a girl is correctly cut-in on at a dance?

Answer: The one who is cutting in simply puts his hands on the shoulder of the man who is dancing and says, "May I cut in?" The man dancing with the girl releases her and the other man takes his place. The important rule is that the first man cannot "cut back" until another man has cut in on the second man or she has danced a long time with him and might be "stuck."

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-10, entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. ## Bandsmen Serenade Civil War Veteran

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A 65-piece American Legion band serenaded the Civil War's only surviving soldier Sunday.

And Walter Williams, 116, beat time on his bed with his left hand, clutched a cigar in his right, and said: "I wish I had some popcorn."

Ira Cox, business manager of the band, gave Williams a Confederate flag and said, "We'll come out and serenade him whenever he asks." The band played "Camptown Races," "The Vanished Army," and "Down South."

Williams repeated the words to some of the songs. And a television entertainer sang the final song just before Williams dropped off into his afternoon nap:

"Old Soldiers Never Die—They Just Fade Away."

Troop One

Scouts of Troop One took their first hike of the year Saturday. Sixteen scouts and leaders made the trip, spending the night in a cabin at Camp Tri-Mount. They report that there is still a foot of ice in Lake Kay-Bee, and signs indicate that the snow had been over 10 feet deep in the camp during the winter. The camp road was impassable for cars, so the boys had an extra mile hike added to their schedule.

The purpose of the hike was to acquaint new scouts of the troop with life in the out of doors. Seven boys also passed their second-class hiking requirements.

Those making the trip were Joseph and Peter Bonavita, Wally Brandt, James and Robert DuBois, William Hayes, William Hornbeck, Charles Lowe, Donald and James Scism, George and Louis Senor, Daniel Sheldon and Ronald Williams. Leaders of the trip were Scoutmaster Loren E. Sheldon and Assistant Scoutmaster George DuBois. Transportation was furnished by the Scoutmaster, the Rev. Henry Hansen, institutional representative, and Walter Brandt Sr.

Troop One is sponsored by the Ponckhockie Congregational Church, and meets there every Thursday, 7 p. m. Boys in the Ponckhockie area who are interested in scouting, may join the Troop at any meeting night.

Souvenir Map To Be Offered At Exposition

Plans are being formulated for the sale of a most attractive souvenir map, commemorating the Hudson-Champlain Celebration, at the Lions Club Exposition April 7 through April 11. The sale of this commemorative map will be handled by the Civic Improvement Committee of the Ulster Garden Club and the profits derived therefrom will be used exclusively for the improvement, betterment and beautification of Kingston. Some of the most worthy projects of the club include the care and upkeep of the Senate House grounds and, ppresently, it is involved in an extensive renovation of Academy Green Park, which shouuld be a beauty to behold this summer with its new plantings and reconstruction work on the grounds.

The map itself is an exquisitely proportioned chart, drawn and colored by the noted artist, Coulton Waugh. It depicts the many historic spots in the Hudson Valley on which attention is being focused by this celebration. Perhaps its most apparent feature is a replica of the "Half Moon," under full sail, as well as the noted "Mary Powell," one of the best-loved Hudson River liners. The border of the map depicts many famous men of the Hudson Valley as well as some of the area's noted residences and it gives a brief history of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries. The Ulster Garden Club feels that possession of one of these maps could be a truly long-lasting and most fitting commemorative souvenir of this notable celebration.

These delightful souvenir maps must really be seen to be appreciated and your attention is invited to the exhibit of these maps at the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth, through whose generosity they will be shown during the exposition.

Prices for the maps range from $1.50 to $5.00 and they may be obtained from Mrs. Jacob H. Tremper of 20 Burgevin Street, Kingston, whose telephone number is FE 1-0400.

Next time you prepare a sage-seasoned poultry dressing, add an extra amount of onion cooked first in a little butter or margarine. Sage takes to onion!

Girl, 19, Refugee From Estonia Is Heart Victim

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—A heart attack has caused the death of a 19-year-old girl who, with her family, sailed the Atlantic in an open boat to escape Russian rule.

Helgi Ilves of West Sand Lake, Rensselaer County, collapsed in the YWCA Saturday night while chatting with friends of Estonian extraction.

Dr. John C. Sherman, Schenectady County coroner, said Helgi had suffered from an enlarged heart but was not aware of it.

The girl, her parents and a sister fled from their native Estonia about nine years ago. They sailed to England in a 75-foot boat, then crossed the Atlantic and reached Miami, Fla., in October 1951. The family later made its way up the coast to New York City.

The father, William, is employed as a groundskeeper at a golf course.

Helgi was to graduate from high school in June. She had been accepted as an art student at the University of Buffalo.

Besides his interest in the printing trade he has found time to devote to various church, civic and fraternal activities. He is honorary president and a life member of Union Hose Company with which he has been associated for more than 60 years.

Helgi Ilves of West Sand Lake, Rensselaer County, collapsed in the YWCA Saturday night while chatting with friends of Estonian extraction.

Dr. John C. Sherman, Schenectady County coroner, said Helgi had suffered from an enlarged heart but was not aware of it.

The girl, her parents and a sister fled from their native Estonia about nine years ago. They sailed to England in a 75-foot boat, then crossed the Atlantic and reached Miami, Fla., in October 1951. The family later made its way up the coast to New York City.

The father, William, is employed as a groundskeeper at a golf course.

Helgi was to graduate from high school in June. She had been accepted as an art student at the University of Buffalo.

New Paltz, Chevvies Advance to Finals of Cage Tournament

Bombardiers, Stamford Club Drop Decisions

The strange hex which hovers over the Pine Plains Bombardiers when they enter the Kingston tournament is still with them. Last night at the Municipal auditorium, the New Paltz Jays halted a belated Bombardier rally and nipped George Stuetzle's club, 60-59, to advance to the finals of the tourney. Byrne Chevvies, featuring some second half scoring by Cal Ramsey and Al Seiden, a pair of All-American stars, dumped the Stamford Knights, 88-64, to set the stage for a tremendous finale come Tuesday night.

The Bombardiers will meet Stamford for third place at 7:30 p. m. Then the Chevvies and New Paltz will get together at 9 o'clock for the championship. Byrne is defending champion and is favored to capture the title again.

Pine Plains has never won this tournament. Last night, the club almost lost the game even before it started. Only three regular players, Ronnie Scheffel, Frank Koenig and Dick Tyler, were on hand. Coach Clyde Chase had to suit up and Joe Murphy, a Pine Plains rooter, was pressed into service. Stuetzle then got on the phone and persuaded Bob Martin to come from Poughkeepsie. He made it for the second half.

Other players on the roster couldn't be on hand. Gary Holway is playing in a tournament upstate. Mickey Burkowski is back at school and Deke Johnson and Garry Mendez just weren't available.

The Jays, featuring former New Paltz State Teachers' college stars, fell behind early and then used the hot hands of Harvey Henry to bring them even at halftime. He was a remarkable seven for seven in the final moments of the second period.

Martin Appears

Martin joined forces with the Bombardiers in the third period and his steady floor play plus some good shooting by Koenig shoved Stuetzle's club to a 47-36 lead starting the final period.

Within a minute and a half the margin was narrowed to one point as John Godwin made a set and tap and Bob Maher hit with a long two hander and a layup. Moments later Artie Gribbins came underneath and made a hook to shove New Paltz ahead, 47-46.

Koenig followed with a jumper for the Bombardiers to put them into the lead for the last time, 48-47. Then it was Milo Dalbey with a one-hander, Henry with a jumper and Gribbins with another jump shot to make the scoreboard read, 55-48, with 3:30 left.

Artie Hits

After Scheffel hit for Pine Plains, Gribbins tacked on a jump and two free throws and then Maher was successful on a three-point play to zoom the score to 60-50, with 2:30 to play. Here the Bombardiers struck back and just missing winning the game at the wire.

A jump shot by Martin was followed by Scheffel's one hander. Ronnie then hit with a layup on a feed from Martin and Koenig stole a bad pass and hit with a basket and was fouled. He converted the charity toss to make the score, 60-59, with 44 seconds to play.

Frank Coulard missed a foul shot for the Jays with 35 seconds to play and Pine Plains came down with the rebound. Dick Tyler missed a jump shot with 27 seconds to play. With New Paltz in possession, Gribbins was fouled with 15 seconds left. He missed and Pine Plains had one more chance. A desperation shot by Martin from about 45 feet out went in and out of the basket just seconds before the buzzer.

Big Difference

The first contest was close for a half. However, Ramsey and Seiden showed up in time to start the third quarter and the collegians proved to be the difference. Ramsey, the NYU star, grabbed everything off the boards and Seiden, St. John's flash, handled the backcourt roles. The Chevvies pulled away in the third period and then coasted.

Tom Riley, former Yonkers High school star, rimed 25 points in a superlative performance for the winners. Seiden contributed 15 and Ramsey and Junior Kolokowski had 13 each. Jack Smyth hit for 21 markers for the losers.

Celts Top Minny Five In Playoff

BOSTON (AP) —Point-a-minute Frank Ramsey is the inspired Boston substitute who once almost was traded to Minneapolis. The Lakers would willingly buy Ramsey just to get him out of their hair today.

As the Celtics "sixth man," Ramsey is the main reason Boston leads Minneapolis 2-0 in the National Basketball Assn.'s championship playoffs.

Action resumes Tuesday night at St. Paul and at Minneapolis Thursday.

The Celtics took charge early in Sunday's 128-108 decision over the Lakers but, as usual, it took Ramsey to light the fuse.

The former University of Kentucky star made his first appearance at 8:51 of the first period with Boston leading 19-16. From then until the period ended, the Celts outscored the visitors 13-1.

By halftime, Boston led 72-48 on a 40 points second quarter. Ramsey got 10 of them.

Playing 50 minutes in 2 playoff tests against the Lakers, Ramsey has accounted for 49 points — 20 of them Sunday. Including the seven game Syracuse series. Ramsey has a 215 total for a 23.9 average.

"He's fantastic," remarked Celtics' playmaker - magician Bob Cousy. "I guess he must need the money real bad. I never saw a man have a streak of top play like that in playoffs."

Back in 1955 when Boston was looking everywhere for a rebounder, the team made a bid to get Vern Mikkelsen from the Lakers in exchange for Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos both of whom were in the service. At the last minute, Minneapolis decided against waiting for the discharge of the Kentucky aces and backed down.

Beaning Scared Bobby

CINCINNATI, (NEA)—Frank Robinson finally got around to admitting that what really troubled him the first half of last season was being struck on the head by a pitched ball shortly before opening day. ## Sets Two New League Marks In HVBL Match

Putting on one of the greatest strike shows in recent years, Jones Dairy of Kingston blasted 3310 pins Saturday night at Ferraro's Bowlerama to bury Liberty Triangle in a Hudson Valley League match. The locals had games of 1072-1095-1143 for their gaudy total. The 1143 is a high single for the year and the 3310 is the best triple in the circuit.

Other Kingston teams also did well in weekend action. Forst Formost won five of six games, sweeping Orange Recreation in three and winning a pair from the Kingston Five.

The Kingston Five had three matches. After losing twice to Forst, the locals took two from Ellenville and also won a pair from Orange Recreation.

All Over 600

All five keglers in the Jones lineup soared over the 600 mark with Jack Ferraro showing the way. He fired lines of 229-216-245-690. John Schatzel had 210-214-252-676, Chris Gallo 184-224-260-688, Jerry Oster 248-216-184-648 and John Ferraro 201-225-202-628. An oddity is that with the high score, no bowler on the team hit 700.

Larry Petersen led Forst against Orange Recs with 221-233-213-667. Buster Ferraro had 614 on lines of 188-200-226 and Tom Carlino mauled 237-193-179-609. The winners were consistently good, hitting 1003-1031-1010-3044.

Hal Broskie was top man against the Kingston Five with 230-169-207-606. George Shufeldt made 202-208-255-665 for the Kingston Five.

Ralph Garofola shot 199-200-250-649 and George Shufeldt 212-227-193-632 as the Kingston Five dumped Channel Master in a pair. Frank Banderio topped the losers with 640 on lines of 193-211-236. The locals won a low scoring match from the Orange Recs. Joe Ausanio was high with 224-225-597.

BOSTON (AP) —Boston and Toronto girded their battered forces today for 60 minutes of all-out combat which will decide Montreal's opponent for the Stanley Cup hockey championship series.

With their best-of-seven series competition tied 3-3, the Bruins and Maple Leafs must settle the question on Boston Garden ice Tuesday night.

Montreal, seeking an unprecedented fourth straight Stanley Cup triumph, eliminated Chicago in six contests. The Canadiens defeated Chicago 5-4 Saturday.

"I don't think the Toronto club will catch us as they did last time here," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt referring to the Leafs' convincing 4-1 triumph here Thursday.

That one gave Toronto a 3-2 edge and forced the Bruins to make a last-ditch stand for a 5-4 triumph in the Canadian city Saturday.

"The Ukes came out of their slump and that could be a very good sign," Schmidt added. The Ukes are the Bruins' top scoring forward line of center Bronco Horvath and wingers Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk.

Bucyk scored twice and Horvath added the deciding tally Saturday.

John Thomas Leaves Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — High jump phenom John Thomas today was scheduled to transfer from Massachusetts Memorial Hospital to the Boston University Infirmary.

Thomas was given an okay to leave the hospital Sunday after a final examination by Dr. Chester Howe. The 18-year-old freshman has been hospitalized 12 days since he caught his left foot in an elevator door.

Thomas bettered the world record for the high jump when he leaped 7 feet 1¼ inches in February.

Micozzi Gets 297 Game

Makes Only Seven Pins On Last Ball

Joe Micozzi came within one ball of realizing a bowler's dream — a 300 game — in a Rip Van Winkle match Saturday night at Ferraro's. Joe, bowling with Arthur Murray Studio, threw 11 straight balls into the 1-3 pocket and came away with as many strikes.

However, his 12th ball was off the mark and he crossed over. The ball didn't hit the head pin and the 1-3-6 were left standing to give the Kingstonite a 297 effort for the game. It represents a high in the newly formed circuit.

Micozzi was high for the evening with 154-167 sandwiched around his explosive game for 618. Dick Waltman made 198-200-213-611 as the dancers won three from the Rhinebeck Recs. Arthur Murray returned to the wars Sunday and dropped a pair to Jones Dairy. Waltman fired 584 and Micozzi had 577. Jim Nottingham made 238-591 for the winners.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

A dog should never be allowed to ride with its head hanging out of a car window.

Dogs hav an inclination to leap ino the wind, which instinctive or otherwise, causes them occasionally to jump out of a moving vehicle. Even if they are held securely, their eyes were not designed for the wind velocity produced by the forward movement of the modern motor car.

If a dog is fastened securely inside a car, so that the windows may be opened for ventilation, the lead should be so fastened that the dog cannot reach a window.

Owners lead a dog to a car, let the dog in, throw their end of the lead in after him and close the door. If you intend to inhibit a dog, fasten him properly, if not, unfasten the lead from his collar to eliminate any possibility that he might hang himself. This advice should not be limited to automobiles.

Those who will provide a special enclosure in the car for canines will be rewarded in many ways by the safety and convenience of this sort of travel arrangement. The dog can be protected from drafts, the passengers from the inconvenience of hair, car sickness, slobbering and tracked-in dirt.

The driver will not be liable to the accident risk which even the smallest dog in a car represents.

Bombardiers, Stamford Club Drop Decisions

The strange hex which hovers over the Pine Plains Bombardiers when they enter the Kingston tournament is still with them. Last night at the Municipal auditorium, the New Paltz Jays halted a belated Bombardier rally and nipped George Stuetzle's club, 60-59, to advance to the finals of the tourney. Byrne Chevvies, featuring some second half scoring by Cal Ramsey and Al Seiden, a pair of All-American stars, dumped the Stamford Knights, 88-64, to set the stage for a tremendous finale come Tuesday night.

The Bombardiers will meet Stamford for third place at 7:30 p. m. Then the Chevvies and New Paltz will get together at 9 o'clock for the championship. Byrne is defending champion and is favored to capture the title again.

Pine Plains has never won this tournament. Last night, the club almost lost the game even before it started. Only three regular players, Ronnie Scheffel, Frank Koenig and Dick Tyler, were on hand. Coach Clyde Chase had to suit up and Joe Murphy, a Pine Plains rooter, was pressed into service. Stuetzle then got on the phone and persuaded Bob Martin to come from Poughkeepsie. He made it for the second half.

Other players on the roster couldn't be on hand. Gary Holway is playing in a tournament upstate. Mickey Burkowski is back at school and Deke Johnson and Garry Mendez just weren't available.

The Jays, featuring former New Paltz State Teachers' college stars, fell behind early and then used the hot hands of Harvey Henry to bring them even at halftime. He was a remarkable seven for seven in the final moments of the second period.

Martin Appears

Martin joined forces with the Bombardiers in the third period and his steady floor play plus some good shooting by Koenig shoved Stuetzle's club to a 47-36 lead starting the final period.

Within a minute and a half the margin was narrowed to one point as John Godwin made a set and tap and Bob Maher hit with a long two hander and a layup. Moments later Artie Gribbins came underneath and made a hook to shove New Paltz ahead, 47-46.

Koenig followed with a jumper for the Bombardiers to put them into the lead for the last time, 48-47. Then it was Milo Dalbey with a one-hander, Henry with a jumper and Gribbins with another jump shot to make the scoreboard read, 55-48, with 3:30 left.

Artie Hits

After Scheffel hit for Pine Plains, Gribbins tacked on a jump and two free throws and then Maher was successful on a three-point play to zoom the score to 60-50, with 2:30 to play. Here the Bombardiers struck back and just missing winning the game at the wire.

A jump shot by Martin was followed by Scheffel's one hander. Ronnie then hit with a layup on a feed from Martin and Koenig stole a bad pass and hit with a basket and was fouled. He converted the charity toss to make the score, 60-59, with 44 seconds to play.

Frank Coulard missed a foul shot for the Jays with 35 seconds to play and Pine Plains came down with the rebound. Dick Tyler missed a jump shot with 27 seconds to play. With New Paltz in possession, Gribbins was fouled with 15 seconds left. He missed and Pine Plains had one more chance. A desperation shot by Martin from about 45 feet out went in and out of the basket just seconds before the buzzer.

Big Difference

The first contest was close for a half. However, Ramsey and Seiden showed up in time to start the third quarter and the collegians proved to be the difference. Ramsey, the NYU star, grabbed everything off the boards and Seiden, St. John's flash, handled the backcourt roles. The Chevvies pulled away in the third period and then coasted.

Tom Riley, former Yonkers High school star, rimed 25 points in a superlative performance for the winners. Seiden contributed 15 and Ramsey and Junior Kolokowski had 13 each. Jack Smyth hit for 21 markers for the losers.

Celts Top Minny Five In Playoff

BOSTON (AP) —Point-a-minute Frank Ramsey is the inspired Boston substitute who once almost was traded to Minneapolis. The Lakers would willingly buy Ramsey just to get him out of their hair today.

As the Celtics "sixth man," Ramsey is the main reason Boston leads Minneapolis 2-0 in the National Basketball Assn.'s championship playoffs.

Action resumes Tuesday night at St. Paul and at Minneapolis Thursday.

The Celtics took charge early in Sunday's 128-108 decision over the Lakers but, as usual, it took Ramsey to light the fuse.

The former University of Kentucky star made his first appearance at 8:51 of the first period with Boston leading 19-16. From then until the period ended, the Celts outscored the visitors 13-1.

By halftime, Boston led 72-48 on a 40 points second quarter. Ramsey got 10 of them.

Playing 50 minutes in 2 playoff tests against the Lakers, Ramsey has accounted for 49 points — 20 of them Sunday. Including the seven game Syracuse series. Ramsey has a 215 total for a 23.9 average.

"He's fantastic," remarked Celtics' playmaker - magician Bob Cousy. "I guess he must need the money real bad. I never saw a man have a streak of top play like that in playoffs."

Back in 1955 when Boston was looking everywhere for a rebounder, the team made a bid to get Vern Mikkelsen from the Lakers in exchange for Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos both of whom were in the service. At the last minute, Minneapolis decided against waiting for the discharge of the Kentucky aces and backed down.

Beaning Scared Bobby

CINCINNATI, (NEA)—Frank Robinson finally got around to admitting that what really troubled him the first half of last season was being struck on the head by a pitched ball shortly before opening day. The Reds' young outfielder turned first baseman says the beaning left him gun shy until after the All-Star Game break.

Sets Two New League Marks In HVBL Match

Putting on one of the greatest strike shows in recent years, Jones Dairy of Kingston blasted 3310 pins Saturday night at Ferraro's Bowlerama to bury Liberty Triangle in a Hudson Valley League match. The locals had games of 1072-1095-1143 for their gaudy total. The 1143 is a high single for the year and the 3310 is the best triple in the circuit.

Other Kingston teams also did well in weekend action. Forst Formost won five of six games, sweeping Orange Recreation in three and winning a pair from the Kingston Five.

The Kingston Five had three matches. After losing twice to Forst, the locals took two from Ellenville and also won a pair from Orange Recreation.

All Over 600

All five keglers in the Jones lineup soared over the 600 mark with Jack Ferraro showing the way. He fired lines of 229-216-245-690. John Schatzel had 210-214-252-676, Chris Gallo 184-224-260-688, Jerry Oster 248-216-184-648 and John Ferraro 201-225-262-628. An oddity is that with the high score, no bowler on the team hit 700.

Larry Petersen led Forst against Orange Recs with 221-233-213-667. Buster Ferraro had 614 on lines of 188-200-226 and Tom Carlino mauled 237-193-179-609. The winners were consistently good, hitting 1003-1031-1010-3044.

Hal Broskie was top man against the Kingston Five with 230-169-207-606. George Shufeldt made 202-208-255-665 for the Kingston Five.

Moore Is Hoping To Be a Promoter

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore says he wants to become a boxing promoter.

He plans to ask the California Boxing Commission for a license next Saturday.

"There may be promoters with more financial backing than I have, but few with the reputation to match mine in boxing," Moore said.

Boston, Toronto Ready for Final Hockey Contest

BOSTON (AP) —Boston and Toronto girded their battered forces today for 60 minutes of all-out combat which will decide Montreal's opponent for the Stanley Cup hockey championship series.

With their best-of-seven series competition tied 3-3, the Bruins and Maple Leafs must settle the question on Boston Garden ice Tuesday night.

Montreal, seeking an unprecedented fourth straight Stanley Cup triumph, eliminated Chicago in six contests. The Canadiens defeated Chicago 5-4 Saturday.

"I don't think the Toronto club will catch us as they did last time here," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt referring to the Leafs' convincing 4-1 triumph here Thursday.

That one gave Toronto a 3-2 edge and forced the Bruins to make a last-ditch stand for a 5-4 triumph in the Canadian city Saturday.

"The Ukes came out of their slump and that could be a very good sign," Schmidt added. The Ukes are the Bruins' top scoring forward line of center Bronco Horvath and wingers Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk.

Bucyk scored twice and Horvath added the deciding tally Saturday.

John Thomas Leaves Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — High jump phenom John Thomas today was scheduled to transfer from Massachusetts Memorial Hospital to the Boston University Infirmary.

Thomas was given an okay to leave the hospital Sunday after a final examination by Dr. Chester Howe. The 18-year-old freshman has been hospitalized 12 days since he caught his left foot in an elevator door.

Thomas bettered the world record for the high jump when he leaped 7 feet 1¼ inches in February.

Micozzi Gets 297 Game

Makes Only Seven Pins On Last Ball

Joe Micozzi came within one ball of realizing a bowler's dream — a 300 game — in a Rip Van Winkle match Saturday night at Ferraro's. Joe, bowling with Arthur Murray Studio, threw 11 straight balls into the 1-3 pocket and came away with as many strikes.

However, his 12th ball was off the mark and he crossed over. The ball didn't hit the head pin and the 1-3-6 were left standing to give the Kingstonite a 297 effort for the game. It represents a high in the newly formed circuit.

Micozzi was high for the evening with 154-167 sandwiched around his explosive game for 618. Dick Waltman made 198-200-213-611 as the dancers won three from the Rhinebeck Recs. Arthur Murray returned to the wars Sunday and dropped a pair to Jones Dairy. Waltman fired 584 and Micozzi had 577. Jim Nottingham made 238-591 for the winners.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

A dog should never be allowed to ride with its head hanging out of a car window.

Dogs hav an inclination to leap ino the wind, which instinctive or otherwise, causes them occasionally to jump out of a moving vehicle. Even if they are held securely, their eyes were not designed for the wind velocity produced by the forward movement of the modern motor car.

If a dog is fastened securely inside a car, so that the windows may be opened for ventilation, the lead should be so fastened that the dog cannot reach a window.

Owners lead a dog to a car, let the dog in, throw their end of the lead in after him and close the door. If you intend to inhibit a dog, fasten him properly, if not, unfasten the lead from his collar to eliminate any possibility that he might hang himself. This advice should not be limited to automobiles.

Those who will provide a special enclosure in the car for canines will be rewarded in many ways by the safety and convenience of this sort of travel arrangement. The dog can be protected from drafts, the passengers from the inconvenience of hair, car sickness, slobbering and tracked-in dirt.

The driver will not be liable to the accident risk which even the smallest dog in a car represents.

Woman's Bowling Association Loses Bid for State Tourney

Finger Lakes Gets '60 Event; Niagara in 1961

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association has lost its bid for the 1960 New York State championship tournament.

Delegates to the annual convention of the New York State Women's Bowling Association at Schnectady have awarded the 1960 tournament to the Finger Lakes Association and the 1961 competition to Niagara Falls.

Kingston ran a poor second in the balloting by convention delegates for both years. The vote for the 1960 tournament was: Finger Lakes Association 383, Kingston 61, Syracuse 31.

Niagara Falls, which did not bid for the 1960 tournament, received 365 votes; Kingston 71 and Syracuse 35.

State officials said the association's policy of moving the tournament around the state by regions mitigated against Kingston's chances.

There were no formal bids placed for the 1962 tournament, but Westchester County put in a bid for the 1963 competition.

Official Reaction

Commenting on the setback, Mrs. Nell Glennon, president of the KWBA, said:

"We went into the bidding for 1960 with two strikes against us because Schenectady had the tournament two years in a row—1958-59. Checking the tournment sites of the past 10 years, we find that the state association has maintained a consistent policy of moving the tournament around, with the exception of this year when Schenectady was drafted for 1959."

Mrs. Glennon said that, although Kingston was defeated in its bid for the 1960 tournament, "we will try at a later date." But she declined to name a tentative year at this time.

The KWBA president said the Association was gratified by the enthusiasm of the Kingston delegation which included Mayor Edwin F. Radell and representatives of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Radell made a strong plea for the tournament, she said.

"Our delegations worked hard and attended every function Friday night. We wish to thank everyone concerned for their help and interest in a state tournament for Kingston," said Mrs. Glennon.

KBA Sets May 2 Date for Banquet

Kingston Bowling Association has set Saturday, May 2, as the date for its 22nd annual banquet. It will be held at Schoentag's Hotel on Route 9W, Saugerties.

There will be a guest speaker and dancing. Trophies for the recent city championships will be awarded.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the KBA's executive committee. Details of the banquet will be announced later.

Donelli Emphasizes Discipline At St. Ignatius Vets Breakfast

Columbia university athletic director and football coach Aldo "Buff" Donelli told members of St. Ignatius Loyola Post No. 1769, Catholic War Veterans Sunday at the Kingston Hotel, that the discipline needed for any athletic endeavor followed a close parallel with the spiritual development of the individual.

Donelli was guest speaker at the third annual Communion Breakfast of the post. He stressed the value of team work, loyalty and the development of will power in the individual player as the pre-requisites of superiority needed for athletic prowess or for the game of life.

"The principal goal of a college athletic life is not the development of a superior athlete but rather the development of the individual as a man," Coach Donelli remarked. "Anyone who stays close to a boy in sport can tell what kind of a man he will be in life," he added.

Honored Guests

Scheffing Picks Anderson As Surprise Starter for Opener

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boboy Anderson, a towering 23-year-old right-hander who was something less than sensational last year, has developed into the key man in the Chicago Cubs' pitching staff — so much so that Manager Bob Scheffing today decided to give him the opening day starting assignment.

At such an age, the supposition would be that Anderson is pretty much of a novice in the pitching trade.

Guess again.

He has toiled for no fewer than five minor league clubs and now is going into his fourth hitch with the Cubs.

Anderson, all 6-4 of him, spent most of last season with Fort Worth in the Texas League where he compiled a 17-9 record. He hung on with the Cubs for a while and posted a 3-3 mark and a 3.95 ERA.

But Sunday, he capped a fine exhibition campaign, holding the Boston Red Sox to three singles during a seven-inning stint in Fort Worth. The Cubs won the ball game, 5-0, and Anderson got Friday's starting assignment against Los Angeles.

Gave Only 12 Runs

During the spring, Anderson pitched 38 innings and allowed 12 earned runs.

Three top veterans oiled their arms for their opening day appearances.

Warren Spahn shut out the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, on six hits for the Milwaukee Braves in Bradentown; Billy Pierce whitewashed the Washington Senators, 3-0, for the Chicago White Sox in Charleston, S.C., and Bob Friend, ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates' staff, cut down the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, in Fort Myers, Fla.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants edged the Cleveland Indians, 7-6, in Denver; the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Kansas City A's, 3-1, in West Palm Beach; the Cincinnati Reds outlasted the New York Yankees in 10 innings, 7-6, in Tampa, and the Baltimore Orioles turned back the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, in Miami.

Spahn Sizzling

If his Braves' teammates are overconfident, Spahn certainly is not. It marked the veteran left-hander's second shutout in three starts. The Tigers collected six hits and just two of them got as far as third base.

For Pierce, the triumph was his first nine-inning job of the spring. But in this case the silver lining had a dark cloud. The Sox collected just six singles. They've been having trouble all spring getting anything more than a single.

Friend outpitched another veteran, Robin Roberts. The Pirate righty gave up only six hits. Roberts was touched for 13, including homers by Bill Virdon and Dick Stuart.

Wall Fashions Rally To Win Masters Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An unorthodox baseball grip and a glass-shafted mallet putter are the trademarks of the new Masters golf champion — quiet, modest Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.

"When I first started playing I never knew there was another way to hold the club," Wall said today of his Mickey Mantle style of whacking a ball. The putter is a recent addition to his bag—replacing an old wooden-shafted blade he had carried for 10 years.

The putter—with three dots on its head to warn against three putts — played a major part in the most dramatic last day comeback in all the 25 years of Masters Tournament play.

Six Under Par

Cary Middlecoff finished in second place at 285. Defending champion Arnold Palmer took a triple bogey six at the 12th hole, the key hole of his success in 1958, and wound up with a 74 for third place at 286.

The old Canadian war horse, Stan Leonard, faltered with a 75 for 287 tie with Dick Mayer. Amateur champion Charlie Coe, three-putting five greens, fell back to 73 for 288.

First Major Title

Wall sank one putt of 20 feet, three of 15 feet and finished with a 12-foot birdie putt on the last hole.

"I never doubted I could make it," he said.

He had five birdies on the last six holes.

Wall's victory earned him $15,000 and pushed his year's money winnings past $30,000, giving him the thickest wallet on the tour.

Wall is 35 years old, son of a state representative from Honesdale, Pa., and a pro for 10 years. But until this year, he never made a serious threat for the golf pinnacles which have been occupied by such stars as Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, now on the decline. Hogan finished at 295 and got a consolation check of $300. Snead had 293 and banked $1,275.

Palmer and the balding, 44-year-old Leonard started the final day tied for the lead at 212, one shot better than Middlecoff and three better than amateur Coe.

The Masters drew more than 100,000 spectators during the four days—close to 50,000 on Saturday alone—and proved itself one of the big spectacles of sports.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

BRADENTON, Fla. — Here is one of the more interesting baseball stories of the spring:

A drafted player may start in center field for the Braves.

Fred Haney sprang the surprise while giving the writer a rundown on what everybody suspected would be a standpat Milwaukee lineup save for the void left at second base by the stricken Red Schoendienst.

* * *

When he came to center field, Manager Haney said, "My present plan is to alternate Billy Burton and Pisoni."

Pisoni? Well, when the season ended last year, Ben Geraghty of Wichita, the Brave's top minor league manager, informed the parent club that Jim Pisoni was one of the most talented and outstanding players in the American Association.

And who do you suppose owned Pisoni? No one but the Yankees, for he stuck out with their Denver branch.

When his name appeared on the Richmond draft list, to which it was transferred by the New York club, John Quinn, then general manager of the Braves, made Pisoni his only choice. Making the case all the more extraordinary is that the Braves had the 16th and last pick in the first round.

* * *

"The Braves weren't the only ones with an eye on Pisoni," recalled Johnny McHale, the new general manager, watching the graceful St. Louis Italiano round the bases at Bradenton's Braves Field. "Frank Lane was bitterly disappointed when John Quinn took Pisoni, for he intended to make him Cleveland's second choice."

"Can you imagine an outfit like Washington passing up a ballplayer like Pisoni for $25,000? asked Haney. "From what Ben Geraghty and others tell me and what I've seen here, we have a ready-made major league outfielder."

So if the Pirates elect to open with a left-handed pitcher in Pittsburgh, Apr. 10, Pisoni, right-handed all the way and hardly a big name at the moment, is likely to be in center field for the National League champions.

There is another unusual twist to the story.

"To make room for Pisoni," recollects McHale, formerly general manager of the Tigers, "Quinn had to put Earl Hersh, a left-hand power hitter, on the Wichita draft list and I claimed him for Detroit.

* * *

"What may have stopped some clubs on Pisoni was that he broke his wrist last season, but it must have healed properly because he resumed hitting when he came back after the injury."

Pisoni—28, 5-9, 170—has been in organized ball since 1949 with two years out for military service. He had a cup of coffee with the old St. Louis Browns in 1953 and the Athletics in '56 prior to getting in 44 games with the Kansas City club in '57. He was Baltimore property in '56 when he was traded with Ryne Duren to Kansas City. He had 16 home runs batting .313 in 83 games for Denver last season before and after breaking his wrist.

"Pisoni's problen was cutting down his strikeouts which he did not succeed in doing until the last couple of years," explained Johnny McHale. "Anyway, our reports say we have acquired more than just a good hitter. It says here that Pisoni has speed, a strong arm and fielding ability."

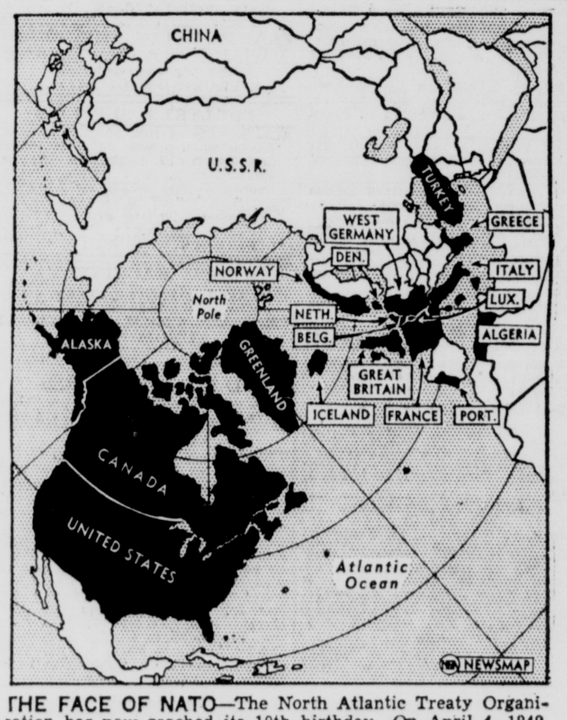

In good-looking Pisoni, the draftee, the Braves could have the sleeper of the year.

Finger Lakes Gets '60 Event; Niagara in 1961

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association has lost its bid for the 1960 New York State championship tournament.

Delegates to the annual convention of the New York State Women's Bowling Association at Schnectady have awarded the 1960 tournament to the Finger Lakes Association and the 1961 competition to Niagara Falls.

Kingston ran a poor second in the balloting by convention delegates for both years. The vote for the 1960 tournament was: Finger Lakes Association 383, Kingston 61, Syracuse 31.

Niagara Falls, which did not bid for the 1960 tournament, received 365 votes; Kingston 71 and Syracuse 35.

State officials said the association's policy of moving the tournament around the state by regions mitigated against Kingston's chances.

There were no formal bids placed for the 1962 tournament, but Westchester County put in a bid for the 1963 competition.

Official Reaction

Commenting on the setback, Mrs. Nell Glennon, president of the KWBA, said:

"We went into the bidding for 1960 with two strikes against us because Schenectady had the tournament two years in a row—1958-59. Checking the tournment sites of the past 10 years, we find that the state association has maintained a consistent policy of moving the tournament around, with the exception of this year when Schenectady was drafted for 1959."

Mrs. Glennon said that, although Kingston was defeated in its bid for the 1960 tournament, "we will try at a later date." But she declined to name a tentative year at this time.

The KWBA president said the Association was gratified by the enthusiasm of the Kingston delegation which included Mayor Edwin F. Radell and representatives of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Radell made a strong plea for the tournament, she said.

"Our delegations worked hard and attended every function Friday night. We wish to thank everyone concerned for their help and interest in a state tournament for Kingston," said Mrs. Glennon.

KBA Sets May 2 Date for Banquet

Kingston Bowling Association has set Saturday, May 2, as the date for its 22nd annual banquet. It will be held at Schoentag's Hotel on Route 9W, Saugerties.

There will be a guest speaker and dancing. Trophies for the recent city championships will be awarded.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the KBA's executive committee. Details of the banquet will be announced later.

Donelli Emphasizes Discipline At St. Ignatius Vets Breakfast

Columbia university athletic director and football coach Aldo "Buff" Donelli told members of St. Ignatius Loyola Post No. 1769, Catholic War Veterans Sunday at the Kingston Hotel, that the discipline needed for any athletic endeavor followed a close parallel with the spiritual development of the individual.

Donelli was guest speaker at the third annual Communion Breakfast of the post. He stressed the value of team work, loyalty and the development of will power in the individual player as the pre-requisites of superiority needed for athletic prowess or for the game of life.

"The principal goal of a college athletic life is not the development of a superior athlete but rather the development of the individual as a man," Coach Donelli remarked. "Anyone who stays close to a boy in sport can tell what kind of a man he will be in life," he added.

Honored Guests

Commander William F. Edelmuth, former Kingston mayor, was toastmaster. Among the honored guests were the Right Rev. ## Scheffing Picks Anderson As Surprise Starter for Opener

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boboy Anderson, a towering 23-year-old right-hander who was something less than sensational last year, has developed into the key man in the Chicago Cubs' pitching staff — so much so that Manager Bob Scheffing today decided to give him the opening day starting assignment.

At such an age, the supposition would be that Anderson is pretty much of a novice in the pitching trade.

Guess again.

He has toiled for no fewer than five minor league clubs and now is going into his fourth hitch with the Cubs.

Anderson, all 6-4 of him, spent most of last season with Fort Worth in the Texas League where he compiled a 17-9 record. He hung on with the Cubs for a while and posted a 3-3 mark and a 3.95 ERA.

But Sunday, he capped a fine exhibition campaign, holding the Boston Red Sox to three singles during a seven-inning stint in Fort Worth. The Cubs won the ball game, 5-0, and Anderson got Friday's starting assignment against Los Angeles.

Gave Only 12 Runs

During the spring, Anderson pitched 38 innings and allowed 12 earned runs.

Three top veterans oiled their arms for their opening day appearances.

Warren Spahn shut out the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, on six hits for the Milwaukee Braves in Bradentown; Billy Pierce whitewashed the Washington Senators, 3-0, for the Chicago White Sox in Charleston, S.C., and Bob Friend, ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates' staff, cut down the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, in Fort Myers, Fla.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants edged the Cleveland Indians, 7-6, in Denver; the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Kansas City A's, 3-1, in West Palm Beach; the Cincinnati Reds outlasted the New York Yankees in 10 innings, 7-6, in Tampa, and the Baltimore Orioles turned back the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, in Miami.

Spahn Sizzling

If his Braves' teammates are overconfident, Spahn certainly is not. It marked the veteran left-hander's second shutout in three starts. The Tigers collected six hits and just two of them got as far as third base.

For Pierce, the triumph was his first nine-inning job of the spring. But in this case the silver lining had a dark cloud. The Sox collected just six singles. They've been having trouble all spring getting anything more than a single.

Friend outpitched another veteran, Robin Roberts. The Pirate righty gave up only six hits. Roberts was touched for 13, including homers by Bill Virdon and Dick Stuart.

Wall Fashions Rally To Win Masters Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An unorthodox baseball grip and a glass-shafted mallet putter are the trademarks of the new Masters golf champion — quiet, modest Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.

"When I first started playing I never knew there was another way to hold the club," Wall said today of his Mickey Mantle style of whacking a ball. The putter is a recent addition to his bag—replacing an old wooden-shafted blade he had carried for 10 years.

The putter—with three dots on its head to warn against three putts — played a major part in the most dramatic last day comeback in all the 25 years of Masters Tournament play.

Six Under Par

Starting six strokes back and in a tie for 13th place, Wall fashioned a brilliant six-under-par 66 Sunday for a total of 284 which left the pace-setters scrambling for runnerup money.

Cary Middlecoff finished in second place at 285. Defending champion Arnold Palmer took a triple bogey six at the 12th hole, the key hole of his success in 1958, and wound up with a 74 for third place at 286.

The old Canadian war horse, Stan Leonard, faltered with a 75 for 287 tie with Dick Mayer, Amateur champion Charlie Coe, three-putting five greens, fell back to 73 for 288.

First Major Title

Wall sank one putt of 20 feet, three of 15 feet and finished with a 12-foot birdie putt on the last hole.

"I never doubted I could make it," he said.

He had five birdies on the last six holes.

Wall's victory earned him $15,000 and pushed his year's money winnings past $30,000, giving him the thickest wallet on the tour.

Wall is 35 years old, son of a state representative from Honesdale, Pa., and a pro for 10 years. But until this year, he never made a serious threat for the golf pinnacles which have been occupied by such stars as Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, now on the decline. Hogan finished at 295 and got a consolation check of $300. Snead had 293 and banked $1,275.

Palmer and the balding, 44-year-old Leonard started the final day tied for the lead at 212, one shot better than Middlecoff and three better than amateur Coe.

Palmer appeared a cinch, even after his nightmarish triple bogey six at the 12th, until he missed a three-foot putt on the 17th and a five-footer at the 18th.

The Masters drew more than 100,000 spectators during the four days—close to 50,000 on Saturday alone—and proved itself one of the big spectacles of sports.

CONGRESS GOES WESTERN — Because of population shifts and the granting of statehood to Alaska and Hawaii, 13 states face loss of seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. Presidential electoral votes (the total of House plus Senate seats) would also be lost. But six other states may gain. That's the estimate of the U.S. Census Bureau, predicting the results of 1960's nationwide census. Newsmap is based on that prediction and reflects a westward trend in population and political influence. (Black figure is present number; white figure is new number, if changed.) California stands to be the biggest gainer with seven, though New York will retain the largest number despite losing three. The redistribution of seats, however, will not take effect until the 1962 elections. First presidential election in which the change may be felt will be in 1964. Although 19 seats will be lost, only 13 will be gained by other states. That is in order to bring the number of House members down to 435, the total fixed by law. Pennsylvania will follow New York and California.

A SLAVE FOR MODERN MAN — This robot "handy man" is deft enough to beat the children at their own game. Developed by GE in Schenectady, N.Y., it will be placed behind seven-foot-thick concrete walls to handle radioactive material. Engineer Ralph Moser operates the controls at left. Though far stronger than a man, its mechanical hands can delicately pluck the petals from a daisy.

STRAIGHT AIM — West German soldiers ready an Honest John tactical rocket at Eschweiler army base. The first operational rocket group will be ready shortly.

THE SAME, BUT DIFFERENT—Both photos are of the same scene in the forthcoming movie, "Solomon and Sheba," but two of the duelists are different. Top, it's the late Tyrone Power crossing swords with George Sanders. Bottom, Yul Brynner goes through the action with Sanders in a remake. It was during the filming of this scene that Power suffered a heart attack and died last November.

HAS GUN — Pvt. Edith C. Baum, 25, joins the Washington, D.C., rookie police class. Her father, FBI agent William Carter Baum, was shot to death by Baby Face Nelson at Spider Lake, Wis. Edith was 11 months old at the time.

CONGRESS GOES WESTERN — Because of population shifts and the granting of statehood to Alaska and Hawaii, 13 states face loss of seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. Presidential electoral votes (the total of House plus Senate seats) would also be lost. But six other states may gain. That's the estimate of the U.S. Census Bureau, predicting the results of 1960's nationwide census. Newsmap is based on that prediction and reflects a westward trend in population and political influence. (Black figure is present number; white figure is new number, if changed.) California stands to be the biggest gainer with seven, though New York will retain the largest number despite losing three. The redistribution of seats, however, will not take effect until the 1962 elections. First presidential election in which the change may be felt will be in 1964. Although 19 seats will be lost, only 13 will be gained by other states. That is in order to bring the number of House members down to 435, the total fixed by law. Pennsylvania will follow New York and California.

Stenographer, Typist Exams Are Announced

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced that there is a continuing demand for stenographers and typists for employment in various Federal agencies in the Washington, D. C., area. Entrance salaries for stenographers range from $3,255 to $3,755 a year and for typists, $3,255 and $3,495 a year.

Written tests for the positions are being held at periodic intervals throughout the country and persons with stenographic or typing skills who are available for employment in Washington, D. C. are urged to apply. No experience is required. Applicants may apply and take the test when they are 17. However, those residing outside the Washington Metropolitan area will not be certified or appointed until they reach the age of 18.

Although applications will be accepted until further notice, those who wish to receive early consideration should file application immediately with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, examiner-in-charge, Central Post Office, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

21 Fugitives Still Sought After Break

JESSUPS, Md. (AP)—Hundreds of state police, National Guardsmen and volunteers pressed a search today for 21 fugitives still at large after a mass prison break Sunday night.

Thirteen were seized within a few hours of the escape shortly after 7 p.m. at the Patuxent Institution for Defective Delinquents. The inmates had overpowered two unarmed guards and seized their keys with which they opened six doors.

It was the largest break in the history of Maryland prisons, said State Supt. of Prisons James W. Curran.

The institution, a kind of model reform school, aims at rehabilitating young lawbreakers who have unusual mental and emotional problems. Those who escaped were convicted of robbery, larceny or burglary. Most were in their 20s.

The escape plot boiled into action suddenly Sunday night as 64 prisoners were lolling in two recreation rooms on the first floor. A group of inmates grabbed guard John Wilson, 44, threw him to the floor and seized his keys.

They unlocked two doors, overpowered John's twin brother Hugh, grabbed his keys and opened four more doors.

Cancer Society Told of Success Of Techniques

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—The surgeons' knife, a powerful poison and a flip of a coin.

These are the strange partners in testing a technique against cancer. First indications are promising.

Signs of success of the technique in treating breast cancer were reported by Dr. Warren Cole at this week's American Cancer Society seminar on cancer research and progress.

The test was begun more than three years ago. Dr. Cole and his colleagues wanted to try a powerful poison, nitrogen mustard, with surgery against breast cancer.

Nitrogen mustard, a cousin to the poison gas of World War I, is poisonous to both the cancer and the patient. Just enough is given to the patient to hit the tumor.

"To get the effect, you have to approach the toxic dose," said the University of Illinois researcher.

To control or compare the method properly, only half of the women participating in the test got nitrogen mustard treatment after the breast cancer operation. A flip of the coin decided which women got the poison.

Dr. Cole said cancer has recurred twice as often in women who did not get the nitrogen mustard treatment — and deaths are more than twice as high.

Other chemical compounds that are toxic to cancer cells also can be used.

Some are available that can find and destroy loose cancer cells dislodged during the cancer operation.

The surgeon controls 90 per cent of the solid tumors in men, said Dr. I. S. Ravdin of the University of Pennsylvania. But a surgeon also must concern himself with drugs to reach widely spread small cancers the knife can not find or remove.

He's Ready for a Change

WAUBEKA, Wis. (AP) — Franz Schubert's evening stint as a baby-sitter turned into a 36-hour job. Franz, a high school student, was called by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Klas to care for their two small children on a Saturday night. During the evening, one of Wisconsin's big snowstorms struck and the home was isolated for 36 hours. Commented Franz later: "I've had it for diaper changes."

Coconut oil is used both in the manufacture of soap and margarine.

Carbonless Paper Utilized in Forms

NEW YORK—The Supplies Division of International Business Machines Corporation has announced the availability of business forms utilizing a new "carbonless" paper on which copies of forms can be made without using carbon paper. Now being used in IBM punched card sets, the paper was developed by the Oxford Paper Company of New York, with IBM's assistance.

The new paper makes possible cleaner copies since there is no smudging or carbon transfer to the user's hands. In addition, paper handling is minimized by the elimination of "throw away" carbons.

Produces Multiple Copies

The punched card sets in which IBM employs the paper are of the type widely used throughout business and industry to produce multiple copies of retail sales slips, money orders, credit card billing forms; freight waybills and similar documents.

"Carbonless" paper is pressure-sensitive; no chemical action is involved. Images are produced on its surface by any writing instrument —ballpoint pen, pencil, typewriter or other business machine. With the new paper, as many as nine copies can be made at one time, depending on the writing instrument used and the weight of the original document. To aid in distinguishing copies, the paper is available in a variety of colors.

Weight of the paper stock is comparable to 15 pound bond. When used in a card set, it has less bulk than an equivalent carbonized set.

Shelf life of "carbonless" paper is one year—equal to, and in some cases, better than standard carbons presently on the market. Its image and non-smudging characteristics are not affected by heat, cold or other climatic condtions normally encountered.

84-Proof

BUTLER, N. J. (AP)—Barmaid Nettie McCormack is 84 years old, owns her own tavern, and specializes in making manhattans. Among her customers have been Babe Ruth and the late "Uncle Don" of radio fame. Nettie says customers today are more polite. They are also ordering more mixed drinks. Drinkers who order a "shot and a beer" are dwindling in number, she says.

A busy mother will find it a time saver if she keeps needles threaded with a variety of colored threads in a handy spot, ready to mend emergency rips and tears.

Matter of FACT

If ever there was a time when furs were not prized, there is no record of it. Even 3,500 years ago, the Chinese valued furs highly. In the days of ancient Greece, Armenia was the center of a large fur trade. Furs were among the luxuries which the Romans adopted from the Greeks. Indeed, it is probable that the beginning of all trade lies in the exchange of furs.

Claims Run Over 3 Million in Fire At Syracuse U.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Notices of claims totaling $3,525,000 were to be filed against Syracuse today, the outgrowth of a barracks fire in which seven Air Force men died and 31 were injured.

The fire last Jan. 6 destroyed a barracks at Syracuse University's Skytop development housing airmen studying Russian at the university.

Families of four of the dead airmen said they were seeking a total of $950,000 in damages. The 31 injured men want an additional $2,575,000.

Victor Levine, a Syracuse attorney representing all of the claimants, said the notices of claim are preliminary moves in preparation for filing court action. Both the city and the university will be named as defendants, he said.

Today is the deadline for filing notices of claim against the city in injury cases. State law allows a longer time in death cases.

The largest claim is $300,000, sought by Mrs. Donna Marie Merfield of LaCrosse, Wis., whose husband, S. Sgt. Thomas Merfield, died in the fire. Mrs. Merfield is expecting her third child soon.

SECURE FUTURE FOR KISSING BUG—The "kissing bug" (Rhodnius prolixus), a small blood-sucking South American insect, right, has little to fear from atomic radiation. Two Atomic Energy of Canada scientists, Dr. W. F. Baldwin, left, and T. N. Salthouse, report that the bug can withstand 200 to 300 times the amount of radiation sufficient to kill a man. "Bugs like these would be good candidates to inherit the earth after an atomic war," Dr. Baldwin says. The biologists are experimenting with the insects at Chalk River, Ontario.

Firestone is proud to have many independent dealers throughout the United States as their personal representative to the American car owner. Bernie Singer, whose store is located on 71-73 Uorth Front Street, is one of the most experienced tire dealers in the East.

Lions Service Projects Listed

Service is the essence of Lionism, President George Svirsky of the Kingston Lions Club said today on the eve of the opening of the 12th annual Lions Industrial Exposition and Home Show.

He said this element of service becomes evident through the breakdown of the total of 180,861 "individual worthwhile unselfish community service activities reported to Lions Internation by Lions Clubs the world over."

Svirsky said the breakdown, reported at the 41st annual convention of Lions International at Chicago last July, went like this:

Sight conservation and blind —33,887.
Boys and girls—32,164.
Health and welfare—24,554.
Education—15,523.
Miscellaneous—9,739.

"Lionism offers to the men of the world an opportunity for group fellowship and action in voluntary service to their communities, their nations and the peoples of the earth," Svirsky stated.

POLAR STAMP—This four-cent stamp will be issued April 6 to commemorate two Arctic explorations. It marks the 50th anniversary of Adm. Robert E. Peary's arrival at the North Pole. It also commemorates the first underwater crossing of the pole by the atom sub Nautilus in 1958.

Firestone's race tire program leads the way to a superior tire for your everyday driving...

Firestone's engineers at trackside carefully record every phase of race tire performance... as these tires are slowly destroyed by rifle-shot acceleration, top-speed turns, panic braking and trip-hammer impacts. All of this exacting data goes to the laboratory. There scientists analyze and evaluate the information. As new designs and materials prove their worth, the improvements go to the factory for incorporation in Firestone's regular automobile tires. That's how Firestone maintains world-wide leadership in tire safety and tire performance.

Kingston Lions Club History

The Kingston Lions Club is one of 14,076 Lions Clubs in 92 countries and geographical locations. Its 102 members join the more than 590,947 active Lions throughout the world in rendering service to the community and mankind.

Receiving its charter on July 7, 1941, at Woodstock, the 26 charter members elected Manuel Reina first president by an unanimous vote. In the intervening years the Lions have accomplished much.

Of prime importance is their extensive sight conservation and blind work. They have furnished Braille watches, clothing, Braille reading material, food, transportation, typewriters, Braille checkers, radios, umbrella and white canes to blind persons.

A ray of light has been cast across the darknes through the ten corneal transplants arranged by the local club in the last two years alone! Sight conservation activities have included establishing the pre-school visual screening program, and providing visual testing equipment, dozens of eye examinations and treatments, and many special pairs of eye glasses. Their annual Christmas party for the blind provides an opportunity for fellowship and helps build morale. All these and other sight conservation and blind activities are made possible by the proceeds from the Kingston Lions Annual Blind Seal Sale.

Through the years, the Lions have brought internationally famous persons to Kingston. On the list is Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who addressed 2500 students at Municipal Auditorium. Major General Frederick L. Anderson, the heroic Kingstonian who commanded the U. S. Eighth Bomber Force which helped save England in the early days of the Second World War, returned to Kingston as a guest of the Lions Club. That was in 1944 when the club raised over $200,000 for the Fifth War Loan.

Wherever something needs to be done, the Lions are active. They take part in helping every organization that is helping others. In 1958, more than $6000 was donated to worthwhile causes including $1000 to United Cerebral Palsy and $1200 to Community Chest. A total of $7750 has been given to United Cerebral Palsy, since its inception in 1950, and $3300 has been contributed to Community Chest in the past three years. In recent years $3300 has been given to The Kingston Hospital and a like amount to Benedictine Hospital.

This year the 12th annual Lions Exposition and Home Show will be held at the National Guard Armory. Its phenominal success is due to general suppport by the exhibitors and the public. All proceeds are used for community purposes. Thus the exposition is a public affair; the Lions just do the work.

There are few avenues of aid to persons and groups that the Lions have not traveled, as indicated by the major committees including health and welfare, United Nations, boys and girls, education, safety, civic improvement and community betterment, and sight conservation and blind.

Whether manning Yule baskets for the Salvation Army, selling American flags to increase patriotic spirit, sponsoring a Christmas party for underprivileged children, or providing radios for shut-ins, the Kingston Lions Club continually demonstrates that service is truly the essence of lionism.

Kingston Lions Club History

The Kingston Lions Club is one of 14,076 Lions Clubs in 92 countries and geographical locations. Its 102 members join the more than 590,947 active Lions throughout the world in rendering service to the community and mankind.

Receiving its charter on July 7, 1941, at Woodstock, the 26 charter members elected Manuel Reina first president by an unanimous vote. In the intervening years the Lions have accomplished much.

Of prime importance is their extensive sight conservation and blind work. They have furnished Braille watches, clothing, Braille reading material, food, transportation, typewriters, Braille checkers, radios, umbrella and white canes to blind persons.

A ray of light has been cast across the darknes through the ten corneal transplants arranged by the local club in the last two years alone! Sight conservation activities have included establishing the pre-school visual screening program, and providing visual testing equipment, dozens of eye examinations and treatments, and many special pairs of eye glasses. Their annual Christmas party for the blind provides an opportunity for fellowship and helps build morale. All these and other sight conservation and blind activities are made possible by the proceeds from the Kingston Lions Annual Blind Seal Sale.

Through the years, the Lions have brought internationally famous persons to Kingston. On the list is Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who addressed 2500 students at Municipal Auditorium. Major General Frederick L. Anderson, the heroic Kingstonian who commanded the U. S. Eighth Bomber Force which helped save England in the early days of the Second World War, returned to Kingston as a guest of the Lions Club. That was in 1944 when the club raised over $200,000 for the Fifth War Loan.

Wherever something needs to be done, the Lions are active. They take part in helping every organization that is helping others. In 1958, more than $6000 was donated to worthwhile causes including $1000 to United Cerebral Palsy and $1200 to Community Chest. A total of $7750 has been given to United Cerebral Palsy, since its inception in 1950, and $3300 has been contributed to Community Chest in the past three years. In recent years $3300 has been given to The Kingston Hospital and a like amount to Benedictine Hospital.

This year the 12th annual Lions Exposition and Home Show will be held at the National Guard Armory. Its phenominal success is due to general suppport by the exhibitors and the public. All proceeds are used for community purposes. Thus the exposition is a public affair; the Lions just do the work.

There are few avenues of aid to persons and groups that the Lions have not traveled, as indicated by the major committees including health and welfare, United Nations, boys and girls, education, safety, civic improvement and community betterment, and sight conservation and blind.

Whether manning Yule baskets for the Salvation Army, selling American flags to increase patriotic spirit, sponsoring a Christmas party for underprivileged children, or providing radios for shut-ins, the Kingston Lions Club continually demonstrates that service is truly the essence of lionism.

Set C of C Week Plans at Local Group's Meeting

NEW PALTZ—Plans for the observance of State Chamber of Commerce Week, April 12 to 19 and numerous other items were discussed recently at the board of directors meeting of New Paltz Chamber of Commerce.

Literature concerning the observance of Chamber of Commerce Week was turned over to the publicity committee of the Chamber, and it is planned that the activities for that week will be published locally in the near future.

Other items of business discussed included the announcement by President Walter Offermann, that Chamber members would receive committee preference sheets this week in which they could indicate the committees in which they were interested in serving. He suggested that each member would be expected to serve on at least one committee, and that the committee, and that the committee assignments would be made public at the next meeting.

The Chamber is still working on a shopper's survey questionnaire, and it was reported that the questionnaire should be completed within a few weeks and would later be distributed to various organizations in New Paltz. Most of the questions ask suggestions how to make the village a better place to shop.

Plans were also made to have a panel discussion in May on the topic of dissolving the village corporation. It was explained that numerous individuals had suggested the village combine with the town as the solution to numerous problems such as more adequate police protection and other budget problems. The Chamber board decided to sponsor a panel discussion and invite interested townspeople to participate. More definite plans will be announced as soon as further arrangements are completed.

President Offermann asked the Chamber directors to remind New Paltz residents that the Chamber of Commerce has civic memberships for interested townspeople as well as merchant membership. He emphasized the importance of promoting more civic members and urged any interested persons to get in touch with him.

Listed as the next meeting of the Chamber was the installation dinner scheduled for Saturday at the Log Rail Inn.

Name Fred Dates VFW Commander

Fred Dates was elected commander of Brenne Vandenberg Post 8645, Veterans of Foreign Wars, New Paltz at the annual election of officers recently.

Other officers selected were: Robert Donnan, senior vice commander; Anthony Liucci, junior vice commander; Robert McKenna, quartermaster; John Shulte, chaplain; James Ashton, officer-of-the-day; Michael Hill, service officer; David Corwin, post advocate; Dr. Robert Reed, surgeon: trustee for three years, Richard Hasbrouck; trustee for two years, John Palonis; trustee for one year, William Einekel. Kenneth Duryea was appointed adjutant.

The officers will be formally installed at a dinner for members and their guests at the headquarters Saturday, April 25.

Members present voted to go on record against the further closing of wards and cut-back of beds at Castle Point Veterans Hospital. All veterans and friends are urged to write to their congressman in an all out effort to enlist their aid in preventing any further cut-backs in beds at this or other veterans hospitals.

Robert McKenna and R. Edwards were congratulated on the successful St. Patrick's Day dance held March 14 at the post home.

Defense Bids and Plays Well

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When West bid two hearts he never dreamt that his opponents would suddenly reach a no-trump game. All he knew at the time was that his hand was just too good to sell out to two diamonds.

West opened the jack of hearts and after winning with the queen, South ran off five diamond tricks. West discarded two hearts, one club and one spade while dummy discarded the three of clubs and East let the four of clubs and six of spades go.

South's next play was the nine of spades at which point West came up with the winning defensive play. He went up with the king of spades.

It was well that he did. If he had simply played the ten-spot he would have been thrown in with that spade king. He could get out with the king of hearts only to be thrown right back in in that same heart suit. Eventually he would have to play a club and South would make his ninth trick with the king.

When West played the king of spades the whole hand collapsed. South could do anything he wished except make his contract and West had justified his two-heart bid.

The Chamber board decided to sponsor a panel discussion and invite interested townspeople to participate. More definite plans will be announced as soon as further arrangements are completed.

President Offermann asked the Chamber directors to remind New Paltz residents that the Chamber of Commerce has civic memberships for interested townspeople as well as merchant membership. He emphasized the importance of promoting more civic members and urged any interested persons to get in touch with him.

Listed as the next meeting of the Chamber was the installation dinner scheduled for Saturday at the Log Rail Inn.

Defense Bids and Plays Well

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When West bid two hearts he never dreamt that his opponents would suddenly reach a no-trump game. All he knew at the time was that his hand was just too good to sell out to two diamonds.

West opened the jack of hearts and after winning with the queen, South ran off five diamond tricks. West discarded two hearts, one club and one spade while dummy discarded the three of clubs and East let the four of clubs and six of spades go.

South's next play was the nine of spades at which point West came up with the winning defensive play. He went up with the king of spades.

It was well that he did. If he had simply played the ten-spot he would have been thrown in with that spade king. He could get out with the king of hearts only to be thrown right back in in that same heart suit. Eventually he would have to play a club and South would make his ninth trick with the king.

When West played the king of spades the whole hand collapsed. South could do anything he wished except make his contract and West had justified his two-heart bid.

Hilco's Display At Exposition

Hilco Homes will display at the Lions Exposition the advantages of pre-manufactured house construction as well as announcing the initiation in Ulster County of nine personalized developments with no two houses looking alike.

These developments will depict graphically the personalized features of allowing the customer to select a home location anywhere he might desire from any of Hilco's 46 basic plans. If none of these exactly fit the customers needs, he may present any plan or quotation and Hilco will manufacture it.

In addition to their personalized development construction, Hilco will maintain its policy of building on the customer's lot and their display will be geared to pointing out the customer's advantages of pre-engineered homes as well as the services of field supervision for do-it-yourself builder, architect approved plans, full financing and one stop shopping as Hilco supplies not only homes but plumbing, heating, wiring, sewage materials and other necessities.

Hilco's display will encompass the features of its "College of Construction Knowledge," which is held weekly at the Hilco Model at the corners of Wall, Fair and Henry Streets.

Expanded Fiber Range Increases Carpet Benefits

The Colonial City Carpet Company, which will display its products at the Lions Club Exposition, explains that today's carpet shopper, confronted by a dozen or so fiber names which didn't exist a year ago, is understandably confused. The confusion is new for carpet shoppers, simply because wool was the accepted standard for so long. Although rayon was introduced as early as 1938, the man-made fibers did not see extensive use in floor coverings until about 1950.

Their development has meant that a growing market of consumers can continue the advantages of carpet. If only the natural fibers were available, supplies would not meet today's demands, or prices would be out of reason.

Beyond the supply-demand question, however, there are other reasons for using a variety of carpet and rug fibers.

Long before Mrs. Homemaker is confronted with new fibers, the carpet manufacturers already has made a decision on the fibre content of his product. Working with laboratory experts, he has weighed the possibilities of each fibre. He knows which can be dyed for desired styling, which are resilient enough for a desired texture, which can be used most economically.

He knows that Mrs. Homemaker will look for certain essential qualities in carpet-beauty, economy, durability, comfort underfoot, appearance over a period of time.

Here's where the practice of comparing new fibers with the classic wool enters in. Long use has proved that a good wool carpet can offer all of these good qualities in a balanced degree.

Fibers may be rated high on one or more characteristics when "measured" against wool. Rayon offers economy; nylon is noted for durability; the acrylics are especially resilient.

A broader fiber choice today has led to carpets which meet the individual needs of each shopper.

Smith Mail to Display Samples

Warren F. Smith, president of Smith Mail Advertising Service, Inc., will have a booth at the Lions Industrial Exposition and Home Show, where he will show samples of his work and equipment on which some of it is done. It is expected that the Exposition News Letter, which Smith's publish each night of the show, will be printed at the booth so the public may see how it's done.

The Smith Mail Advertising Service was started in 1925 at 6 St. James Street in a round about manner. The Book Shop which the Smiths established in 1924 as the first rental library in Kingston at this address needed readers and they then purchased a multigraph to send out post cards and other mailing pieces to promote it. The idea of using this equipment to do process letters for other businesses in the city started Mr. Smith in the Letter Shop business. Many changes came about as demands for other facilities to do duplicating work increased and little by little more equipment was bought to keep up with the times. Typewriters, addressographs, mimeographs, graphotypes to emboss addressographs plates came into being and the letter shop grew larger until it became advisable to look for larger quarters.

Offset printing began to find a place in the process of up-to-date letter shops and Mr. Smith finally bought his first offset press in 1945. As business increased other presses and additional equipment were purchased and larger quarters became a necessity. Before moving into his present location, the business was moved to other locations for additional space for expanding business.

Housewives Are Warned Against Catch Bargains

With the coming of Spring and pleasant traveling conditions up North, housewives of the Kingston Area were warned to prepare for an alalanche of sales efforts by itinerant salesmen, probably with a new effective approach. It may be by telephone, door-to-door or any one of several other methods.

"Kingston is becoming known nationally as the place where any smooth talking stranger can make a fast buck," the spokesman for the Business Methods Committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Cemmerce stated today. "Evidence of this situation is borne out by the increasing number of complaints received, usually after the unsuspecting housewife has parted with a deposit or signed binding contract, entirely different from the verbal promises or at a much higher total cost than anticipated."

"It is so bad," the spokesman said, "that recently one house-to-house solicitor actually collected deposits for photography sittings for a non-existent firm and the complainants have no idea to whom they paid the deposits. It looked like a 'bargain,' according to the reports."

Complain Too Late

The Chamber of Commerce received complaints, after it was too late, about 19 entirely different schemes carried on in the Kingston area during the past year. "In some cases local businessmen unwittingly became partners to some schemes which were to create new customers but in reality, the reverse happened and the promoters made a handsome profit and left town."

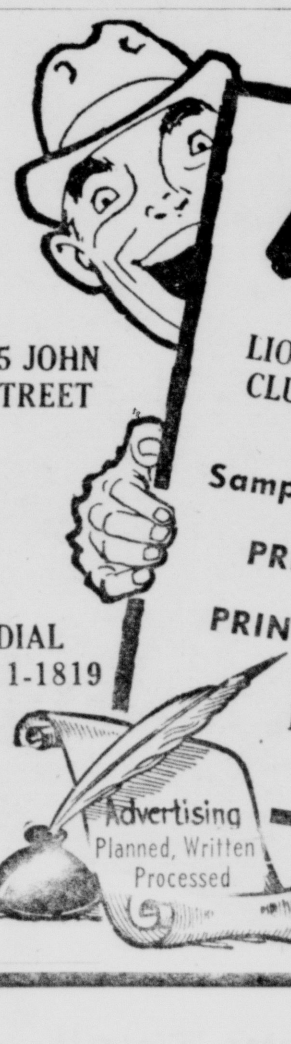

The State Attorney General's Office has issued a special pamphlet outlining 10 points for consumers to consider before becoming involved in purchases or schemes which look like bargains, but, in reality, cost much more than the price of the same item obtained locally. Copies are available free at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Federal Trade Commission and the Attorney General have issued many warnings and have obtained convictions against some individuals and firms using misleading advertising, false claims of savings, false discount pricing, bait advertising and other fraudulent methods. "The methods used seem to be so varied and professional salesmen in this field are so astute that new features are quickly added to make a different case of each instance of apparent violation," the Chamber of Commerce spokesman said.

Must Act in Time

"In several cases recently, local individuals have engaged attorneys to get out of contracts which they believed were misrepresented to them," the Chamber of Commerce stated, "partly because the salesman could not be reached to register their dissatisfaction." The State Attorney General suggests that if a finance company is involved, and a complaint is not satisfied, that the finance company be notified within 10 days after the required notice is received. This is important because if a complainant fails to do so, valuable rights may be lost and it may be necessary to pay for something you do not want."

The Chamber spokesman stated that caution should be used in dealing with strangers and "never let yourself be rushed into buying anything by flowery sales talk or persuasion that it is a "last chance" to get in on a "good thing." Just take your time and make up your mind carefully. It is better to investigate first rather than be sorry later," the Chamber spokesman stated, and concluded with this slogan, "Before you invest—investigate."

How to Detect Counterfeit Bill

The detection of a counterfeit bill is not easy. Those handling money continuously do have more opportunities to learn how to spot counterfeit money but even they can be deceived for there are some fairly good copies being made. At the Lion's Exposition the Kingston Savings Bank will have as part of its exhibit, a display of genuine bills and counterfeit bills, and visitors are invited to test their ability at detecting the spurious money. Ten and twenty dollar bills are the denominations which counterfeits most often attempt to pass and because of the unawareness of the public, an unusually large number of these bills get into the market. These and other denominations will be found in the display.

May Switch Their Emphasis Now to Self Defense Plea

By DON REEDER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Attorneys for Minne B. (Connie) Nicholas, on trial for killing her handsome married lover, may switch their emphasis next week to her plea of self-defense.

The defense has concentrated on its contention that the wealthy drug executive was shot accidentally.

Two detectives testified Friday, and the jurors handled the death gun over defense objections.

Most courtroom observers agreed that the vivacious divorcee's lawyers probably will switch next week to the other half of their double-barreled defense—that Mrs. Nicholas shot the 54-year-old Forrest Teel when he beat her in his white Cadillac last July 31.

Dep. prosecutor Francis Thomason said he plans to call only three more witnesses when the three-week-old trial resumes Monday.

Dr. John A. Hetherington, prominent Indianapolis neurological surgeon, is expected to testify on what could have caused nerve injuries to Mrs. Nicholas' arms.

The arm injuries are regarded as certain to be the center of attention. The prosecution will contend any paralysis was caused by pressure from the defendant's own head as she slumped in her parked car for some 20 hours after the shooting.

The defense will argue the paralysis was the direct result of a violent struggle with Teel just before he died with three bullets in his body.

Mrs. Nicholas still is undergoing daily arm therapy in the hospital. She wears braces on both hands to keep the fingers straight but usually has the braces removed sometime during the day's testimony.

Friday Dr. Tom Barden, General Hospital intern who examined her when she was brought in after swallowing 75 sleeping capsules, said he could find no marks on her right arm.

Jumping on the doctor's statement that he could obtain no muscular reaction from Mrs. Nicholas' arms or legs, the defense drew from him the admission that paralysis could have been caused by an unseen arm injury.

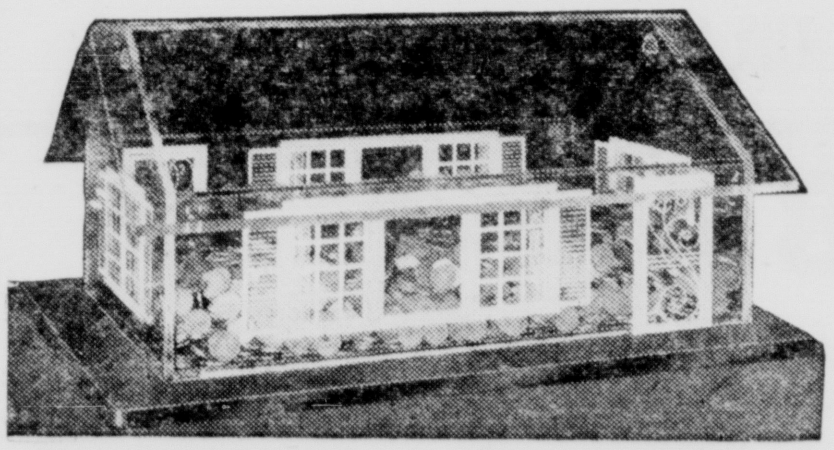

However the prosecution quickly had Dr. Barden point out a paralysis also may have been the result of barbiturate poisoning from the sleeping capsules.

How to Detect Counterfeit Bill

The detection of a counterfeit bill is not easy. Those handling money continuously do have more opportunities to learn how to spot counterfeit money but even they can be deceived for there are some fairly good copies being made. At the Lion's Exposition the Kingston Savings Bank will have as part of its exhibit, a display of genuine bills and counterfeit bills, and visitors are invited to test their ability at detecting the spurious money. Ten and twenty dollar bills are the denominations which counterfeits most often attempt to pass and because of the unawareness of the public, an unusually large number of these bills get into the market. These and other denominations will be found in the display.

May Switch Their Emphasis Now to Self Defense Plea

By DON REEDER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Attorneys for Minne B. (Connie) Nicholas, on trial for killing her handsome married lover, may switch their emphasis next week to her plea of self-defense.

The defense has concentrated on its contention that the wealthy drug executive was shot accidentally.

Two detectives testified Friday, and the jurors handled the death gun over defense objections.

Most courtroom observers agreed that the vivacious divorcee's lawyers probably will switch next week to the other half of their double-barreled defense—that Mrs. Nicholas shot the 54-year-old Forrest Teel when he beat her in his white Cadillac last July 31.

Dep. prosecutor Francis Thomason said he plans to call only three more witnesses when the three-week-old trial resumes Monday.

Dr. John A. Hetherington, prominent Indianapolis neurological surgeon, is expected to testify on what could have caused nerve injuries to Mrs. Nicholas' arms.

The arm injuries are regarded as certain to be the center of attention. The prosecution will contend any paralysis was caused by pressure from the defendant's own head as she slumped in her parked car for some 20 hours after the shooting.

The defense will argue the paralysis was the direct result of a violent struggle with Teel just before he died with three bullets in his body.

Mrs. Nicholas still is undergoing daily arm therapy in the hospital. She wears braces on both hands to keep the fingers straight but usually has the braces removed sometime during the day's testimony.

Friday Dr. Tom Barden, General Hospital intern who examined her when she was brought in after swallowing 75 sleeping capsules, said he could find no marks on her right arm.

Jumping on the doctor's statement that he could obtain no muscular reaction from Mrs. Nicholas' arms or legs, the defense drew from him the admission that paralysis could have been caused by an unseen arm injury.

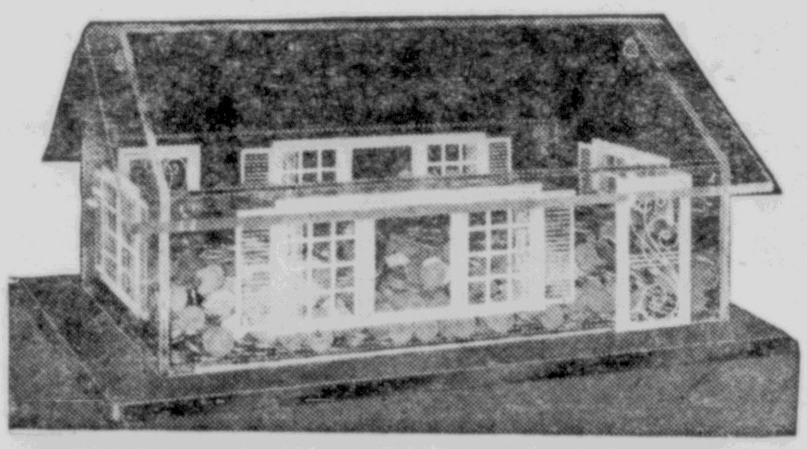

However the prosecution quickly had Dr. Barden point out a paralysis also may have been the result of barbiturate poisoning from the sleeping capsules.

Ancient Instrument

The vina is an ancient Hindu musical instrument, originally a seven-stringed harp. About 700 A. D., it became an instrument of the guitar type, still used in India.

Lions Exposition Group to Display 125 Exhibitions

The 12th annual Kingston Lions Club Industrial Exposition and Home Show will contain 125 booths filled with displays by area industrial and business establishments. The show will take place Appril 7-11 in the State Armory on Manor Avenue.

Its success in the past has been due to the support of the public and the exhibitors. As from the beginning, all the proceeds will be used for community purposes.

The following additional exhibitors have revealed details about their booths:

Dixon's Lawn and Garden Center will have on display machinery and lawn mowers by such famous names as Blair and Worcester. The high point of the display will be an exhibit of evergreens as well as lawn and garden supplies.

Kaye Sportwair will feature sporting goods and haberdashery.

J & A Roofing & Siding Co., exclusive Johns Manville franchise dealer for Ulster County and also dealer in "Alsides" aluminum siding will display roofing, siding, and blown insulation.

Sav-on Stores will feature various types of bazaar equipment and money raising devices used by various organizations when they hold bazaars.

The Kingston Trust Company will have a man on hand to explain the services offered by the bank and to answer any questions on types of accounts, interest, loans, etc.

Joseph Scholar & Son will exhibit a full line of Frigidaire products. A special motorized display of the new "pull and clean" oven will be a high point at this booth. The new "frost proof" refrigerator and freezer which never needs defrosting along with Tappan electric and gas ranges with the all new modular built in oven will also be shown.

The Soper Cabinet Company will feature a "Red Birch" kitchen with General Electric textolite counter tops. In association with this will be Carrolton Stainless Sinks, the 1959 Tappan built in refrigerators, stoves and ovens and the Hobart Kitchen-Aide dishwasher.

Yallum's New 'Tent City' Will Be on Display

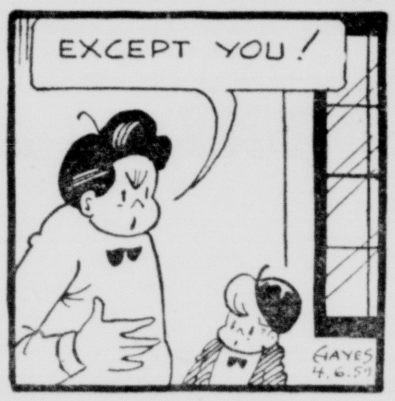

One of the most unique business operations in the Hudson Valley is Yallum's new "Tent City." Now in its fourth year of operation, "Tent City" will reopen this Spring in new quarters with a larger range of tents, sleeping bags and other allied camping equipment than ever before.

In late April, "Tent City" will open in Yallum's new annex at 7 E. Strand, adjoining their present quarters. At the Lions Exposition, there will be a display of this equipment.

Vacationers who enjoy camping will be able to choose their tent from a wide selection of cottage, umbrella and wall tent. People are not required to buy their tents from pictures, sight unseen. Nearly a dozen of the full size tents will be up for leisurely inspection all season. Seeing the actual tent combined with the friendly counseling necessary to choosing the tent adequate for customer needs is a keynote to the success of the operation.

Other camping equipment on display will include sleeping bags, air mattresses, propane gas cook stoves and lanterns, battery lanterns, knapsacks, cook kits, axes, coolers and jugs, extra poles and stakes, waterproofing, cots—complete needs under one roof—all on inspection.

Peper Garage to Exhibit Renault

An interesting exhibit at the Lions Exposition will be that of Peper's Garage of Woodstock. As the authorized dealer for this area, they will display two Renault Dauphines — the car that is now first in sales of all imported 4-door sedans.

Renault of France is one of the oldest names in the automotive field. They have produced fine cars since 1898 and have pioneered in many automotive advances.

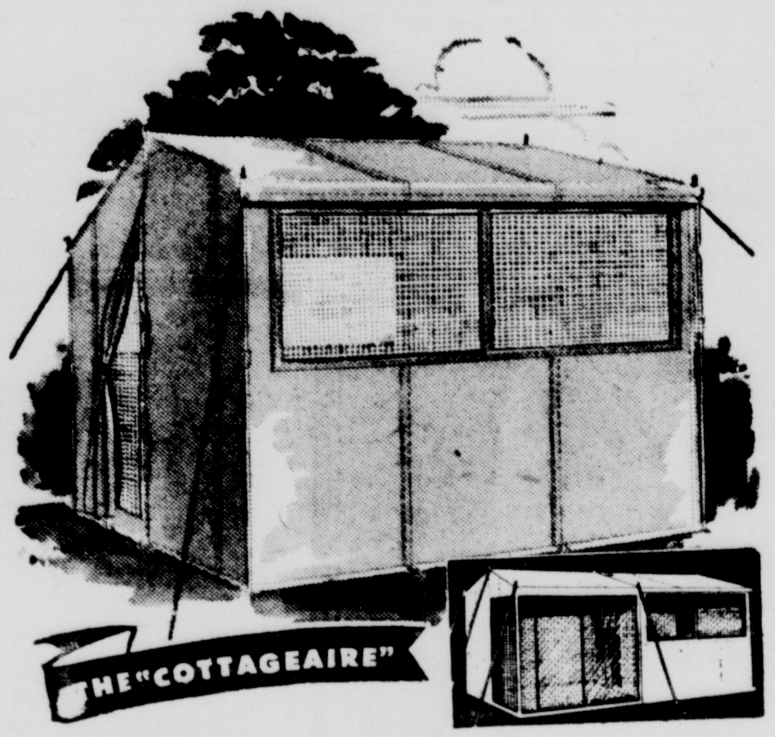

Introduced to the American public in 1957, the Renault Dauphine was an over night success. In French, the word "dauphine" means "princess" an apt description for the graceful, pleasing styling of the car. It features unitized body construction, tubeless tires, electric wipers, courtesy lights, dual horns and delivers up to 40 miles per gallon in average driving.

Another car which will be on display is the Peugeat. This car which is handled by all Renault dealers, is a full size sedan of unmatched workmanship and offers as standard equipment such features as: reclining seats, sliding sun roof, white wall tires, padded dash and sunvisors, windshield washers, oil filter, clock and many others. In fact the only extra cost item available is a radio.

Double Fire Trouble

Biggest European Touring Season Appears on Tap

The unanimous opinion in travel circles is that the coming year will mark the biggest European season in history, according to Herbert K. Greenwald of Greenwald's Travel Service, located at 286 Fair Street.

Mr. Greenwald revealed, "This optimism is based on a number of factors. First of all, it is felt that the United States has recovered sufficiently from its recession to loosen the travel-money purse strings. Secondly, the air of tension and war jitters present in other areas of the world has diminished in Europe. And finally, new low European tour rates offered by Gateway Holidays puts that continent on the threshold of bigtime tourist business from Americans and modest means."

Gateway Holidays, the budget-priced European tours created and operated exclusively by Simmons-Gateway Tours are now being offered to the American travelling public. As a result travel agents are now offering Gateway Holidays complete European package at rates that make even some of the pre-war prices look astronomical!

By ship, there are tours lasting 35, 44 and 52 days and air tours offered are of a 23, 27, 34 or 39 days duration. Up to 12 countries may be visited including England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy and France.

These all expense personally escorted Gateway Holidays tours offer transportation in Europe by luxury motorcoaches, hotel accommodations at many first class hotels, superb food and sightseeing. In addition, inspiring extras have been planned such as a steamer journey on the romantic Rhine River and a view of the charming Austrian scenery from the decks of a Danube steamer.

Gateway Holidays makes it possible so that almost anyone can afford to visit Europe and explore the villages, the modern rebuilt cities, the magnificent art galleries, the historic castles and the famous cathedrals of the old continent. Sailings have been scheduled for these Gateway Holidays from January through October, 1959.

Mr. Greenwald contnds that touring Europe, once reserved for "millionaires," now, thanks to Gateway Holidays, can be the life for the average American vacationist.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON

FRONT PORCH POLITICS

Way back in '96 McKinley ran for President on his front porch. While Mr. Bryan barnstormed the nation on a free silver platform, McKinley got elected on a front porch platform.

MR. HUTTON

It is only lately that a front porch again became prominent in politics. An Indiana freshman Congressman has rented the front porch of his home to Uncle, who pays him $1,200 a year for his using his own front porch as his office.

In addition, the Congressman puts his wife on the pay-roll to operate the porch. Nor is the Honorable satisfied with his salary of 22,500 $'s. He says he is worth three times that, or 67,500 $'s.

The Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley, once wrote some verses about another attachment to a house which never appeared in his published poems but achieved great fame nevertheless.

Riley should return to his beloved Indiana and make the Congressman's front porch equally famous.

Certain bank examiners, known to the trade as "porch climbers," use porches to get up to the second story at night to see whether piggy banks and mattresses are in good financial condition. But the Congressman climbs into the Federal Treasury without even leaving his porch!

A Senator's daughter gets 12,500 $'s a year helping her Pa while attending law school. But the Dean says she must work less for Pa, or less at school.

Why folks that smart have to rent porches or study law is beyond me.

Colormeter Will Be Shown Here By Shults Paint

An exciting new advance in color merchandising will be unveiled at the Shults Paint Co. booth at the Exposition. It's the Sherwin-Williams Kem Colormeter.

According to John Short, manager of the Shults Paint Co. store at 37 N. Front Street, more than 400 colors in a wide variety of Sherwin-Williams paints can be accurately and quickly produced with this new unit. The fool-proof dispensing unit holds ten Kem Tinting Colors and precision-meters them into Super Kem-Tone, Kem-Glo, SWP House Paint and other Sherwin-Williams products.

Customers will select their colors from a newly designed color chart. Store personnel need only refer to the corresponding formula card to add the necessary quantity of Kem Tinting Color to produce the exact color desired.

The Sherwin-Williams Kem Colormeter does "double duty" as an eye-catching display in any dealer's paint department. It is designed to give years of double-free service. It is extremely simple to operate and maintain.

The Sherwin-Williams Co. has ordered a large number of this new machine, the first of which will be the one shown at the Shults Paint Co. Booth. Following the show, this machine will be installed for use at the Shults Paint Co. store at 37 N. Front Street. It is anticipated that in the near future a similar machine will also be installed at the Shults Paint Co. store at 20 Dederick Street for the convenience of customers from that area.

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"The average Englishman thinks it's funny when an American comedian makes fun of him," says British comedian David King. "But I understand the average American doesn't enjoy a British comedian making fun of him."

So King has no plans for impairing international relations when he takes over "Kraft Music Hall" at the behest of Perry Como for 13 weeks on NBC-TV May 19.

Film Clinched Deal

As far as anyone can remember, King set some kind of American television record without ever appearing on American TV. Como and company signed him to a fat contract solely on the basis of a film they saw from his British TV appearances — a feat unprecedented in the business. Last week he flew from London, met Como, and appeared on his Saturday night show.

King's only regret about the trip was that he didn't have time to meet any Indians. For some reason he's infatuated with American Indians. His two daughters are named Cheyenne and Kiowa, after Indian tribes. He has two dogs named Cochise and Geronimo. His Sussex country house is lined with Indian trophies and he calls it the Reservation.

King figures that he'll have to scrap about 40 per cent of his British brand of humor for the mass American audience.

Outstanding Career

"It's not that there's such a great difference between British and American humor," he says, "but it's a matter of delivery and the experience of the audience."

King, who will be 30 in June, has had an outstanding career in Britain both as a comedian and a singer and dancer.

If he were successful in this country, he'd be perfectly willing to live and work here permanently. There are two things he'd miss about England, however:

"Football — soccer you call our brand. I'm wild about it. And our house. I guess I'm a kind of country boy."

Colormeter Will Be Shown Here By Shults Paint

An exciting new advance in color merchandising will be unveiled at the Shults Paint Co. booth at the Exposition. It's the Sherwin-Williams Kem Colormeter.

According to John Short, manager of the Shults Paint Co. store at 37 N. Front Street, more than 400 colors in a wide variety of Sherwin-Williams paints can be accurately and quickly produced with this new unit. The fool-proof dispensing unit holds ten Kem Tinting Colors and precision-meters them into Super Kem-Tone, Kem-Glo, SWP House Paint and other Sherwin-Williams products.

Customers will select their colors from a newly designed color chart. Store personnel need only refer to the corresponding formula card to add the necessary quantity of Kem Tinting Color to produce the exact color desired.

The Sherwin-Williams Kem Colormeter does "double duty" as an eye-catching display in any dealer's paint department. It is designed to give years of double-free service. It is extremely simple to operate and maintain.

The Sherwin-Williams Co. has ordered a large number of this new machine, the first of which will be the one shown at the Shults Paint Co. Booth. Following the show, this machine will be installed for use at the Shults Paint Co. store at 37 N. Front Street. It is anticipated that in the near future a similar machine will also be installed at the Shults Paint Co. store at 20 Dederick Street for the convenience of customers from that area.

Roger Baer Studio Will Exhibit Hammond Organ

The Roger Baer Studio will exhibit the Hammond Chord Organ at the Lion's Club Exposition April 7 through 11. The Studio's booth this year will be located in the center of the gymnasium floor in the New York State Armory. The booth will be arranged to feature the Hammond Chord Organ which will be shown in three different settings. Mr. Baer stated that weeks of preparation have gone into the final presentation of the exhibiting of this musical instrument. Another feature during the exposition will be the personal appearances and recitals given by students of the organ. The following organ students will perform during the days of the exposition: Miss Diane Maurer, Marco MacHugh, Harold Depew, Mrs. June Boice, Mrs. Dora Sampson, Miss Linda Klippel, Anthony Turck, Mrs. Doris Dellinger, Howard Greer and Miss Sandra Swart.

Mr. Baer in giving the history of the Hammond organ points out some very interesting and fascinating facts concerning its development and the foresight that Mr. Hammond had in developing an organ that could be purchased and played and enjoyed by many people, without the knowledge of a musical education. Before Mr. Hammond introduced the first Hammond electric organ in 1935, it was practically impossible to own even a small pipe organ for the home and yet today a fine organ can be purchased and enjoyed in the home for a nominal cost.

The development of the Novachord was the forerunner of the Hammond Spinet Organ, followed by the Solovox which was attached to any piano to create over 66 Orchestral Tones. This was first the beginning of Mr. Hammond's great organ inventions. The greatest challenge was to invent an organ that could be played in a very short time by those who have never studied or played any instrument.

Mr. Hammond invented the Hammond Chord Organ, which enables the player to play beautiful melodies and chords by using only one finger of each hand. The music is written in the simplest manner and it has been proven that anyone can play the Hammond Chord Organ in 30 minutes. Thousands of compositions have been arranged and written especially for all models of the Hammond Organ. Today all pipe organ compositions are also registered for the Hammond Organ. For the Chord Organ alone there are over two thousand melodies arranged in the most modern form for the classics, popular, hymns and folk songs. The Hammond Chord Organ is known to be the easiest of all organs to play.

The Roger Baer Studios were appointed exclusive dealer for the Hammond Organs. During that time, Mr. Baer introduced the Hammond to thousands of people in this area. During the first Lions Exposition the Hammond Spinet and Chord Organ was introduced to many people who have never realized that a fine organ could be purchased at such reasonable prices.

For the past five years the Hammond Organ Company has conducted a Seminar each month for the development and further understanding in new ideas in presenting the Hammond Organ to the people which each dealer represents.

In March of this year, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baer attended a Seminar conducted by the Hammond Organ Company in Chicago, Ill. The Seminar sessions continued for one week at which time all phases of the Hammond Organ was demonstrated. The last day of the Seminar was a conducted tour through the five building in which the entire organs are made. There are 1,400 men and women employed, each doing his job to make Hammond the finest and largest selling electric organ on the market today.

Too Modest?

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Officially, there's not much new in Maryland—except for a bridge dedication and construction of a harbor tunnel—since the Battle of Monocacy July 9, 1864. The state's latest official information pamphlet, though bearing a portrait of a new governor elected only last November, lists the bridge and tunnel as noteworthy events of the 20th Century. The Hall of Records list says seven important events occurred in Maryland in the 16th Century, 12 in the 18th Century and nine in the 19th Century.

Nike-Hercules Army's Largest Guided Missile at Exposition

Will Be Displayed At Wall and John

The Army's largest supersonic anti-aircraft guided missile, the Nike-Hercules, described as "deadly accurate," will be on display here during the Kingston Lions Club Industrial Exposition and Home Show at the State Armory on Manor Avenue.

The dart-shaped 42-foot missile, second generation of the Nike family, is now being programmed for operational use in the vicinity of metropolitan areas. In the near future many additional sites of heavy population will be similarly protected.

The sleek missile, which is launched by remote control, will be on view Tuesday, opening day of the Exposition, at the intersection of Wall and John Streets.

The missile has been made available by the 52nd Artillery Brigade of the First Region, U. S. Army Air Defense Command, Fort Totten under the command of Brig. Gen. R. Hewitt. Arrangements for obtaining the missile were made by the Mutual Funds Division of Morgan Davis & Co., 41 John Street, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Capt. Grant Lasher, project officer, and a military detail, will accompany the missile which will be installed on a trailer.

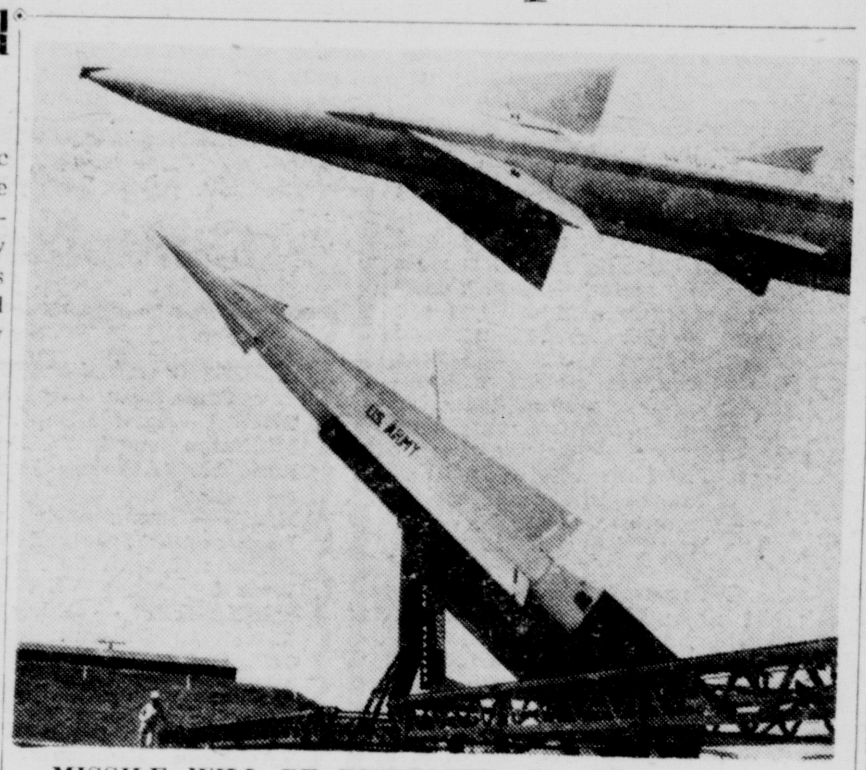

The missile section itself is 27 feet long, the booster 14.5 feet. It receives its initial impetus by a solid propellant booster rocket and then is accelerated by a solid propellant sustainer motor. According to the Nike fact sheet, no other operational weapon approaches its lethality, accuracy, range or reliability. It is claimed that the Nike is remarkably dependable and accurate which "can knock down any aircraft or aerodynamic cruise-type missile that flies today or that can be foreseen in the next several years."

It can operate in any kind of weather, in rain or fog, night or day. Its electronic reliability has been proven far greater than that of the most modern television set.

Known as Nike B in its development stages, Nike Hercules is faster and has greater range than its little brother, Nike Ajax which is guarding large cities and strategic areas. Although longer and heavier and more than double the diameter of the Ajax, the Hercules will have extreme maneuverability at altitudes far in excess of those capable of being reached by Ajax. The higher velocity of the Hercules will permit swifter interception of the most advanced type of aircraft in production today.

The Nike is fired from a vertical position from the launcher by a remotely controlled missile launching mechanism. Within seconds after launching, Nike Hercules passes through the sonic barrier and into supersonic flight, riding smoothly on its own rocket engine.

Some 125 booths will be on view at the 12th annual show Tuesday through Saturday. The Exposition is open from 7 p. m. to 11 p. m.

MISSILE WILL BE DISPLAYED—The Nike-Hercules rises from its underground storage pit. It will be on display during the Kingston Lions Club Industrial Exposition and Home Show at the State Armory on Manor Avenue next week. Arrangements to bring the dart-shaped anti-aircraft guided missile to Kingston were made by the Mutual Funds Division of Morgan Davis & Co.
